The Steadfast Tin Soldier

A translation of Hans Christian Andersen's "Den standhaftige Tinsoldat" by Jean Hersholt.

There were once five-and-twenty tin soldiers. They were all brothers, born of the same old tin spoon. They shouldered their muskets and looked straight ahead of them, splendid in their uniforms, all red and blue. The very first thing in the world that they heard was, "Tin soldiers!" A small boy shouted it and clapped his hands as the lid was lifted off their box on his birthday. He immediately set them up on the table. All the soldiers looked exactly alike except one. He looked a little different as he had been cast last of all. The tin was short, so he had only one leg. But there he stood, as steady on one leg as any of the other soldiers on their two. But just you see, he'll be the remarkable one. On the table with the soldiers were many other playthings, and one that no eye could miss was a marvelous castle of cardboard. It had little windows through which you could look right inside it. And in front of the castle were miniature trees around a little mirror supposed to represent a lake. The wax swans that swam on its surface were reflected in the mirror. All this was very pretty but prettiest of all was the little lady who stood in the open doorway of the castle. Though she was a paper doll, she wore a dress of the fluffiest gauze. A tiny blue ribbon went over her shoulder for a scarf, and in the middle of it shone a spangle that was as big as her face. The little lady held out both her arms, as a ballet dancer does, and one leg was lifted so high behind her that the tin soldier couldn't see it at all, and he supposed she must have only one leg, as he did. "That would be a wife for me," he thought. "But maybe she's too grand. She lives in a castle. I have only a box, with four-and-twenty roommates to share it. That's no place for her. But I must try to make her acquaintance." Still as stiff as when he stood at attention, he lay down on the table behind a snuffbox, where he could admire the dainty little dancer who kept standing on one leg without ever losing her balance.

When the evening came the other tin soldiers were put away in their box, and the people of the house went to bed. Now the toys began to play among themselves at visits, and battles, and at giving balls. The tin soldiers rattled about in their box, for they wanted to play too, but they could not get the lid open. The nutcracker turned somersaults, and the slate pencil squeaked out jokes on the slate. The toys made such a noise that they woke up the canary bird, who made them a speech, all in verse. The only two who stayed still were the tin soldier and the little dancer. Without ever swerving from the tip of one toe, she held out her arms to him, and the tin soldier was just as steadfast on his one leg. Not once did he take his eyes off her. Then the clock struck twelve and — clack! — up popped the lid of the snuffbox. But there was no snuff in it, no — out bounced a little black bogey, a jack-in-the-box. "Tin soldier," he said. "Will you please keep your eyes to yourself?" The tin soldier pretended not to hear. The bogey said, "Just you wait till tomorrow."

But when morning came, and the children got up, the soldier was set on the window ledge. And whether the bogey did it, or there was a gust of wind, all of a sudden the window flew open and the soldier pitched out headlong from the third floor. He fell at breathtaking speed and landed cap first, with his bayonet buried between the paving stones and his one leg stuck straight in the air. The housemaid and the little boy ran down to look for him and, though they nearly stepped on the tin soldier, they walked right past without seeing him. If the soldier had called, "Here I am!" they would surely have found him, but he thought it contemptible to raise an uproar while he was wearing his uniform. Soon it began to rain. The drops fell faster and faster, until they came down by the bucketful. As soon as the rain let up, along came two young rapsallions. "Hi, look!" one of them said, "there's a tin soldier. Let's send him sailing." They made a boat out of newspaper, put the tin soldier in the middle of it, and away he went down the gutter with the two young rapsallions running beside him and clapping their hands. High heavens! How the waves splashed, and how fast the water ran down the gutter. Don't forget that it had just been raining by the bucketful. The paper boat pitched, and tossed, and sometimes it whirled about so rapidly that it made the soldier's head spin. But he stood as steady as ever. Never once flinching, he kept his eyes front, and carried his gun shoulder-high. Suddenly the boat rushed under a long plank where the gutter was boarded over. It was as dark as the soldier's own box. "Where can I be going?" the soldier wondered. "This must be that black bogey's revenge. Ah! if only I had the little lady with me, it could be twice as dark here for all that I would care."

Out popped a great water rat who lived under the gutter plank. "Have you a passport?" said the rat. "Hand it over." The soldier kept quiet and held his musket tighter. On rushed the boat, and the rat came right after it, gnashing his teeth as he called to the sticks and straws: "Halt him! Stop him! He didn't pay his toll. He hasn't shown his passport." But the current ran stronger and stronger. The soldier could see daylight ahead where the board ended, but he also heard a roar that would frighten the bravest of us. Hold on! Right at the end of that gutter plank the water poured into the great canal. It was as dangerous to him as a waterfall would be to us. He was so near it he could not possibly stop. The boat plunged into the whirlpool. The poor tin soldier stood as staunch as he could, and no one can say that he so much as blinked an eye. Thrice and again the boat spun around. It filled to the top — and was bound to sink. The water was up to his neck and still the boat went down, deeper, deeper, deeper, and the paper got soft and limp. Then the water rushed over his head. He thought of the pretty little dancer whom he'd never see again, and in his ears rang an old, old song:

"Farewell, farewell, O warrior brave, Nobody can from Death thee save."

And now the paper boat broke beneath him, and the soldier sank right through. And just at that moment he was swallowed by a most enormous fish. My! how dark it was inside that fish. It was darker than under the gutter-plank and it was so cramped, but the tin soldier still was staunch. He lay there full length, soldier fashion, with musket to shoulder. Then the fish flopped and floundered in a most unaccountable way. Finally it was perfectly still, and after a while something struck through him like a flash of lightning. The tin soldier saw daylight again, and he heard a voice say, "The Tin Soldier!" The fish had been caught, carried to market, bought, and brought to a kitchen where the cook cut him open with her big knife. She picked the soldier up bodily between her two fingers, and carried him off upstairs. Everyone wanted to see this remarkable traveler who had traveled about in a fish's stomach, but the tin soldier took no pride in it. They put him on the table and — lo and behold, what curious things can happen in this world — there he was, back in the same room as before. He saw the same children, the same toys were on the table, and there was the same fine castle with the pretty little dancer. She still balanced on one leg, with the other raised high. She too was steadfast. That touched the soldier so deeply that he would have cried tin tears, only soldiers never cry. He looked at her, and she looked at him, and never a word was said.

Just as things were going so nicely for them, one of the little boys snatched up the tin soldier and threw him into the stove. He did it for no reason at all. That black bogey in the snuffbox must have put him up to it. The tin soldier stood there dressed in flames. He felt a terrible heat, but whether it came from the flames or from his love he didn't know. He'd lost his splendid colors, maybe from his hard journey, maybe from grief, nobody can say. He looked at the little lady, and she looked at him, and he felt himself melting. But still he stood steadfast, with his musket held trim on his shoulder.

Then the door blew open. A puff of wind struck the dancer. She flew like a sylph, straight into the fire with the soldier, blazed up in a flash, and was gone. The tin soldier melted, all in a lump. The next day, when a servant took up the ashes she found him in the shape of a little tin heart. But of the pretty dancer nothing was left except her spangle, and it was burned as black as a coal.

THE END.

The Constant Tin-Soldier

A translation of Hans Christian Andersen's "Den standhaftige Tinsoldat" by CAROLINE PEACHEY.

THERE were once five-and-twenty Tin-soldiers, all brothers, for they had all been made out of one old tin-spoon. They carried muskets in their arms, and held themselves very upright, and their uniforms were red and blue — very gay indeed. The first word that they heard in this world, when the lid was taken off the box wherein they lay, was, "Tin-soldiers!" It was a little boy who made this exclamation, clapping his hands at the same time. They had been given to him because it was his birth-day, and he now set them out on the table. The soldiers resembled each other to a hair; one only was rather different from the rest; he had but one leg, for he had been made last, when there was not quite tin enough left; however, he stood as firmly upon his one leg as the others did upon their two. And this identical Tin-soldier it is whose fortunes seem to us worthy of record. On the table where the Tin-soldiers were set out were several other playthings, but the most charming of them all was a pretty pasteboard castle. Through its little windows one could look into the rooms. In front of the castle stood some tiny trees, clustering round a little mirror intended to represent a lake, and waxen swans swam in the lake, and were reflected on its surface. All this was very pretty; but prettiest of all was a little damsel standing in the open doorway of the castle. She, too, was cut out of pasteboard; but she had on a frock of the clearest muslin, a little sky-blue riband was flung across her shoulders like a scarf, and in the midst of this scarf was set a bright gold wing. The little lady stretched out both her arms, for she was a dancer, and raised one of her legs so high in the air that the Tin-soldier could not find it, and fancied that she had, like him, only one leg. "That would be just the wife for me," thought he; "but, then, she is of rather too high rank, she lives in a castle. I have only a box; besides, there are all our five-and-twenty men in it, it is no place for her! However, there will be no harm in my making acquaintance with her." And so he stationed himself behind a snuff box that stood on the table; from this place he had a full view of the delicate little lady, who still remained standing on one leg, yet without losing her balance.

When evening came, all the other Tin-soldiers were put away into the box, and the people of the house went to bed. The playthings now began to play in their turn; they pretended to visit, to fight battles, and give balls. The Tin-soldiers rattled in the box, for they wanted to play too, but the lid would not come off. The nut-crackers cut capers, and the slate-pencil played at commerce on the slate; there was such a racket that the canary-bird waked up, and began to talk too; but he always talked in verse. The only two who did not move from their places were the Tin-soldier and the little dancer; she constantly remained in her graceful position, standing on the point of her foot, with outstretched arms; and as for him, he stood just as firmly on his one leg, never for one moment turning his eyes away from her. Twelve o'clock struck — crash! open sprang the lid of the snuff-box; but there was no snuff inside it; no, out jumped a little black Conjuror; in fact, it was a Jack-in-the-box. "Tin-soldier!" said the Conjuror, "wilt thou keep thine eyes to thyself?" But the Tin-soldier pretended not to hear. "Well, only wait till to-morrow!" quoth the Conjuror.

When the morrow had come, and the children were out of bed, the Tin-soldier was placed on the window-ledge, and, whether the Conjuror or the wind occasioned it, all at once the window flew open, and out fell the Tin-soldier, head foremost, from the third story to the ground. A dreadful fall was that! his one leg turned over and over in the air, and at last he rested, poised on his soldier's cap, with his bayonet between the paving-stones. The maid-servant and the little boy immediately came down to look for him; but although they very nearly trod on him, they could not see him. If the Tin-soldier had but called out, "Here I am!" they might easily have found him; but he thought it would not be becoming for him to cry out, as he was in uniform. It now began to rain; every drop fell heavier than the last; there was a regular shower. When it was over, two boys came by. "Look," said one, "here is a Tin-soldier! he shall have a sail for once in his life." So they made a boat out of an old newspaper, put the Tin-soldier into it, and away he sailed down the gutter, both the boys running along by the side and clapping their hands. The paper-boat rocked to and fro, and every now and then veered round so quickly that the Tin-soldier became quite giddy; still he moved not a muscle, looked straight before him, and held his bayonet tightly clasped. All at once the boat sailed under a long gutter-board; he found it as dark here as at home in his own box. "Where shall I get to next?" thought he; "yes, to be sure, it is all that Conjuror's doing! Ah, if the little maiden were but sailing with me in the boat, I would not care for its being twice as dark!"

Just then a great Water-Rat, that lived under the gutter-board, darted out. "Have you a passport?" asked the Rat. "Where is your passport?" But the Tin-soldier was silent, and held his weapon with a still firmer grasp. The boat sailed on, and the Rat followed. Oh! how furiously he showed his teeth, and cried out to sticks and straws, "Stop him, stop him! he has not paid the toll! he has not shown his passport!" But the stream grew stronger and stronger. The Tin-Soldier could already catch a glimpse of the bright day-light before the boat came from under the tunnel, but at the same time he heard a roaring noise, at which the boldest heart might well have trembled. Only fancy! where the tunnel ended, the water of the gutter fell perpendicularly into a great canal; this was as dangerous for the Tin-soldier as sailing down a mighty waterfall would be for us. He was now so close that he could no longer stand upright; the boat darted forwards, the poor Tin-soldier held himself as stiff and immoveable as possible, no one could accuse him of having even blinked. The boat spun round and round, three, nay, four times, and was filled with water to the brim; it must sink. The Tin-soldier stood up to his neck in water, deeper and deeper sank the boat, softer and softer grew the paper; the water went over the soldier's head, he thought of the pretty little dancer, whom he should never see again, and these words rang in his ears: —

Be thy portion, valiant stranger!"*

The paper now tore asunder, the Tin-soldier fell through the rent; but in the same moment he was swallowed up by a large fish. Oh, how dark it was! worse even than under the gutter-board, and so narrow too! — but the Tin-soldier's resolution was as constant as ever; there he lay, at full length, shouldering his arms. The fish turned and twisted about, and made the strangest movements! at last he became quite still; a flash of lightning, as it were, darted through him. The daylight shone brightly, and some one exclaimed, "Tin-soldier!" The fish had been caught, taken to the market, sold, and brought home into the kitchen, where the servant-girl was cutting him up with a large knife. She seized the Tin-soldier by the middle with two of her fingers, and took him into the parlour, where every one was eager to see the wonderful man who had travelled in the maw of a fish; — however, our little warrior was by no means proud. They set him on the table, and there — no, how could anything so extraordinary happen in this world! — the Tin-soldier was in the very same room in which he had been before; he saw the same children, the same playthings stood on the table, among them the beautiful castle with the pretty little dancing maiden, who was still standing upon one leg, whilst she held the other high in the air; she, too, was constant. It quite affected the Tin-soldier; he could have found it in his heart to weep tin-tears, but such weakness would have been unbecoming in a soldier. He looked at her, and she looked at him, but neither spoke a word.

And now one of the little boys took the Soldier and threw him without ceremony into the stove. He did not give any reason for so doing, but, no doubt, the Conjuror in the snuff-box must have had a hand in it. The Tin-soldier now stood in a blaze of red light; he felt extremely hot; whether this heat was the result of the actual fire, or of the flames of love within him, he knew not. He had entirely lost his colour; whether this change had happened during his travels, or were the effect of strong emotion, I know not. He looked upon the little damsel, she looked upon him, and he felt that he was melting; but, constant as ever, he still stood shouldering his arms.

A door opened, the wind seized the Dancer, and, like a sylph, she flew straightway into the stove, to the Tin-soldier; they both flamed up into a blaze — and were gone! The Soldier was melted to a hard lump, and when the maid took the ashes out the next day, she found his remains in the shape of a little tin-heart: of the Dancer there remained only the gold wing, and that was burnt black as a coal.

The Steadfast Tin Soldier

There were once five-and-twenty tin soldiers; they were all brothers, for they had all been born of one old tin spoon. They held guns, and looked straight before them; their uniform was red and blue, and very fine. The first thing they had heard in the world, when the lid was taken off the box, in which they lay, had been the words "Tin soldiers!" a little boy spoke up and clapped his hands. The soldiers had been given to him, for it was his birthday; and now he put them on the table. Each soldier was exactly like the rest; but one of them was a little different; he had one leg because he had been cast last of all, and there had not been enough tin to finish him; but he stood as firmly upon his one leg as the others on their two; and it was just this soldier who became worth talking about. On the table on which they had been placed stood many other playthings, but the toy that most took the eye was a neat castle of cardboard. Through the little windows one could see straight into the hall. Outside stood some small trees and a little looking-glass, which was made to look like a clear lake. Swans of wax swam on this lake, and looked at themselves in it. This was all very pretty; but the prettiest of all was a little lady, who stood at the open door of the castle; she was cut out in paper, but she had a dress of the clearest gauze, and a little narrow blue ribbon over her shoulders, that looked like a scarf; and in the middle of this ribbon was a shining tinsel rose, as big as her whole face. The little lady stretched out both her arms, for she was a dancer, and then she lifted one foot so high in the air that the Tin Soldier could not see it at all, and thought that, like himself, she had but one leg. "That would be the wife for me," thought he; "but she is very grand. She lives in a castle, and I have only a box, and there are five-and-twenty of us in that. It is no place for her. But I must try to make friends with her." And then he lay down at full length behind a snuff-box which was on the table; there he could easily watch the little dainty lady, who still stood on one leg without losing her balance.

When the evening came, all the tin soldiers were put in their box, and the people in the house went to bed. Now the toys began to play at "visiting," and at "war," and "giving balls." The tin soldiers rattled in their box, for they wanted to join, but could not lift the lid. The Nut-cracker went head over heels, and the Pencil played games on the table; there was so much noise that the Canary woke up, and began to speak too, and even in verse. The only two who did not stir from their places were the Tin Soldier and the little Dancer; she stood straight up on the point of one of her toes, and stretched out both her arms, and he was just as firm on his one leg; and he never turned his eyes away from her. Now the clock struck twelve — and, bounce! the lid flew off the snuff-box; but there was not snuff in it, but a little black troll; you see, it was a Jack-in-the-box. "Tin Soldier," said the Troll; "keep your eyes to yourself." But the Tin Soldier made as if he did not hear him. "Just you wait till to-morrow!" said the Troll.

But when the morning came, and the children got up, the Tin Soldier was placed in the window; and whether it was the Troll or the draught that did it, all at once the window flew open, and the Soldier fell, head over heels, out of the third story. That was a terrible journey! He put his leg straight up, and came down so that he stood on his head, and his bayonet between the paving-stones. The servant-maid and the little boy came down at once to look for him, but though they almost trod upon him they could not see him. If the Soldier had cried out, "Here I am!" they would have found him; but he did not think it proper to call out loudly, because he was in his soldier clothes. Now it began to rain; each drop fell faster than the other, and at last it came down in a full stream. When the rain was past, two street boys came by. "Just look!" said one of them, "there lies a tin soldier. He shall have a sail." And so they made a boat out of a newspaper, and put the Tin Soldier in the middle of it, and he sailed down the gutter; now the two boys ran beside him and clapped their hands. Mercy on us! how the waves rose in that gutter, and how fast the stream ran! But then it had been a heavy rain. The paper boat rocked up and down, and sometimes turned round so quickly that the Tin Soldier trembled; but he was firm, and never moved a muscle, but looked straight before him, and carried his gun erect. All at once the boat went into a long drain, and it became as dark as if he had been in his box. "I wonder where I am going now," he thought. "Yes, yes, that's the Troll's fault. Ah! if the little lady only sat here with me in the boat, it might be twice as dark for all I should care."

Suddenly there came a great water-rat, which lived under the drain. "Have you a passport?" said the Rat. "Give me your passport." But the Tin Soldier kept still, and only held faster his gun. The boat went on, but the Rat came after it. Whew! how he gnashed his teeth, and called out to the bits of straw and wood, — "Stop him! stop him! he has n't paid toll — he has n't shown his passport!" But the stream became stronger and stronger. The Tin Soldier could see the bright daylight where the arch of the drain ended; but he also heard a roaring noise, which might well frighten a bolder man. Only think — just where the tunnel ended, the drain ran into a great canal; and for him that would have been as full of peril as for us to be carried down a great waterfall. Now he was already so near it that he could not stop. The boat was carried out, the poor Tin Soldier held himself as stiffly as he could, and no one could say that he moved an eyelid. The boat whirled round three or four times, and was full of water to the very edge — it must sink. The Tin Soldier stood up to his neck in water, deeper and deeper sank the boat, and the paper was fast dropping to pieces; and now the water closed over the Soldier's head. Then he thought of the pretty little Dancer, and how he should never see her again; and it sounded in the Soldier's ears: —

"Farewell, farewell, thou warrior brave, Die shalt thou this day."

And now the paper broke in two, and the Tin Soldier fell through; but at that moment he was swallowed up by a great fish. Oh, how dark it was in there! It was darker than in the drain tunnel; and then it was very narrow, too. But the Tin Soldier was firm, and lay at full length, with his gun. The fish swam to and fro; he made the strangest stir; at last he became quite still and there was a streak of light through him. The light shone quite clear, and a voice said aloud, "The Tin Soldier!" The fish had been caught, carried to market, bought, and taken into the kitchen, where the cook cut him open with a large knife. She took the Soldier round the body with two fingers, and carried him into the room, where all waited to see the famous man who had traveled about in the inside of a fish; but the Tin Soldier was not at all proud. They placed him on the table, and there — no! What curious things may happen in the world! The Tin Soldier was in the very room in which he had been before! he saw the same children, and the same toys stood upon the table; and there was the pretty castle with the graceful Dancer. She was still standing on one leg, and held the other extended in the air. She was faithful too. That moved the Tin Soldier: he was very near weeping tin tears, but that would not have been proper. He looked at her, and she looked at him, but they said nothing to each other.

Then one of the little boys took the Tin Soldier and flung him into the stove. He gave no reason for doing this. It must have been the fault of the Jack-in-the-box. The Tin Soldier stood there quite in the blaze, and felt a heat that was terrible; but whether this heat came from the real fire or from love he did not know. The colors had quite run off from him; but whether that had happened on the journey, or had been caused by grief, no one could say. He looked at the little lady, she looked at him, and he felt that he was melting; but he stood firm, with his gun in his arms.

Then suddenly the door flew open, and the draught of air caught the Dancer, and she flew like a sylph just into the stove to the Tin Soldier, and flashed up in a flame, and then was gone! Then the Tin Soldier melted down into a lump, and when the servant-maid took the ashes out the next day, she found him in the shape of a little tin heart. But of the Dancer was left nothing but the tinsel rose, and that was burned as black as a coal.

The Steadfast Tin Soldier

There were once upon a time five-and-twenty tin-soldiers — all brothers, as they were made out of the same old tin spoon. Their uniform was red and blue, and they shouldered their guns and looked straight in front of them. The first words that they heard in this world, when the lid of the box in which they lay was taken off, were: "Hurrah, tin-soldiers!" This was exclaimed by a little boy, clapping his hands; they had been given to him because it was his birthday, and now he began setting them out on the table. Each soldier was exactly like the other in shape, except just one, who had been made last when the tin had run short; but there he stood as firmly on his one leg as the others did on two, and he is the one that became famous. There were many other playthings on the table on which they were being set out, but the nicest of all was a pretty little castle made of cardboard, with windows through which you could see into the rooms. In front of the castle stood some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror which looked like a lake. Wax swans were floating about and reflecting themselves in it. That was all very pretty; but the most beautiful thing was a little lady, who stood in the open doorway. She was cut out of paper, but she had on a dress of the finest muslin, with a scarf of narrow blue ribbon round her shoulders, fastened in the middle with a glittering rose made of gold paper, which was as large as her head. The little lady was stretching out both her arms, for she was a Dancer, and was lifting up one leg so high in the air that the Tin-soldier couldn't find it anywhere, and thought that she, too, had only one leg. "That's the wife for me!" he thought; "but she is so grand, and lives in a castle, whilst I have only a box with four-and-twenty others. This is no place for her! But I must make her acquaintance." Then he stretched himself out behind a snuff-box that lay on the table; from thence he could watch the dainty little lady, who continued to stand on one leg without losing her balance.

When the night came all the other tin-soldiers went into their box, and the people of the house went to bed. Then the toys began to play at visiting, dancing, and fighting. The tin-soldiers rattled in their box, for they wanted to be out too, but they could not raise the lid. The nut-crackers played at leap-frog, and the chalk ran about the blackboard; there was such a noise that the canary woke up and began to talk to them, in poetry too! The only two who did not stir from their places were the Tin-soldier and the little Dancer. She remained on tip-toe, with both arms outstretched; he stood steadfastly on his one leg, never moving his eyes from her face. The clock struck twelve, and crack! off flew the lid of the spice-box; but there were no spices inside, nor any hot curry powder, only a little imp — that was the beauty of it. Now an imp is a magical creature, a little like a fairy, only more naughty. "Hullo, Tin-soldier!" said the imp. "Don't look at things that aren't intended for the likes of you!" She meant that he shouldn't look at the little dander. But the Tin-soldier took no notice, and seemed not to hear. "Very well, wait till tomorrow!" said the imp.

When it was morning, and the children had got up, the Tin-soldier was put in the window; and whether it was the wind or the little imp, I don't know, but all at once the window flew open and out fell the little Tin-soldier, head over heels, from the third-storey window! That was a terrible fall, I can tell you! He landed on his head with his leg in the air, his gun being wedged between two paving-stones. The nursery-maid and the little boy came down at once to look for him, but, though they were so near him that they almost trod on him, they did not notice him. If the Tin-soldier had only called out "Here I am!" they must have found him; but he did not think it fitting for him to cry out, because he had on his uniform. Soon it began to drizzle; then the drops came faster, and there was a regular down-pour. When it was over, two little street boys came along. "Just look!" cried one. "Here is a Tin-soldier! He shall sail up and down in a boat!" So they made a little boat out of newspaper, put the Tin-soldier in it, and made him sail up and down the gutter; both the boys ran along beside him, clapping their hands. What great waves there were in the gutter, and what a swift current! The paper-boat tossed up and down, and in the middle of the stream it went so quick that the Tin-soldier trembled; but he remained steadfast, showed no emotion, looked straight in front of him, shouldering his gun. All at once the boat passed under a long tunnel that was as dark as his box had been. "Where can I be coming now?" he wondered. "Oh, dear! This is the imp's fault! Ah, if only the little lady were sitting beside me in the boat, it might be twice as dark for all I should care!"

Suddenly there came along a great water-rat that lived in the tunnel. "Have you a passport?" asked the rat. "Out with your passport!" But the Tin-soldier was silent, and grasped his gun more firmly. The boat sped on, and the rat behind it. Ugh! how he showed his teeth, as he cried to the chips of wood and straw: "Hold him, hold him! he has not paid the toll! He has not shown his passport!" But the current became swifter and stronger. The Tin-soldier could already see daylight where the tunnel ended; but in his ears there sounded a roaring enough to frighten any brave man. Only think! at the end of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a great canal; that would be just as dangerous for him as it would be for us to go down a waterfall. Now he was so near to it that he could not hold on any longer. On went the boat, the poor Tin-soldier keeping himself as stiff as he could: no one should say of him afterwards that he had flinched. The boat whirled three, four times round, and became filled to the brim with water: it began to sink! The Tin-soldier was standing up to his neck in water, and deeper and deeper sank the boat, and softer and softer grew the paper; now the water was over his head. He was thinking of the pretty little Dancer, whose face he should never see again, and there sounded in his ears, over and over again:

"Forward, forward, soldier bold!

Death's before thee, grim and cold!"

The paper came in two, and the soldier fell — but at that moment he was swallowed by a great fish. Oh! how dark it was inside, even darker than in the tunnel, and it was really very close quarters! But there the steadfast little Tin-soldier lay full length, shouldering his gun. Up and down swam the fish, then he made the most dreadful contortions, and became suddenly quite still. Then it was as if a flash of lightning had passed through him; the daylight streamed in, and a voice exclaimed, "Why, here is the little Tin-soldier!" The fish had been caught, taken to a market, sold, and brought into the kitchen, where the cook had cut it open with a great knife. She took up the soldier between her finger and thumb, and carried him into the room, where everyone wanted to see the hero who had been found inside a fish; but the Tin-soldier was not at all proud. They put him on the table, and — no, but what strange things do happen in this world! — the Tin-soldier was in the same room in which he had been before! He saw the same children, and the same toys on the table; and there was the same grand castle with the pretty little Dancer. She was still standing on one leg with the other high in the air; she too was steadfast. That touched the Tin-soldier, he was nearly going to shed tin-tears; but that would not have been fitting for a soldier. He looked at her, but she said nothing.

All at once one of the little boys took up the Tin-soldier, and threw him into the stove, giving no reasons; but doubtless the imp in the spice-box was at the bottom of this too. There the Tin-soldier lay, and felt a heat that was truly terrible; but whether he was suffering from actual fire, or from the ardour of his passion, he did not know. All his colour had disappeared; whether this had happened on his travels or whether it was the result of trouble, who can say? He looked at the little lady, she looked at him, and he felt that he was melting; but he remained steadfast, with his gun at his shoulder.

Suddenly a door opened, the draught caught up the little Dancer, and off she flew like a fairy to the Tin-soldier in the stove, burst into flames — and that was the end of her! Then the Tin-soldier melted down into a little lump, and when next morning the maid was taking out the ashes, she found him in the shape of a heart. There was nothing left of the little Dancer but her gilt rose, burnt as black as a cinder.

THE END.

The Steadfast Tin Soldier

A translation of Hans Christian Andersen's "Den standhaftige Tinsoldat" by unknown translator/interpreter #3.

THERE were once five and twenty tin soldiers, all brothers, for they were the offspring of the same old tin spoon. Each man shouldered his gun, kept his eyes well to the front, and wore the smartest red and blue uniform imaginable. The first thing they heard in their new world, when the lid was taken off the box, was a little boy clapping his hands and crying, "Soldiers, soldiers!" It was his birthday and they had just been given to him; so he lost no time in setting them up on the table. All the soldiers were exactly alike with one exception, and he differed from the rest in having only one leg. For he was made last, and there was not quite enough tin left to finish him. However, he stood just as well on his one leg as the others on two, in fact he is the very one who is to become famous. On the table where they were being set up, were many other toys; but the chief thing which caught the eye was a delightful paper castle. You could see through the tiny windows, right into the rooms. Outside there were some little trees surrounding a small mirror, representing a lake, whose surface reflected the waxen swans which were swimming about on it. It was altogether charming, but the prettiest thing of all was a little maiden standing at the open door of the castle. She, too, was cut out of paper, but she wore a dress of the lightest gauze, with a dainty little blue ribbon over her shoulders, by way of a scarf, set off by a brilliant spangle as big as her whole face. The little maid was stretching out both arms, for she was a dancer, and in the dance one of her legs was raised so high into the air that the tin soldier could see absolutely nothing of it, and supposed that she, like himself, had but one leg. "That would be the very wife for me!" he thought; "but she is much too grand; she lives in a palace, while I only have a box, and then there are five and twenty of us to share it. No, that would be no place for her! but I must try to make her acquaintance!" Then he lay down full length behind a snuff box, which stood on the table. From that point he could have a good look at the little lady, who continued to stand on one leg without losing her balance.

Late in the evening the other soldiers were put into their box, and the people of the house went to bed. Now was the time for the toys to play; they amused themselves with paying visits, fighting battles, and giving balls. The tin soldiers rustled about in their box, for they wanted to join the games, but they could not get the lid off. The nut-crackers turned somersaults, and the pencil scribbled nonsense on the slate. There was such a noise that the canary woke up and joined in, but his remarks were in verse. The only two who did not move were the tin soldier and the little dancer. She stood as stiff as ever on tip-toe, with her arms spread out: he was equally firm on his one leg, and he did not take his eyes off her for a moment. Then the clock struck twelve, when pop! up flew the lid of the snuff box, but there was no snuff in it, no! There was a little black goblin, a sort of Jack-in-the-box. "Tin soldier!" said the goblin, "have the goodness to keep your eyes to yourself." But the tin soldier feigned not to hear. "Ah! you just wait till to-morrow," said the goblin.

In the morning when the children got up they put the tin soldier on the window frame, and, whether it was caused by the goblin or by a puff of wind, I do not know, but all at once the window burst open, and the soldier fell head foremost from the third storey. It was a terrific descent, and he landed at last, with his leg in the air, and rested on his cap, with his bayonet fixed between two paving stones. The maid-servant and the little boy ran down at once to look for him; but although they almost trod on him, they could not see him. Had the soldier only called out, "here I am," they would easily have found him, but he did not think it proper to shout when he was in uniform. Presently it began to rain, and the drops fell faster and faster, till there was a regular torrent. When it was over two street boys came along. "Look out!" said one; "there is a tin soldier! He shall go for a sail." So they made a boat out of a newspaper and put the soldier into the middle of it, and he sailed away down the gutter; both boys ran alongside clapping their hands. Good heavens! what waves there were in the gutter, and what a current, but then it certainly had rained cats and dogs. The paper boat danced up and down, and now and then whirled round and round. A shudder ran through the tin soldier, but he remained undaunted, and did not move a muscle, only looked straight before him with his gun shouldered. All at once the boat drifted under a long wooden tunnel, and it became as dark as it was in his box. "Where on earth am I going to now!" thought he. "Well, well, it is all the fault of that goblin! Oh, if only the little maiden were with me in the boat it might be twice as dark for all I should care!"

At this moment a big water rat, who lived in the tunnel, came up. "Have you a pass?" asked the rat. "Hand up your pass!" The tin soldier did not speak, but clung still tighter to his gun. The boat rushed on, the rat close behind. Phew, how he gnashed his teeth and shouted to the bits of stick and straw, — "Stop him, stop him, he hasn't paid his toll; he hasn't shown his pass!" But the current grew stronger and stronger, the tin soldier could already see daylight before him at the end of the tunnel; but he also heard a roaring sound, fit to strike terror to the bravest heart. Just imagine! Where the tunnel ended the stream rushed straight into the big canal. That would be just as dangerous for him as it would be for us to shoot a great rapid. He was so near the end now that it was impossible to stop. The boat dashed out; the poor tin soldier held himself as stiff as he could; no one should say of him that he even winced. The boat swirled round three or four times, and filled with water to the edge; it must sink. The tin soldier stood up to his neck in water, and the boat sank deeper and deeper. The paper became limper and limper, and at last the water went over his head — then he thought of the pretty little dancer, whom he was never to see again, and this refrain rang in his ears, —

"Onward! Onward! Soldier!

For death thou canst not shun."

At last the paper gave way entirely and the soldier fell through — but at the same moment he was swallowed by a big fish. Oh! how dark it was inside the fish, it was worse than being in the tunnel even; and then it was so narrow! But the tin soldier was as dauntless as ever, and lay full length, shouldering his gun. The fish rushed about and made the most frantic movements. At last it became quite quiet, and after a time, a flash like lightning pierced it. The soldier was once more in the broad daylight, and some one called out loudly, "a tin soldier!" The fish had been caught, taken to market, sold, and brought into the kitchen, where the cook cut it open with a large knife. She took the soldier up by the waist, with two fingers, and carried him into the parlour, where everyone wanted to see the wonderful man, who had travelled about in the stomach of a fish; but the tin soldier was not at all proud. They set him up on the table, and, wonder of wonders! he found himself in the very same room that he had been in before. He saw the very same children, and the toys were still standing on the table, as well as the beautiful castle with the pretty little dancer. She still stood on one leg, and held the other up in the air. You see she also was unbending. The soldier was so much moved that he was ready to shed tears of tin, but that would not have been fitting. He looked at her, and she looked at him, but they said never a word.

At this moment one of the little boys took up the tin soldier, and without rhyme or reason, threw him into the fire. No doubt the little goblin in the snuff box was to blame for that. The tin soldier stood there, lighted up by the flame, and in the most horrible heat; but whether it was the heat of the real fire, or the warmth of his feelings, he did not know. He had lost all his gay colour; it might have been from his perilous journey, or it might have been from grief, who can tell? He looked at the little maiden, and she looked at him; and he felt that he was melting away, but he still managed to keep himself erect, shouldering his gun bravely.

A door was suddenly opened, the draught caught the little dancer and she fluttered like a sylph, straight into the fire, to the soldier, blazed up and was gone! By this time the soldier was reduced to a mere lump, and when the maid took away the ashes next morning she found him, in the shape of a small tin heart. All that was left of the dancer was her spangle, and that was burnt as black as a coal.

The Constant Tin Soldier

A translation of Hans Christian Andersen's "Den standhaftige Tinsoldat" by unknown translator/interpreter #4.

THERE were once five-and-twenty tin soldiers that were all brothers, for they were all made out of the same old tin spoon. They all shouldered their muskets, looked stiff, and wore a smart red and blue uniform. The first thing they heard in this world, when the lid was taken off the box in which they lay, were the words "Tin soldiers!" spoken by a little boy, who was clapping his hands with joy. They had been given him on his birthday, and he now set them up on the table. Each soldier was exactly the image of the other, except one that was a little different to the rest; and he had only one leg, having been melted the last of the batch, when there was not enough tin left. Yet he stood as firmly on his one leg as the others on their two legs; and it was precisely he, who became a remarkable character. The table on which they were placed was strewn with a number of other toys, the most attractive amongst them being a pretty little paper castle. One might see through the tiny windows into the rooms. In front of the castle stood little trees, round a small piece of looking-glass, that was meant to represent a transparent lake. Wax swans were swimming on its surface, that reflected back their image. This was all very pretty; but the prettiest of all was a diminutive lady, who stood at the castle's open door. She, too, was cut out of paper; but she wore a dress of the clearest muslin and a narrow blue ribbon over her shoulders, like a scarf; and in the middle of this was placed a tinsel rose, as big as her whole face. The little lady stretched out both her arms, for she was a dancer; and then she lifted her leg so high that the tin soldier lost sight of it, and therefore concluded that she had only one, like himself. "She would make a fit wife for me," thought he; "only she is very genteel, and lives in a castle; while I have nothing but a box to live in, and we are five-and-twenty of us in that. It would be no place for a lady! Still I must try and scrape acquaintance with her." And he laid himself at full length behind a snuff-box that happened to be on the table, and from thence he could peep at the delicate little lady, who continued standing on one leg without losing her balance.

Towards evening, all the other tin soldiers were put back into the box, and the people of the house went to bed; so now the playthings began to play at various games. The tin soldiers rattled in their box, for they wanted to join the rest, but they could not lift up the lid. The nut-crackers threw somersaults, and the pencil jumped about the table; and there was such a din that the canary-bird awoke, and began to speak, and in poetry, too. The only ones who did not move from their places, were the tin soldier and the dancer. She stood on tiptoe, and stretched out both her arms; and he was just as persevering on his one leg. He did not take his eyes off her for a single moment. The clock now struck twelve, when — crack! up flew the lid of the snuff-box; there was no snuff in it, but a little black gnome, for it was a puzzle. "Tin soldier," said the gnome, "don't be hankering after forbidden fruit." But the tin soldier pretended not to have heard him. "Only wait till to-morrow," observed the gnome.

Next morning, when the children were up, the tin soldier was placed in the window; and whether it was the gnome, or the draught, that did it, certain it is that the window flew open, and down the soldier fell, head over heels from the third storey into the street below. It was a tremendous fall! His cap and bayonet stuck fast between the flag-stones, while his leg stood upright in the air. The servant-girl and the little boy went downstairs immediately to look after him; but, though they had nearly trodden upon him, they could not manage to find him. If the tin soldier had but called out, "Here am I!" they might have found him; but he did not think it consistent with his uniform to cry out for help. It now began to rain. The drops fell faster and faster, and there was soon a regular shower. When it was over, two boys that were idling about the streets happened to pass by. "Look," said one of them, "there lies a tin soldier. He shall have a sail in a boat." And so they made a boat out of a newspaper, and placed the soldier inside it, and set him floating down the gutter. The two boys ran by his side, clapping their hands. But, dear me! what waves there were in the gutter, and what a strong current! It was, to be sure, at high water, owing to the rain. The paper boat rocked up and down, and sometimes whirled round so fast that the tin soldier trembled; yet he remained at his post, made no faces, looked straight before him, and shouldered his musket. On a sudden, the boat shot under a long bridge that lay across the gutter, where it was as dark as in his box. "Where am I going to?" thought he. "This must surely be the gnome's fault! Oh! if the little lady was but here at my side in the boat, it might then be as dark as it pleased, and I should not care."

A huge rat, that lived under the bridge of the gutter, now made his appearance. "Have you a pass?" enquired the rat. "Come, out with it!" But the tin soldier remained silent, and held his musket still tighter. The boat flew past, and the rat followed. How he did gnash his teeth, and call out to the wood-shavings and the straw: "Stop him! stop him! He has not paid the toll, nor shown his pass." But the stream gushed on more madly still, and the tin soldier could already see daylight at the point where the bridge ended; at the same time, however, he heard a rushing sound, well calculated to appall even the bravest. Only fancy! just where the bridge left off, the waters widened into a large sheet that fell into the mouth of a sewer; and such a situation was as perilous to him as it would be for us to sail down a waterfall in a boat. He was now so near the precipice that he could no longer keep himself back. The boat dashed on, and the poor tin soldier kept as stiff as ever he could, that nobody should say of him that he had even so much as winked an eye. The boat now spun round three or four times, till it was filled with water to the edge — and sink it must! The tin soldier stood up to his neck in water, while the boat sank deeper and deeper, the paper went gradually to rags, and the waters now closed over the tin soldier's head. He thought of the elegant little dancer, whom he should never see again, and in his ears rang the burden of the old song: —

"On, soldier! on — on — though swords clash and shots rattle, 'Tis thy fate to find death in the midst of the battle."

And now the paper fell in two, and down the tin soldier was flung — but was instantly swallowed up by a huge fish. Oh! how dark it was inside the fish! — worse a great deal than under the bridge over the gutter, and, besides, it was such a narrow place. But the tin soldier retained his fortitude, and lay at full length with his gun on his shoulder. The fish swam about, making the most frightful contortions. At last he became quite quiet. Then a flash of lightning seemed to dart through him, daylight appeared, and a voice called out, "The tin soldier, as I'm alive!" The fish had been caught, taken to market, and sold, and was now in the kitchen, where the cook was opening it with a large knife. She picked up the soldier by the waist, between her finger and thumb, and carried him into the sitting-room, where everybody was desirous of seeing such a celebrated man, who had travelled about inside a fish. But the tin soldier was not the more conceited for that. They placed him on the table, and there — what odd events do happen in the world, to be sure! The tin soldier found himself once more in the identical room in which he had been before, and saw the same children, and the same playthings on the table, together with the noble castle and the elegant little dancer. She was still standing on one leg, and still holding up the other — she, too, was constant. This touched the tin soldier so deeply that he was fit to weep tin, only he restrained himself, as in duty bound. He looked at her, and she looked at him, but they said nothing.

Then one of the little boys took up the soldier, and flung him right into the stove; nor did he give any reason for so doing, which plainly showed that the gnome in the box was at the bottom of it all. The tin soldier was now lighted up by the flames, and felt a tremendous degree of heat; but whether it proceeded from the real fire, or from the fire of love, he could not exactly tell. His colour was completely gone, but whether this had happened during his travels, or was merely the effects of grief, nobody could guess. He looked at the little lady, and she looked at him, and he felt himself melting away; still he stood firm with his gun on his shoulder.

The door now happened to open, and the wind caught up the dancer, who fluttered like a sylph right into the stove beside the tin soldier, and was instantly consumed by the flames. The tin soldier melted down to a lump, and next day, when the maid raked out the ashes, she found him in the shape of a little tin heart. Of the dancer nothing remained but the tinsel rose, and that was as black as a cinder.

THE END.

The Gallant Tin Soldier

A translation of Hans Christian Andersen's "Den standhaftige Tinsoldat" by unknown translator/interpreter #5.

THERE were once five-and-twenty tin soldiers. They were all brothers, because they were born of the same old tin spoon. They all shouldered their muskets, they all looked straight before them, and they all had the same splendid uniform — red and blue. The first words they heard in this world, when the lid was taken off the box in which they were lying, were: "Tin soldiers!" It was a little boy who shouted this as he clapped his hands in delight at seeing the soldiers. They had just been given to him as a present, because it was his birthday. He began putting them on the table. They were all exactly alike, except one, and he had only one leg because he had been cast last of all, and there was not tin enough to fill the mold; but he stood just as firm on his one leg as the others on their two, and it was just this soldier who became famous. On the table where they had been placed stood many other toys, but the most remarkable of all was a splendid castle made of cardboard. You could see right into the rooms through the small windows. In front of the castle some small trees were placed round a looking-glass which was to represent a lake. Swans made of wax swam on the lake and watched their reflection in it. It was altogether very pretty; but the prettiest of all was a little lady who was standing right outside the open gate of the castle. She was also cut out of paper, but she had a skirt of the clearest gauze, and a little, narrow blue ribbon over her shoulders, just like a scarf, and in the middle of it was a bright spangle as big as her face. The little lady stretched out both her arms, — she was a dancer, — and she lifted one leg so high that the tin soldier could not see it, and he believed that she had only one leg like himself. "That's the wife for me," he thought; "but she is very grand: she lives in a castle. I have only a box, and there are twenty-five of us in there already. It's no place for her. But I must try and get acquainted with her." And then he laid himself down at full length behind a snuff-box which was on the table. There he could have a good look at the elegant little lady, who remained standing on one leg without losing her balance.

Later on in the evening all the other tin soldiers were put back, in their box, and the people in the house went to bed. Then the toys commenced to play and amuse themselves. They played at "visiting," at "making war," and at "giving balls." The tin soldiers were making a noise in their box because they wanted to join in the fun, but they could not get the lid off. The nut-cracker turned somersaults, and the slate pencil did all sorts of tricks on the slate. There was such a noise that the canary woke up and began to chatter, and that in verse too. The only two who did not stir from their places were the tin soldier and the little dancer. She was standing on the tip of her toes, with both her arms stretched out; he remained quietly behind the snuff-box. He never took his eyes off her for a moment. The clock struck twelve and — bounce! — the lid flew off the snuff-box; but there was no snuff in it at all, only a little black goblin. It was a kind of Jack-in-the-box, you know. "Tin soldier," shouted the goblin, "will you keep your eyes to yourself?" But the tin soldier appeared as if he did not hear it. "Just wait till to-morrow," said the goblin.

When the morning came and the children were up, the tin soldier was put in the window; but whether it was the goblin or the draught which was the cause of it, the window flew open all of a sudden, and the soldier fell head foremost from the third story. It was a terrible fall. There he was, standing on his head, his bayonet sticking between two paving-stones and his leg pointing up in the air. The servant girl and the little boy ran down into the street at once to look for him; but although they very nearly trod upon him, they could not see him. If the soldier would only have cried out, "Here I am!" they could have found him; but he thought it was beneath his dignity to shout aloud because he was in uniform. It began to rain; the drops fell faster and faster till they poured down. When the rain was over two boys came past. "Look!" cried one of them, "there's a tin soldier! Let's give him a sail." They made a boat out of a newspaper and put the soldier in it, and soon he was sailing along the gutter, while the two boys ran alongside him, clapping their hands. What a rough sea there was in that gutter, and what a strong tide there was running! But then it had been raining in torrents. The paper boat rocked up and down, and now and then it turned about so rapidly that the tin soldier was very nearly shaken overboard; but he stuck to it manfully, and did not even change countenance. He looked straight before him, and grasped his musket. All of a sudden the boat drifted into a drain, where it was just as dark as if he had been in his box "I wonder where I am off to now?" he thought. "Well, well, it is all the doing of that goblin. Aha! if the little lady were only here along with me in the boat, I would not mind if it were twice as dark."

Just then a large water-rat, who was living in the drain, saw him. "Have you got a pass?" asked the rat. "Give me your pass!" But the tin soldier did not answer, and grasped his musket still tighter. The boat rushed on, and the rat gave chase to it. How the rat gnashed his teeth! He shouted out to all the bits of wood and straw which were floating about in the drain, "Stop him! stop him! He has n't paid the toll! he has n't shown his pass!" But the rush of the water in the drain carried the boat along faster and faster. The tin soldier could already see the bright daylight at the end of the drain, but he heard at the same time a roaring noise, which was enough to frighten even a bold man. Only think, at the end of the drain the water rushed out into a big canal! It was to him just as dangerous a passage as a big waterfall would be to us. He was now so near this point that he could not stop the boat. The boat darted out; the poor tin soldier summoned up all his courage, and kept himself steady — nobody should say of him that he moved a muscle. The boat whirled round three or four times — it was filling with water to the very edge — it must sink; the tin soldier stood up to his neck in water, the boat sank deeper and deeper, and the paper was gradually giving way. The water had now reached up to the soldier's head; he thought of the beautiful little dancer, whom he should never see again; the old nursery rhyme was ringing in his ears:

Danger, danger, warrior bold, Prepare to meet thy grave so cold!

At this moment the boat went to pieces, and the tin soldier was sinking to the bottom when a great fish snapped him up and swallowed him. What a dark place it was! It was even darker than in the drain, and there was so little room, too; but our gallant tin soldier did not flinch a bit; he lay at full length, shouldering his musket. The fish was rushing about, and was struggling fearfully. At last he became quiet; something like a flash of lightning passed through him. It was broad daylight, and somebody cried out, "A tin soldier!" The fish had been caught and brought to market, where he was sold, and had now been carried up into the kitchen, where the cook cut him open with a big knife. She took the soldier and carried him into the parlor, where everybody wanted to see the remarkable man who had traveled about in the stomach of a fish; but the tin soldier was not at all proud. They put him on the table, and there — but no! — what wonderful things will happen in this world! — the tin soldier was in the very room where he fell out of the window; he saw the same children, and the toys were all standing on the table; there was the beautiful castle, with the elegant little dancer. She was still standing on one leg, and kept the other high in the air. Had she been waiting for him? The tin soldier was so much moved that he nearly shed tears of tin, but it was not becoming. He looked at her and she looked at him, but they did not say anything.

Then one of the little boys took the tin soldier and threw him right into the fire, without giving any reason for doing so; it must have been the goblin in the box who put this into his head. The tin soldier stood there quite radiant; he felt a heat that was something terrible, but whether it was the heat from the fire or from his love, he was not quite sure. The colors had quite gone off him, but whether this had happened to him on his journey, or was caused by his grief, no one could tell. He looked at the little lady, and she looked at him; he felt he was melting, but he remained firm, shouldering his musket.

Suddenly the door of the room flew open, the draft caught the dancer, and she flew like a sylph straight into the stove to the tin soldier; there was a blaze — and she was gone. The brave tin soldier melted down into a little lump, and when the servant girl took out the ashes next morning, she found him in the shape of a little tin heart. Of the beautiful dancer remained only the spangle, and that was burned as black as coal.

into a little lump, in the very same, in the very room, in the stomach of, in the snuff box, in the same room, in the midst of, in the house went, in his ears rang, if the soldier had, if only the little, if he had been, if he did not, i wonder where i, i must try and, how he gnashed his, his musket still tighter, his leg in the, his gun on his, his eyes away from, his bayonet between the, himself as stiff as, him to cry out, him right into the, him open with a, him into the room, him into the parlour, him because it was, high that the tin, here is a tin, her for a moment, her finger and thumb, held himself as stiff, heard a roaring noise, head foremost from the, he was swallowed up, he was just as, he showed his teeth, he sailed down the, he now set them, he hasn't shown, he has not shown, he gnashed his teeth, he felt himself melting, he did not take, he did not hear, he could not stop, he could no longer, he could have a, he became quite still, have you a pass, have a good look, hasn't shown his, has not shown his, has n't shown, happened during his travels, happen in the world, had just been given, had happened during his, had but called out, had been placed stood, had been made last, had been in his, gun on his shoulder, grew stronger and stronger, good look at the, given to him because, give any reason for, girl and the little, get the lid off, from thence he could, from the third story, from the real fire, foremost from the third, for they had all, for him to cry, for him as it, fluttered like a sylph, flew off the snuff, first thing they heard, firmly upon his one, fell head foremost from, eyes away from her, even darker than in, end of the tunnel, end of the drain, easily have found him, dress of the clearest, down to look for, down into a little, down at full length, doorway of the castle, door of the castle, did not take his, did not move from, dark as if he, dangerous for him as, cut it open with, could not see it, could have a good, continued to stand on, clock struck twelve and, castle made of cardboard, came down at once, by a little boy, by a great fish, but whether this had, but they said nothing, but there he stood, but then it had, but the tinsel rose, but she wore a, but she is very, but she had on, but she had a, but prettiest of all, but he stood as, but he remained steadfast, but at the same, but at that moment, but although they very, but all at once, but a little black, burnt as black as, brought into the kitchen, boys took the tin, boy came down at, box which was on, box was at the, born of the same, boat whirled round three, boat out of newspaper, black as a cinder, big as her face, between her finger and, been placed stood many, been in his box, because he was in, because he had been, became as dark as, beautiful castle with the, be no place for, be just as dangerous, bayonet between the paving, at the open door, at the bottom of, ashes out the next, as the others did, as stiff as he, as stiff as ever, as firmly upon his, as firm on his, as dark as it, as dark as if, as dangerous for him, any reason for so, and when the servant, and when the maid, and what a strong, and threw him into, and there was not, and there was a, and then she lifted, and then it was, and the toys were, and the same toys, and the rat followed, and the people in, and the paper was, and the children were, and the children got, and that was burnt, and that was burned, and stretched out both, and softer grew the, and so they made, and she flew like, and put the soldier, and out fell the, and now and then, and lives in a, and lay at full, and it was just, and it became as, and in his ears, and how fast the, and held the other, and held his musket, and he was just, and he now set, and he had only, and he felt himself, and grasped his musket, and felt a heat, and clapping their hands, and clapped his hands, and carried his gun, and brought into the, and began to talk, and began to speak, am i going to, although they very nearly, also heard a roaring, almost trod on him, all was a pretty, all this was very, all shouldered their muskets, about so rapidly that, about in their box, about in the stomach, a snuff box which, a puff of wind, a newspaper and put, a little boy who, a little black goblin, a good look at, young rascallions running beside, you wait till tomorrow, you wait till to, you see she also, you please keep your, you keep your eyes, you just wait till, you got a pass, you could see through, you could see right, you could see into, you could look right, yet without losing her, yet he this must be that, this moment the boat, this moment one of, this moment a big, this is the imp, this is no place, this into his head, this identical tin soldier, this heat was the, this heat came from, this had happened to, this had happened on, this had happened during, this change had happened, this as he clapped, third story to the, third storey into the, thinking of the pretty, think it fitting for, think it consistent with, things will happen in, things were going so, things that aren't, things may happen in, things do happen in, things can happen in, thing which caught the, thing was a little, thing they had heard, thing of all was, thing in the world, thine eyes to thyself, they would surely have, they would have found, they would easily have, they woke up the, they were the offspring, they were so near, they were placed was, they were made out, they were born of, they were all made, they were all exactly, they wanted to be, they walked right past, they shouldered their muskets, they shouldered their guns, they set him up, they set him on, they said nothing to, they said never a, they put the tin, they pretended to visit, they nearly stepped on, they must have found, they might have found, they might easily have, they made a little, they lay was taken, they heard in their, they had nearly trodden, they had heard in, they did not say, they did not notice, they could not raise, they could not manage, they could not lift, they could have found, they carried muskets in, they came down by, they both flamed up, they amused themselves with, they almost trod upon, they all looked straight, they all had the, these words rang in, therefore concluded that she, there will be no, there were some little, there were once upon, there were no spices, there were many other, there was the pretty, there was the beautiful, there was soon a, there was so much, there was so little, there was nothing left, there was not tin, there was not snuff, there was not enough, there was in that, there was a streak, there was a little, there was a gust, there was a blaze, there the tin soldier, there the steadfast little, there sounded in his, there sounded a roaring, there remained only the, there quite in the, there is a tin, there he stood as, there he could have, there he could easily, there had not been, there dressed in flames, there came along a, there came a great, there are twenty five, there are all our, thence he could watch, thence he could peep, then whirled round and, then veered round so, then there are five, then the water rushed, then the toys commenced, then the toys began, then the fish flopped, then the drops came, then the door blew, then suddenly the door, then she lifted one, then she lifted her, then it was very, then it was so, then it was as, then it turned about, then it certainly had, then he stretched himself, then he made the, then he laid himself, then be as dark, then a large water, then a great water, then a flash of, put his leg straight, put him up to, put back into the, put away into the, put away in their, puff of wind struck, proper to shout when, proper to call out, proceeded from the real, pretty little paper castle, pretty little dancing maiden, pretty little dancer whom, pretty little castle made, pretty dancer nothing was, pretty castle with the, pretty but prettiest of, prettiest thing of all, pretended not to have, presently it began to, prepare to meet thy, precipice that he could, poured into the great, popped the lid of, popped a great water, poor tin soldier summoned, poor tin soldier stood, poor tin soldier kept, poor tin soldier keeping, poised on his soldier, pointing up in the, point where the bridge, point that he could, point of one of, point of her foot, point he could have, plunged into the whirlpool, please keep your eyes, playthings stood on the, playthings now began to, playthings began to play, played games on the, played at leap frog, played at commerce on, play in their turn, play at various games, play and amuse themselves, play among themselves at, plank where the gutter, plank the water poured, plank and it was, plainly showed that the, placed was strewed with, placed the soldier inside, placed round a looking, placed on the window, placed a tinsel rose, place he had a, place for a lady, pitched out headlong from, piece of looking glass, picked up the soldier, picked the soldier up, persevering on his one, perpendicularly into a great, perilous to him as, peril as for us, pencil squeaked out jokes, pencil scribbled nonsense on, pencil played games on, pencil played at commerce, pencil jumped about the, pencil did all sorts, peep at the delicate, past without seeing him, passed under a long, passage as a big, paper went gradually to, paper was gradually giving, paper was fast dropping, paper now tore asunder, paper got soft and, paper gave way entirely, paper fell in two, paper came in two, paper broke in two, paper boat tossed up, paper boat rocked to, paper boat danced up, paper boat broke beneath, paper became limper and, owing to the rain, over two street boys, over two boys came, over the tin soldier, over in the air, over her shoulder for, over heels from the, over and over in, over and over again, outside there were some, outside the open gate, outside stood some small, out with your passport, out were several other, out to the wood, out to the bits, out to sticks and, out to all the, out the ashes next, out popped a great, out of the window, out of the third, out of one old, out of an old, out jumped a little, out jokes on the,
 out into a big, out her arms to, out headlong from the, out fell the tin, out fell the little, out bounced a little, out behind a snuff, our little warrior was, our gallant tin soldier, our five and twenty, others did upon their, others did on two, other up in the, other to a hair, other tin soldiers went, other soldiers were put, other soldiers on their, other playthings on the, other extended in the,
 or whether it was, or were the effect, or was merely the, or was caused by, or there was a, or the wind occasioned, or the warmth of,
 or the little imp, or the draught which, or the draught that, or of the flames, or it might have, or had been caused, or from the fire, or from the ardour, or from love he, opening it with a, open with her big, open with a great, open with a big, open sprang the lid, open gate of the, open and the soldier, open and out fell, open all of a, only was rather different, only two who stayed, only the little maiden, only the little lady, only the gold wing, only soldiers never cry, only she is very, only sat here with, only ones who did, only one leg like, only one leg because, only looked straight before, only i had the, only here along with, only held faster his, only he restrained himself, only have cried out, only have a box, only a little imp, only a little black, only a box with, ones who did not, one who is to, one was eager to, one that was a, one that no eye, one that became famous, one only was rather, one of them was, one of them said, one of her toes, one moment turning his, one might see through, one leg without ever, one leg with the, one leg was lifted, one leg turned over, one leg stuck straight, one leg like himself, one leg as any, one foot so high, one could see straight, one could say that, one could look into, one could accuse him, one can say that, one called out loudly, once upon a time, once the window burst, once the boat went, once the boat sailed, once the boat passed, once the boat drifted, once one of the, once in his life, once did he take, on which they had, on went the boat, on their two legs, on the window frame, on the tip of, on the tin soldier, on the table with, on the table behind, on the table and, on the lake and,
 on rushed the boat, on one leg with, on one leg as, on more madly still, on its surface were, on in the evening, on his travels or,
 on his soldier s, on his head with, on earth am i, on a frock of, on a dress of, old nursery rhyme was, offspring of the same, off their box on, off the box wherein, off she flew like, off flew the lid, off by a brilliant, of wind struck the, of water to the,

of us to share, of us in there, of tricks on the, of this was placed, of this scarf was, of this ribbon was, of them was a, of them all was, of the water in, of the tunnel the, of the third story, of the stream it, of the spice box, of the room flew, of the real fire, of the pretty dancer, of the other soldiers, of the old song, of the little dancer, of the lightest gauze, of the jack in, of the gutter fell, of the fluffiest gauze, of the flames of, of the finest muslin, of the elegant little, of the drain the, of the drain ended, of the delicate little, of the dancer there, of the dancer nothing, of the castle were, of the castle some, of the bright day, of the box in, of the beautiful little, of the beautiful dancer, of the actual fire, of that gutter plank, of straw and wood, of stick and straw, of seeing such a, of rather too high, of peril as for, of one of her, of narrow blue ribbon, of love within him, of lightning seemed to, of lightning passed through, of lightning had passed, of light through him, of it shone a, of him afterwards that, of her legs was, of her legs so, of having even blinked, of an old newspaper, of all was the, of air caught the, of a small tin, impossible to, it was his birth, it was filling with, it was filled with, it was even darker, it was caused by, it was burned as, it was broad daylight, it was beneath his, it was as dangerous, it was altogether very, it was altogether charming, it was a tremendous, it was a terrific, it was a terrible, it was a puzzle, it was a kind, it was a bright, it turned about so, it sounded in the, it shone a spangle, it s no place, it quite affected the, it proper to shout, it proper to call, it proceeded from the, it might then be, it made the soldier, it is whose fortunes, it is that the, it is all that, it in his heart, it he could not, it had little windows, it had just been, it had been raining, it had been a, it for no reason, it fitting for him, it filled to the, it could be twice, it contemptible to raise, it consistent with his, it certainly had rained, it came from the, it came down in, it began to sink, it began to drizzle, it became quite quiet, it as dark here, it and clapped his, is whose fortunes seem, is to become famous, is the very one, is the one that, is the little tin, is that the window, is of rather too, is much too grand, is all the fault, is all the doing, is all that conjuror, is a magical creature, into the street below, into the street at, into the stove beside, into the sitting room, into the rooms through, into the mouth of, into the middle of, into the great canal, into the fire with, into the big canal, into the air that, into a long drain, into a large sheet, into a big canal, intended to represent a, intended for the likes, instantly swallowed up by, instantly consumed by the, inside of a fish, in which they were, in their new world, in their box because, in the world that, in the tunnel even, in the spice box, in the soldier s, in the snuffbox must, in the same moment, in the most horrible, in the morning when, in the middle with, in the maw of, in the inside of, in the identical room, in the evening the, in the evening all, in the drain tunnel, in the drain carried, in the dance one, in the broad daylight, in the box who, in the box was, in the boat it, in setting them up, in my making acquaintance, in his soldier clothes, in his own box, in his heart to, in his ears there, in her graceful position, in having only one, in front of them, in front of him, in fact he is, in delight at seeing, in a most unaccountable, in a full stream, in a blaze of, imp is a magical, imp in the spice, immediately to look after, immediately set them up, immediately came down to, image of the other, if the soldier would, if the little maiden, if only i had, if it were twice, if a flash of, idling about the streets, identical tin soldier it, identical room in which, i would not mind, i would not care, i should not care, i only have a, i must make her, i have nothing but, i had the little, i going to now, i get to next, i do not know, i can tell you, i be coming now, i am going now, how the waves splashed, how the waves rose, how the rat gnashed, how he showed his, how he should never, how he did gnash, how furiously he showed, how fast the water, how fast the stream, how could anything so, housemaid ^{0,005} and the people of the, ^{0,005} and in the middle of, ^{0,005} and carried him into the, ^{0,004} with me in the boat, ^{0,004} which he had been before, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} was still standing on one, ^{0,004} was not at all proud, ^{0,004} was no snuff in it, ^{0,004} tin soldier was not at, ^{0,004} tin soldier was in the, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} tin soldier could already see, ^{0,004} thought of the pretty little, ^{0,004} they heard in this world, ^{0,004} they could not see him, ^{0,004} there was no snuff in, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} their places were the tin, ^{0,004} the tin soldiers rattled in, ^{0,004} the tin soldier was in, ^{0,004} the tin soldier stood there, ^{0,004} the other tin soldiers were, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} the little lady stretched out, ^{0,004} the drops fell faster and, ^{0,004} the air that the tin, ^{0,004} that the tin soldier could, ^{0,004} that the canary woke up, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} still standing on one leg, ^{0,004} soldier was not at all, ^{0,004} so they made a boat, ^{0,004} she was still standing on, ^{0,004} she lives in a castle, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} round three or four times, ^{0,004} room in which he had, ^{0,004} prettiest of all was a, ^{0,004} places were the tin soldier, ^{0,004} other tin soldiers were put, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} once to look for him, ^{0,004} on his one leg as, ^{0,004} of all was a little, ^{0,004} noise that the canary woke, ^{0,004} little lady stretched out both, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} length behind a snuff box, ^{0,004} leg as the others on, ^{0,004} lady stretched out both her, ^{0,004} keep your eyes to yourself, ^{0,004} in which he had been, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} in the middle of it, ^{0,004} how dark it was inside, ^{0,004} he thought of the pretty, ^{0,004} he should never see again, ^{0,004} he felt that he was, ^{0,004} he did not think it,
^{0,004} full length behind a snuff, ^{0,004} from their places were the, ^{0,004} felt that he was melting, ^{0,004} drops fell faster and faster, ^{0,004} castle with the pretty little, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} but there was no snuff, ^{0,004} but he did not think, ^{0,004} boat out of a newspaper, ^{0,004} blue ribbon over her shoulders, ^{0,004} at the end of the, ^{0,004}
^{0,004} at once to look for, ^{0,004} and he felt that he, ^{0,004} all the other tin soldiers, ^{0,004} all at once the window, ^{0,004} all at once the boat, ^{0,004} air that the tin soldier, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} would be for us to, ^{0,003} wore a dress of the, ^{0,003} with the pretty little dancer, ^{0,003} whom he should never see, ^{0,003} who had traveled about in, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} who did not stir from, ^{0,003} where the cook cut him, ^{0,003} waves there were in the, ^{0,003} was such a noise that, ^{0,003} was cut out of paper, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} was burned as black as, ^{0,003} two who did not stir, ^{0,003} twice as dark for all, ^{0,003} tin soldiers rattled in their, ^{0,003} tin soldier pretended not to, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} tin soldier melted down into, ^{0,003} tin soldier held himself as, ^{0,003} they put him on the, ^{0,003} they could not get the, ^{0,003} there were in the gutter, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} there was such a noise, ^{0,003} then one of the little, ^{0,003} them up on the table, ^{0,003} the toys began to play, ^{0,003} the tin soldier was placed, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} the tin soldier pretended not, ^{0,003} the tin soldier melted down, ^{0,003} the tin soldier in the, ^{0,003} the tin soldier could not, ^{0,003} the table on which they, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} the prettiest of all was, ^{0,003} the poor tin soldier held, ^{0,003} the paper boat rocked up, ^{0,003} the others on their two, ^{0,003} the other high in the, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} the little boys took up, ^{0,003} the little boys took the, ^{0,003} the little boy ran down, ^{0,003} the lid of the snuff, ^{0,003} the cook cut him open, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} the canary woke up and, ^{0,003} the box in which they, ^{0,003} the boat sank deeper and, ^{0,003} that would not have been, ^{0,003} that the tin soldier trembled, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} that moment he was swallowed, ^{0,003} take his eyes off her, ^{0,003} such a noise that the, ^{0,003} stir from their places were, ^{0,003} standing on one leg without, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} soldiers rattled in their box, ^{0,003} soldier was in the very, ^{0,003} soldier melted down into a, ^{0,003} soldier could already see daylight, ^{0,003} so high in the air, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} should say of him that, ^{0,003} she wore a dress of, ^{0,003} she flew like a sylph, ^{0,003} say of him that he, ^{0,003} put the tin soldier in, ^{0,003} put him on the table, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} poor tin soldier held himself, ^{0,003} paper boat rocked up and, ^{0,003} other high in the air, ^{0,003} once the window flew open, ^{0,003} not stir from their places, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} narrow blue ribbon over her, ^{0,003} moment he was swallowed by, ^{0,003} might be twice as dark, ^{0,003} little boys took up the, ^{0,003} lid of the snuff box, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} it would be for us, ^{0,003} it might be twice as, ^{0,003} is no place for her, ^{0,003} in the air that the, ^{0,003} if the tin soldier had, ^{0,003} i must try to make, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} his eyes off her for, ^{0,003} him as it would be, ^{0,003} high in the air that, ^{0,003} he was swallowed by a, ^{0,003} he shall have a sail, ^{0,003} he has not paid the, ^{0,003}
^{0,003} he had only one leg, ^{0,003} he had been cast last, ^{0,003} has not paid the toll, ^{0,003} had been given to him, ^{0,003} had been cast last of, ^{0,003} front of the castle stood, for they wanted to join, for all i should care, flew the lid of the, five and twenty of us, firmly on his one leg, firm on his one leg, filled with water to the, felt a heat that was, eyes off her for a, down at once to look, did not stir from their, deeper and deeper sank the, dark for all i should, could not get the lid, cook cut him open with, but whether it was the, but they could not get, but the prettiest of all, but that would not have, but i must try to, but he also heard a, boat sank deeper and deeper, boat rocked up and down, big as her whole face, behind a snuff box that, been cast last of all, be twice as dark for, at that moment he was, at once the window flew, at last he became quite, at full length behind a, as the others on their, as it would be for, as firmly on his one, as dark for all i, as black as a coal, as big as her whole, are five and twenty of, and whether it was the, and the little boy ran, and deeper sank the boat, a noise that the canary, a jack in the box, would not have been fitting, would be no place for, would be just as dangerous, woke up and began to, with water to the edge, with his leg in the, with his gun on his, windows through which you could, who stood in the open, who did not move from, who continued to stand on, whirled round three or four, which was on the table, whether it was the heat, where everyone wanted to see, what waves there were in, waterfall would be to us, water to the very edge, was swallowed up by a, was so much moved that, was put in the window, was placed in the window, was just this soldier who, was in the very room, was filled with water to, was at the bottom of, was a little boy who, was a jack in the, upon his one leg as, up flew the lid of, uniform was red and blue, two who did not move, twenty of us in that, try to make her acquaintance, toys began to play at, took up the tin soldier, took the tin soldier and, took the ashes out the, to stand on one leg, to see the wonderful man, to him because it was, tin soldiers were put back, tin soldiers were put away, tin soldier was put in, tin soldier was placed in, tin soldier stood there quite, tin soldier in the middle, tin soldier had but called, tin soldier could not see, tin soldier and threw him, threw him into the stove, this was all very pretty, they wanted to play too, they wanted to join the, they placed him on the, they had just been given, they had been placed stood, they had been given to, they almost trod on him, they all shouldered their muskets, there s a tin soldier, there lies a tin soldier, there are five and twenty, then the tin soldier melted, then the clock struck twelve, then he thought of the, them out on the table, their uniform was red and, the window flew open and, the tin soldier was silent, the tin soldier was put, the tin soldier took no, the tin soldier had but, the tin soldier fell through, the tin soldier did not, the tin soldier couldn t, the tin soldier could see, the tin soldier and threw, the stove to the tin, the stomach of a fish, the soldier fell head foremost, the servant girl and the, the same moment he was, the people in the house, the open doorway of the, the open door of the, the maid servant and the, the little boy came down, the lid flew off the, the first thing they heard, the end of the tunnel, the end of the drain, the clock struck twelve and, the boat whirled round three, the beautiful castle with the, the ashes out the next, that would be just as, that was burned as black, that they heard in this, that the tin soldier couldn, that she had only one, that s the wife for, that he could not stop, that he could no longer, taken off the box in, table on which they were, stove to the tin soldier, stood in the open doorway, stood as firmly upon his, stood as firmly on his, still stood on one leg, stand on one leg without, spangle as big as her, some little trees surrounding a, soldier was so much moved, soldier was put in the, soldier was placed in the, soldier was exactly like the, soldier so deeply that he, soldier pretended not to hear, soldier in the middle of, soldier held himself as stiff, soldier had but called out, soldier fell head foremost from, soldier could not see it, softer and softer grew the, so quickly that the tin, so much moved that he, so high that the tin, snuff box which was on, set them up on the, servant girl and the little, servant and the little boy, see through the tiny windows, same room in which he, same moment he was swallowed, s the wife for me, s no place for her, round so quickly that the, remained standing on one leg, quickly that the tin soldier, placed him on the table, people in the house went, over the soldier s head, out of the same old, out of a newspaper and, open with a large knife, open doorway of the castle, open door of the castle, only wait till to morrow, one should say of him, one leg because he had, on the table where they, on the table on which, off the box in which, off her for a moment, of the castle stood some, of one old tin spoon, of jack in the box, of a newspaper and put, now the toys began to, not think it proper to,

not take his eyes off, not move from their places, not get the lid off, nobody should say of him, no one should say of, newspaper and put the soldier, must try to make her, moment he was swallowed up, melted down into a little, man who had traveled about, maid took the ashes out, maid servant and the little, maid and the little boy, made out of the same, looked straight in front of, little boys took the tin, little boy came down at, like a flash of lightning, lid flew off the snuff, leg so high that the, leg because he had been, leg as the others did, last he became quite still, just wait till to morrow, just this soldier who became,
just been given to him, just as firm on his, just as dangerous for him, it was just this soldier, it was inside the fish, it was as dark as, it was a little boy, it that he could not, it now began to rain, it must have been the, it might have been from, it is no place for,
it became as dark as, into the stove to the, in the very same room, in the stomach of a, in the open doorway of, in the middle of this, in the house went to, if he had been in, if he did not hear, i wonder where i am, how he gnashed his teeth, his leg in the air, his gun on his shoulder, his eyes away from her, his bayonet between the paving, himself as stiff as he, him because it was his, high that the tin soldier, here is a tin soldier, head foremost from the third, he was swallowed up by, he was now so near, he stood as firmly upon, he stood as firmly on, he sailed down the gutter, he hasn't shown his, he has not shown his, he had been in his,
he did not take his, he could have a good, he also heard a roaring, have a good look at, has not shown his passport, has n't shown his,
had traveled about in the, had just been given to, had happened during his travels, had been placed stood many, had been in his box, given to him because it, give any reason for so, girl and the little boy, for they wanted to play, for they had all been, for him to cry out, for him as it would, flew off the snuff box, first thing they heard in, firmly upon his one leg, fell head foremost from the, everyone wanted to see the, even darker than in the, each soldier was exactly like, down to look for him, down into a little lump, down at full length behind, did not think it proper, did not take his eyes, did not move from their, darker than in the drain, dark it was inside the, dark as if he had, dangerous for him as it, cut it open with a, cut him open with a, could have a good look, continued to stand on one, carried him into the room, canary woke up and began, came down at once to, but whether this had happened, but then it had been, but the tin soldier took, but the tin soldier pretended, but she wore a dress, but she is very grand, but prettiest of all was, but at that moment he, but although they very nearly, but all at once the, burnt as black as a, burned as black as a, boys took up the tin, boys took the tin soldier, boy came down at once, box which was on the, box was at the bottom, box in which they lay, born of the same old, boat whirled round three or, between her finger and thumb, behind a snuff box which, been placed stood many other, been given to him because, because it was his birthday, because he had been cast, beautiful castle with the pretty, be just as dangerous for, bayonet between the paving stones, at the open door of, ashes out the next day, as stiff as he could, as if he had been, as firmly upon his one, as firm on his one, as dangerous for him as, as black as a cinder, as big as her face, any reason for so doing, and when the maid took, and twenty of us in, and threw him into the,
and there was the same, and the tin soldier was, and the soldier fell head, and the people in the, and the little boy came, and the children got up, and that was burned as, and stretched out both her, and softer grew the paper, and so they made a, and she flew like a, and lives in a castle, and lay at full length, and it was just this, and it became as dark, and in his ears rang, and he was just as, and he now set them, and he had only one, and he felt himself melting, and felt a heat that,
and brought into the kitchen, although they very nearly trod, all was a little lady, all this was very pretty, all of a sudden the,
about in the stomach of, a snuff box which was, a newspaper and put the, a good look at the, a dress of the clearest, young rascallions running beside him, you wait till to morrow, you see she also was, you please keep your eyes, you keep your eyes to, you just wait till to, you could see through the, you could see right into, you could see into the, you could look right inside, yet without losing her balance, yet he stood as firmly, yet he remained at his, would surely have found him, would only have cried out, would not mind if it, would not have been proper, would not care for its, would not be becoming for, would make a fit wife, would have cried tin tears, would have been unbecoming in, would have been as full, would frighten the bravest of,
would easily have found him, would be the wife for, would be the very wife, would be just the wife, would be a wife for,

to him as it would, ^{0,001} to him as a waterfall, ^{0,001} to him as a present, ^{0,001} to go down a waterfall, ^{0,001} to frighten even a bold, ^{0,001} to frighten any brave man,

^{0,001} to find death in the, ^{0,001} to cry out for help, ^{0,001} to be on the table, ^{0,001} to be carried down a, ^{0,001} to appall even the bravest, ^{0,001} to all the bits of, ^{0,001} to a kitchen where the, ^{0,001} tis thy fate to find, ^{0,001} tiny windows into the rooms, ^{0,001} tiny mirror which looked like, ^{0,001} tiny blue ribbon went over, ^{0,001} tin soldiers were set out, ^{0,001} tin soldiers were put in, ^{0,001} tin soldiers were making a, ^{0,001} tin soldiers went into their, ^{0,001} tin soldiers that were all, ^{0,001} tin soldiers rustled about in, ^{0,001} tin soldiers rattled in the, ^{0,001} tin soldiers rattled about in, ^{0,001} tin soldier was very nearly, ^{0,001} tin soldier was standing up, ^{0,001} tin soldier was so much, ^{0,001} tin soldier was sinking to, ^{0,001} tin soldier was placed on, ^{0,001} tin soldier was now lighted, ^{0,001} tin soldier was not the, ^{0,001} tin soldier was just as, ^{0,001} tin soldier was as dauntless, ^{0,001} tin soldier took no pride, ^{0,001} tin soldier took no notice, ^{0,001} tin soldier summoned up all, ^{0,001} tin soldier stood there dressed, ^{0,001} tin soldier stood as staunch, ^{0,001} tin soldier still was staunch, ^{0,001} tin soldier so deeply that, ^{0,001} tin soldier saw daylight again, ^{0,001} tin soldier s resolution was, ^{0,001} tin soldier retained his fortitude, ^{0,001} tin soldier on the window, ^{0,001} tin soldier now stood in, ^{0,001} tin soldier melted down to, ^{0,001} tin soldier made as if, ^{0,001} tin soldier lost sight of, ^{0,001} tin soldier lay full length, ^{0,001} tin soldier kept as stiff, ^{0,001} tin soldier keeping himself as, ^{0,001} tin soldier it is whose, ^{0,001} tin soldier in the stove, ^{0,001} tin soldier had only called, ^{0,001} tin soldier found himself once, ^{0,001} tin soldier fell through the, ^{0,001} tin soldier feigned not to, ^{0,001} tin soldier did not speak, ^{0,001} tin soldier did not flinch, ^{0,001} tin soldier did not answer, ^{0,001} tin soldier couldn t see, ^{0,001} tin soldier couldn t find, ^{0,001} tin soldier could see the, ^{0,001} tin soldier could see absolutely, ^{0,001} tin soldier could not find, ^{0,001} tin soldier could already catch, ^{0,001} tin soldier by the middle, ^{0,001} tin soldier became quite giddy, ^{0,001} tin soldier as sailing down, ^{0,001} tin soldier appeared as if, ^{0,001} tin soldier and the dancer, ^{0,001} tin soldier and flung him, ^{0,001} tin left to finish him, ^{0,001} tin enough to fill the, ^{0,001} time the soldier was reduced, ^{0,001} time in setting them up, ^{0,001} time he heard a roaring, ^{0,001} time for the toys to, ^{0,001} time five and twenty tin, ^{0,001} till there was a regular, ^{0,001} till it was filled with, ^{0,001} thy fate to find death, ^{0,001} through which you could see, ^{0,001} through which you could look, ^{0,001} through the tiny windows into, ^{0,001} through the little windows one, ^{0,001} through its little windows one, ^{0,001} through him like a flash, ^{0,001} thrice and again the boat, ^{0,001} threw him without ceremony into, ^{0,001} threw him right into the, ^{0,001} threw him into the fire, ^{0,001} thought of the elegant little, ^{0,001} thought of the beautiful little, ^{0,001} thought it would not be, ^{0,001} thought it was beneath his, ^{0,001} thought it contemptible to raise, ^{0,001} though they were so near, ^{0,001} though they nearly stepped on, ^{0,001} though they had nearly trodden, ^{0,001} though they almost trod upon, ^{0,001} though swords clash and shots, ^{0,001} though she was a paper, ^{0,001} thou keep thine eyes to, ^{0,001} this was very pretty but, ^{0,001} this was placed a tinsel, ^{0,001} this was exclaimed by a, ^{0,001} this was as dangerous for, ^{0,001} this touched the tin soldier, ^{0,001} this time the soldier was, ^{0,001} this soldier who became worth, ^{0,001} this soldier who became famous, ^{0,001} this scarf was set a, ^{0,001} this ribbon was a shining, ^{0,001} this remarkable traveler who had, ^{0,001} this refrain rang in his, ^{0,001} this point that he could, ^{0,001} this place he had a, ^{0,001} this must surely be the, ^{0,001} this must be that black, ^{0,001} this moment the boat went, ^{0,001} this moment one of the, ^{0,001} this moment a big water, ^{0,001} this is the imp s, ^{0,001} this is no place for, ^{0,001} this identical tin soldier it, ^{0,001} this heat was the result, ^{0,001} this heat came from the, ^{0,001} this had happened to him, ^{0,001} this had happened on his, ^{0,001} this had happened during his, ^{0,001} this change had happened during, ^{0,001} this as he clapped his, ^{0,001} third story to the ground, ^{0,001} third storey into the street, ^{0,001} thinking of the pretty little, ^{0,001} think it proper to shout, ^{0,001} think it proper to call, ^{0,001} think it fitting for him, ^{0,001} think it consistent with his, ^{0,001} things will happen in this, ^{0,001} things were going so nicely, ^{0,001} things that aren t intended, ^{0,001} things may happen in the, ^{0,001} things do happen in this, ^{0,001} things can happen in this, ^{0,001} thing which caught the eye, ^{0,001} thing was a little lady, ^{0,001} thing they heard in this, ^{0,001} thing they heard in their, ^{0,001} thing they had heard in, ^{0,001} thing of all was a, ^{0,001} thing in the world that, ^{0,001} they would surely have found, ^{0,001} they would have found him, ^{0,001} they would easily have found, ^{0,001} they woke up the canary, ^{0,001} they were the offspring of, ^{0,001} they were so near him, ^{0,001} they were placed was strewed, ^{0,001} they were made out of, ^{0,001} they were born of the, ^{0,001} they were being set up, ^{0,001} they were being set out, ^{0,001} they were all made out, ^{0,001} they were all exactly alike, ^{0,001} they wanted to join in, ^{0,001} they wanted to be out, ^{0,001} they walked right past without, ^{0,001} they very nearly trod upon, ^{0,001} they very nearly trod on, ^{0,001} they shouldered their muskets and, ^{0,001} they shouldered their guns and, ^{0,001} they set him up on, ^{0,001} they set him on the, ^{0,001} they said nothing to each, ^{0,001} they said never a word, ^{0,001} they put the tin soldier, ^{0,001} they nearly stepped on the, ^{0,001} they must have found him, ^{0,001} they might have found him, ^{0,001} they might easily have found, ^{0,001} they made a little boat, ^{0,001} they lay was taken off, ^{0,001} they heard in their new, ^{0,001} they had nearly trodden upon, ^{0,001} they had heard in the, ^{0,001} they had been given him, ^{0,001} they had all been made, ^{0,001} they had all been born, ^{0,001} they did not say anything, ^{0,001} they did not notice him, ^{0,001} they could not raise the, ^{0,001} they could not manage to, ^{0,001} they could not lift up, ^{0,001} they could have found him, ^{0,001} they carried muskets in their, ^{0,001} they came down by the, ^{0,001} they both flamed up into, ^{0,001} they amused themselves with paying, ^{0,001} only ones who did not, ^{0,001} only one leg like himself, ^{0,001} only one leg because he, ^{0,001} only looked straight before him, ^{0,001} only i had the little, ^{0,001} only here along with me, ^{0,001} only held faster his gun, ^{0,001} only a little black goblin, ^{0,001} only a box with four, ^{0,001} ones who did not move, ^{0,001} one who is to become, ^{0,001} one was eager to see, ^{0,001} one that was a little, ^{0,001} one that no eye could, ^{0,001} one only was rather different, ^{0,001} one of them was a, ^{0,001} one of her legs was, ^{0,001} one of her legs so, ^{0,001} one moment turning his eyes, ^{0,001} one might see through the, ^{0,001} one leg without ever losing, ^{0,001} one leg with the other, ^{0,001} one leg was lifted so, ^{0,001} one leg turned over and, ^{0,001} one leg stuck straight in, ^{0,001} one leg so high that, ^{0,001} one leg so high in, ^{0,001} one leg as any of, ^{0,001} one foot so high in, ^{0,001} one could see straight into, ^{0,001} one could say that he, ^{0,001} one could look into the, ^{0,001} one could accuse him of, ^{0,001} one can say that he, ^{0,001} once upon a time five, ^{0,001} once the window burst open, ^{0,001} once the boat went into, ^{0,001} once the boat sailed under, ^{0,001} once the boat passed under, ^{0,001} once the boat drifted under, ^{0,001} once one of the little, ^{0,001} once more in the identical, ^{0,001} once more in the broad, ^{0,001} once did he take his, ^{0,001} on which they were placed, ^{0,001} on which they were being, ^{0,001} on which they had been, ^{0,001} on the tip of her, ^{0,001} on the table with the, ^{0,001} on the table where the, ^{0,001} on the table behind a, ^{0,001} on the point of one, ^{0,001} on the point of her, ^{0,001} on the lake and watched, ^{0,001} on one leg without ever, ^{0,001} on one leg with the, ^{0,001} on one leg as any, ^{0,001} on its surface were reflected, ^{0,001} on in the evening all, ^{0,001} on his travels or whether, ^{0,001} on his soldier s cap, ^{0,001} on his head with his, ^{0,001} on earth am i going, ^{0,001} on a frock of the, ^{0,001} on a dress of the, ^{0,001} old nursery rhyme was ringing, ^{0,001} offspring of the same old, ^{0,001} off their box on his, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} off the box wherein they, ^{0,001} off she flew like a, ^{0,001} off her for a single, ^{0,001} off flew the lid of, ^{0,001} off by a brilliant spangle, ^{0,001} of wood and straw which, ^{0,001} of wind struck the dancer, ^{0,001} of wax swam on this, ^{0,001} of wax swam on the, ^{0,001} of water to the very, ^{0,001} of us to share it, ^{0,001} of us in there already, ^{0,001} of tricks on the slate, ^{0,001} of this was placed a, ^{0,001} of this scarf was set, ^{0,001} of this ribbon was a, ^{0,001} of them was a little, ^{0,001} of them all was a, ^{0,001} of the water in the, ^{0,001} of the tunnel the gutter, ^{0,001} of the stream it went, ^{0,001} of the room flew open, ^{0,001} of the pretty dancer nothing, ^{0,001} of the other soldiers on, ^{0,001} of the little dancer but, ^{0,001} of the little boys snatched, ^{0,001} of the jack in the, ^{0,001} of the gutter fell perpendicularly, ^{0,001} of the flames of love, ^{0,001} of the elegant little dancer, ^{0,001} of the drain the water, ^{0,001} of the delicate little lady, ^{0,001} of the dancer was left, ^{0,001} of the dancer was her, ^{0,001} of the dancer there remained, ^{0,001} of the dancer nothing remained, ^{0,001} of the clearest muslin and, ^{0,001} of the castle were miniature, ^{0,001} of the castle stood little, ^{0,001} of the castle some small, ^{0,001} of the bright day light, ^{0,001} of the box in which, ^{0,001} of the beautiful little dancer, ^{0,001} of the beautiful dancer remained, ^{0,001} of that gutter plank the, ^{0,001} of seeing such a celebrated, ^{0,001} of rather too high rank, ^{0,001} of peril as for us, ^{0,001} of one of her toes, ^{0,001} of narrow blue ribbon round, ^{0,001} of lightning seemed to dart, ^{0,001} of lightning passed through him, ^{0,001} of lightning had passed through, ^{0,001} of it was a bright, ^{0,001} of it shone a spangle, ^{0,001} of him that he moved, ^{0,001} of him that he had, ^{0,001} of him that he even, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} of him afterwards that he, ^{0,001} of her legs was raised, ^{0,001} of her legs so high, ^{0,001} of all was the little, ^{0,001} of all was a splendid, ^{0,001} of all was a pretty, ^{0,001} of all was a diminutive, ^{0,001} of air caught the dancer, ^{0,001} of a sudden the window, ^{0,001} of a sudden the boat, ^{0,001} of a small tin heart, ^{0,001} odd events do happen in, ^{0,001} nut crackers played at leap, ^{0,001} nut cracker went head over, ^{0,001} nursery rhyme was ringing in, ^{0,001} nursery maid and the little, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} now was the time for, ^{0,001} now the water was over, ^{0,001} now the water closed over, ^{0,001} now the two boys ran, ^{0,001} now the playthings began to, ^{0,001} now the paper fell in, ^{0,001} now the paper broke in, ^{0,001} now the paper boat broke, ^{0,001} now the clock struck twelve, ^{0,001} now that it was impossible, ^{0,001} now stood in a blaze, ^{0,001} now spun round three or, ^{0,001} now so near this point, ^{0,001} now so near the precipice, ^{0,001} now so close that he, ^{0,001} now set them up on, ^{0,001} now set them out on, ^{0,001} now reached up to the, ^{0,001} now one of the little, ^{0,001} now lighted up by the, ^{0,001} now it began to rain, ^{0,001} now he was so near, ^{0,001} now he was already so, ^{0,001} now he put them on, ^{0,001} now he began setting them, ^{0,001} now closed over the tin, ^{0,001} now began to play in, ^{0,001} now been carried up into, ^{0,001} now and then whirled round, ^{0,001} now and then veered round, ^{0,001} now and then it turned, ^{0,001} nothing was left except her, ^{0,001} nothing remained but the tinsel, ^{0,001} nothing left of the little, ^{0,001} nothing but the tinsel rose, ^{0,001} nothing but a box to, ^{0,001}

he was very near weeping, he was thinking of the, he was suffering from actual, he was so near to, he was so near the, he was so near it, he was sailing along the, he was ready to shed, he was now so close, he was not quite sure, he was never to see, he was nearly going to, he was just as persevering, he was just as firm, he was in his soldier, he was fit to weep, he was equally firm on,
he was already so near, he thought of the elegant, he thought of the beautiful, he thought it would not, he thought it was beneath, he thought it contemptible to, he take his eyes off, he supposed she must have, he stuck to it manfully, he stretched himself out behind, he stood steadfastly on his, he stood on his head, he stood just as well, he stood just as firmly, he stood just as firm, he stood firm with his, he stood as steady as, he still stood shouldering his, he still managed to keep, he stationed himself behind a, he so much as blinked, he shouted out to all, he shouldn't look at, he should never see her, he shall sail up and, he shall go for a, he saw the very same, he sailed away down the, he remained quietly behind the, he remained at his post, he put them on the,
he put his leg straight, he now set them up, he now set them out, he never turned his eyes, he never took his eyes, he nearly shed tears of, he moved not a muscle, he made the strangest stir, he made the most dreadful, he lost no time in,
he looked upon the little, he looked straight before him, he looked at her and, he looked a little different, he'll be the remarkable, he lay there full length, he lay down on the, he lay down full length, he lay down at full, he lay at full length, he landed on his head, he laid himself down at, he laid himself at full, he kept his eyes front, he is the very one, he is the one that, he immediately set them up, he heard at the same, he heard a voice say, he heard a rushing sound, he heard a roaring noise, he hasn't paid his,
he had one leg because, he had on his uniform, he had lost all his, he had even so much, he had entirely lost his, he had but one leg, he had been made last, he had been in before, he had a full view, he gnashed his teeth and, he give any reason for, he gave no reason for,
he found it as dark, he found himself in the, he felt himself melting away, he felt he was melting, he felt a terrible heat, he felt a heat that, he fell out of the, he fell at breathtaking speed, he differed from the rest, he didn't pay his, he did not hear it, he did not hear him, he did not give any, he did gnash his teeth, he'd never see again, he'd lost his splendid, he cried to the chips, he could watch the dainty, he could peep at the, he could not stop the, he could not possibly stop, he could not hold on, he could not exactly tell, he could no longer stand, he could no longer keep, he could have found it, he could easily watch the,
he could admire the dainty, he clapped his hands in, he called to the sticks, he believed that she had, he began setting them out, he began putting them on, he became quite still and, he always talked in verse, he also heard a roar, having been melted the last, as dark as his box, ^{0,001} as dangerous to him as, ^{0,001} as dangerous for the tin, ^{0,001} as dangerous a passage as, ^{0,001} as at home in his, ^{0,001} as any of the other, ^{0,001} as a waterfall would be, ^{0,001} as a big waterfall would, ^{0,001} as a ballet dancer does, ^{0,001} around a little mirror supposed, ^{0,001} aren't intended for the, ^{0,001} are twenty five of us, ^{0,001} are all our five and, ^{0,001} arch of the drain ended, ^{0,001} appeared as if he did, ^{0,001} anything so extraordinary happen in, ^{0,001} any reason for doing so, ^{0,001} any of the other soldiers, ^{0,001} and wore the smartest red, ^{0,001} and wore a smart red, ^{0,001} and without rhyme or reason, ^{0,001} and whether the bogey did, ^{0,001} and when the servant maid, ^{0,001} and when the servant girl, ^{0,001} and when next morning the, ^{0,001} and what a swift current, ^{0,001} and what a strong tide, ^{0,001} and what a strong current, ^{0,001} and were reflected on its, ^{0,001} and we are five and, ^{0,001} and waxen swans swam in, ^{0,001} and watched their reflection in, ^{0,001} and was now in the, ^{0,001} and was lifting up one, ^{0,001} and was instantly consumed by, ^{0,001} and was full of water, ^{0,001} and was filled with water, ^{0,001} and was bound to sink, ^{0,001} and twenty tin soldiers that, ^{0,001} and twenty roommates to share, ^{0,001} and twenty of us to, ^{0,001} and twenty men in it, ^{0,001} and took him into the, ^{0,001} and threw him without ceremony, ^{0,001} and threw him right into, ^{0,001} and this refrain rang in, ^{0,001} and this identical tin soldier, ^{0,001} and they shouldered their guns, ^{0,001} and they had just been, ^{0,001} and they all had the, ^{0,001} and these words rang in, ^{0,001} and therefore concluded that she, ^{0,001} and there was the pretty, ^{0,001} and there was such a, ^{0,001} and there was soon a, ^{0,001} and there was so little, ^{0,001} and there was not tin, ^{0,001} and there was not quite, ^{0,001} and there was a streak, ^{0,001} and there was a regular, ^{0,001} and there sounded in his, ^{0,001} and there had not been, ^{0,001} and there are twenty five, ^{0,001} and there are five and, ^{0,001} and then whirled round and, ^{0,001} and then veered round so, ^{0,001} and then there are five,^{0,001} and then she lifted one,^{0,001} and then she lifted her,^{0,001} and then it was very,^{0,001} and then it was so,^{0,001} and then it turned about,^{0,001} and then he lay down,^{0,001} and then he laid himself,^{0,001} and their uniforms were red,^{0,001} and the wind caught up,^{0,001} and the waters now closed,^{0,001} and the toys were still,^{0,001} and the toys were all,^{0,001} and the tin soldier fell,^{0,001} and the tin soldier could,^{0,001} and the soldier sank right,^{0,001} and the soldier pitched out,^{0,001} and the soldier fell through,^{0,001} and the slate pencil squeaked,^{0,001} and the slate pencil played,^{0,001} and the slate pencil did,^{0,001} and the same toys stood,^{0,001} and the same toys on,^{0,001} and the same playthings on,^{0,001} and the rat gave chase,^{0,001} and the rat came right,^{0,001} and the rat behind it,^{0,001} and the poor tin soldier,^{0,001} and the pencil scribbled nonsense,^{0,001} and the pencil played games,^{0,001} and the pencil jumped about,^{0,001} and the paper was gradually,^{0,001} and the paper was fast,^{0,001} and the paper got soft,^{0,001} and the little boy went,^{0,001} and the little boy immediately,^{0,001} and the elegant little dancer,^{0,001} and the drops fell faster,^{0,001} and the draught of air,^{0,001} and the children were up,^{0,001} and the children were out,^{0,001} and the children had got,^{0,001} and the chalk ran about,^{0,001} and the boat sank deeper,^{0,001} and that was the end,^{0,001} and that was burnt black,^{0,001} and that was burnt as,^{0,001} and that was as black,^{0,001} and that in verse too,^{0,001} and taken into the kitchen,^{0,001} and such a situation was,^{0,001} and straw which were floating,^{0,001} and still the boat went,^{0,001} and still holding up the,^{0,001} and soon he was sailing,^{0,001} and sometimes whirled round so,^{0,001} and sometimes turned round so,^{0,001} and sometimes it whirled about,^{0,001} and some one called out,^{0,001} and softer and softer grew,^{0,001} and so he stationed himself,^{0,001} and shouted to the bits,^{0,001} and she lifted one leg,^{0,001} and she fluttered like a,^{0,001} and set him floating down,^{0,001} and seemed not to hear,^{0,001} and scrape acquaintance with her,^{0,001} and saw the same children,^{0,001} and rested on his cap,^{0,001} and reflecting themselves in it,^{0,001} and raised one of her,^{0,001} and put the tin soldier,^{0,001} and put the soldier into,^{0,001} and put the soldier in,^{0,001} and placed the soldier inside,^{0,001} and over in the air,^{0,001} and out fell the tin,^{0,001} and out fell the little,^{0,001} and only held faster his,^{0,001} and one that no eye,^{0,001} and one leg was lifted,^{0,001} and off she flew like,^{0,001} and now the water closed,^{0,001} and now the paper fell,^{0,001} and now the paper broke,^{0,001} and now the paper boat,^{0,001} and now one of the,^{0,001} and now he put them,^{0,001} and now he began setting,^{0,001} and now and then whirled,^{0,001} and now and then it,^{0,001} and no one could say,^{0,001} and no one can say,^{0,001} and never moved a muscle,^{0,001} and never a word was,^{0,001} and made the strangest movements,^{0,001} and made the most frantic,^{0,001} and made him sail up,^{0,001} and looked straight in front,^{0,001} and looked straight before them,^{0,001} and looked straight ahead of,^{0,001} and looked at themselves in,^{0,001} and kept the other high,^{0,001} and just at that moment,^{0,001} and it was so cramped,^{0,001} and it was really very,^{0,001} and it was precisely he,^{0,001} and it was burned as,^{0,001} and it sounded in the,^{0,001} and in the most horrible,^{0,001} and in the midst of,^{0,001} and in the dance one,^{0,001} and in front of the,^{0,001} and i should not care,^{0,001} and i have only a,^{0,001} and how he should never,^{0,001} and how fast the water,^{0,001} and how fast the stream,^{0,001} and his one leg stuck,^{0,001} and his leg pointing up,^{0,001} and his bayonet between the,^{0,001} and held themselves very upright,^{0,001} and held the other up,^{0,001} and held the other extended,^{0,001} and held his weapon with,^{0,001} and held his musket tighter,^{0,001} and held his musket still,^{0,001} and held his bayonet tightly,^{0,001} and he supposed she must,^{0,001} and he sailed down the,^{0,001} and he sailed away down,^{0,001} and he never turned his,^{0,001} and he landed at last,^{0,001} and he laid himself at,^{0,001} and he is the one,^{0,001} and he heard a voice,^{0,001} and he differed from the,^{0,001} and he did not take,^{0,001} and he believed that she,^{0,001} and had now been carried,^{0,001} and grasped his musket still,^{0,001} and grasped his gun more,^{0,001} and get acquainted with her,^{0,001} and from thence he could,^{0,001} and for him that would,^{0,001} and flung him right into,^{0,001} and flung him into the,^{0,001} and floundered in a most,^{0,001} and flashed up in a,^{0,001} and filled with water to,^{0,001} and felt a tremendous degree,^{0,001} and faster till they poured,^{0,001} and fancied that she had,^{0,001} and every now and then,^{0,001} and down the tin soldier,^{0,001} and down the soldier fell,^{0,001} and down swam the fish,^{0,001} and down in a boat,^{0,001} and did not move a,^{0,001} and did not even change,^{0,001} and deeper and deeper sank,^{0,001} and cried out to sticks,^{0,001} and clapped his hands as,^{0,001} and carried his gun shoulder,^{0,001} and carried his gun erect,^{0,001} and carried him off upstairs,^{0,001} and came down so that,^{0,001} and called out to the,^{0,001} and call out to the,^{0,001} and brought to a kitchen,^{0,001} and brought home into the,^{0,001} and began to talk too,^{0,001} and began to talk to,^{0,001} and began to speak too,^{0,001} and became suddenly quite still,^{0,001} and became filled to the,^{0,001} and bayonet stuck fast between,^{0,001} and away he went down,^{0,001} and away he sailed down,^{0,001} and at last the water,^{0,001} and at last it came,^{0,001} and at last he rested,^{0,001} and again the boat spun,^{0,001} and after a while something,^{0,001} and a voice said aloud,^{0,001} and a voice called out,^{0,001} and a narrow blue ribbon,^{0,001} and a little narrow blue,^{0,001} and a little looking glass,^{0,001} an uproar while he was,^{0,001} an imp is a magical,^{0,001} that s the wife for me, that moment he was swallowed by, taken off the box in which, take his eyes off her for, stood as firmly upon his one, stood as firmly on his one, standing on one leg without losing, stand on one leg without losing, soldier was so much moved that, soldier was put in the window, soldier was placed in the window, soldier was in the very room, soldier melted down into a little, soldier in the middle of it, soldier fell head foremost from the, softer and softer grew the paper, so quickly that the tin soldier, so high that the tin soldier, snuff box which was on the, set them up on the table, servant girl and the little boy, same room in which he had, round so quickly that the tin, put the tin soldier in the, people in the house went to, out of the same old tin, out of a newspaper and put, other tin soldiers were put back, other tin soldiers were put away, only two who did not move, one leg because he had been, one leg as the others did, on the table on which they, off the box in which they, of all was a little lady, of a newspaper and put the, now the toys began to play, not take his eyes off her, nobody should say of him that, no one should say of him, must try to make her acquaintance, moment he was swallowed up by, melted down into a little lump, man who had traveled about in, maid took the ashes out the, maid servant and the little boy, maid and the little boy came, made out of the same old, little boys took up the tin, little boys took the tin soldier, little boy came down at once, lid flew off the snuff box, length behind a snuff box which, leg so high that the tin, leg because he had been cast, just as firm on his one, just as dangerous for him as, it was just this soldier who, it was a little boy who, it is no place for her, into the stove to the tin, in the stomach of a fish, in the open doorway of the, in the house went to bed, if the tin soldier had but, if he had been in his, i must try to make her, how dark it was inside the, his bayonet between the paving stones, himself as stiff as he could, he was swallowed up by a, he stood as firmly upon his, he stood as firmly on his, he has not shown his passport, he had been in his box, he did not think it proper, he did not take his eyes, he could have a good look, have a good look at the, had just been given to him, had been placed stood many other, had been given to him because, given to him because it was, give any reason for so doing, front of the castle stood some, for they wanted to play too, for they wanted to join the, for him as it would be, flew the lid of the snuff, five and twenty of us in, firmly upon his one leg as, firmly on his one leg as, filled with water to the edge, fell head foremost from the third, eyes off her for a moment, each soldier was exactly like the, down at full length behind a, did not think it proper to, did not take his eyes off, did not move from their places, dark it was inside the fish, dark as if he had been, dangerous for him as it would, could not get the lid off, could have a good look at, cook cut him open with a, continued to stand on one leg, canary woke up and began to, came down at once to look, but whether it was the heat, but the tin soldier was silent, but the tin soldier took no, but the tin soldier pretended not, but she wore a dress of, but he also heard a roaring, but at that moment he was, but although they very nearly trod, but all at once the window, burned as black as a coal, boys took up the tin soldier, boys took the tin soldier and, boy came down at once to, box which was on the table, box was at the bottom of, born of the same old tin, boat whirled round three or four, boat out of a newspaper and, behind a snuff box which was, been given to him because it, because he had been cast last, beautiful castle with the pretty little, be just as dangerous for him, at the open door of the, at the end of the tunnel, at the end of the drain, at last he became quite still, as if he did not hear, as firmly upon his one leg, as firm on his one leg, as dangerous for him as it, and twenty of us in that, and threw him into the stove, and the soldier fell head foremost, and the people in the house, and the little boy came down, and that was burned as black, and stretched out both her arms, and so they made a boat, and she flew like a sylph, and it was just this soldier, and it became as dark as, and in the middle of this, and in the middle of it, and he had only one leg, and felt a heat that was, and carried him into the room, about in the stomach of a, a snuff box which was on, a newspaper and put the soldier, young rascallions running beside him and, you see she also was unbending, you please keep your eyes to, you keep your eyes to yourself, you just wait till to morrow, you could see through the tiny, you could see right into the, you could see into the rooms, you could look right inside it, yet he stood as firmly on, yet he remained at his post, would not the tin soldier made as if, the tin soldier lost sight of, the tin soldier in the stove, the tin soldier had only called, the tin soldier found himself once, the tin soldier fell through the, the tin soldier feigned not to, the tin soldier did not speak, the tin soldier did not answer, the tin soldier couldn't see, the tin soldier couldn't find, the tin soldier could see the, the tin soldier could see absolutely, the tin soldier could not find, the tin soldier could already catch, the tin soldier by the middle, the tin soldier became quite giddy, the tin soldier as sailing down, the tin soldier appeared as if, the tin soldier and the dancer, the tin soldier and flung him, the time for the toys to, the third story to the ground, the third storey into the street, the table with the soldiers were, the table where they were being, the table where they had been, the table where the tin soldiers, the table on which they had, the streets happened to pass by, the street at once to look, the stream rushed straight into the, the stream it went so quick, the stream gushed on more madly, the stream grew stronger and stronger, the stream became stronger and stronger, the stove beside the tin soldier, the steadfast little tin soldier lay, the spice box was at the, the soldier was once more in, the soldiers were many other playthings, the soldiers were exactly alike with, the soldiers resembled each other to, the soldiers looked exactly alike except, the soldiers had been given to, the soldier would only have cried, the soldier was so much moved, the soldier was set on the, the soldier was reduced to a, the soldier was melted to a, the soldier up by the waist, the soldier up bodily between her, the soldier so deeply that he, the soldier round the body with, the soldier pitched out headlong from, the soldier kept quiet and held, the soldier into the middle of, the soldier could see daylight ahead, the soldier between her finger and, the soldier and threw him without, the soldier and carried him into, the snuffbox must have put him, the snuff box was to blame, the snuff box must have had, the smartest red and blue uniform, the slate pencil squeaked out jokes, the slate pencil played at commerce, the slate pencil did all sorts, the side and clapping their hands, the shape of a small tin, the servant maid took the ashes, the servant maid and the little, the servant girl was cutting him, the servant girl took out the, the same toys were on the, the same toys stood upon the, the same toys on the table, the same time he heard a, the same time a roaring noise, the same room in which he, the same playthings stood on the, the same playthings on the table, the same grand castle with the, the same fine castle with the, the rush of the water in, the rooms through the small windows, the result of the actual fire, the rest in having only one, the remarkable man who had traveled, the real fire or from love, the rat gave chase to it, the rat came right after it, the rain was over two boys, the pretty little dancer whom he, the pretty dancer nothing was left, the pretty castle with the graceful, the prettiest thing of all was, the precipice that he could no, the poor tin soldier summoned up, the poor tin soldier stood as, the poor tin soldier kept as, the poor tin soldier keeping himself, the point where the bridge ended, the point of one of her, the playthings now began to play, the playthings began to play at, the pencil scribbled nonsense on the, the pencil played games on the, the pencil jumped about the table, the paving stones and his one, the paper went gradually to rags, the paper was gradually giving way, the paper was fast dropping to, the paper got soft and limp, the paper gave way entirely and, the paper boat tossed up and, the paper boat rocked to and, the paper boat danced up and, the paper boat broke beneath him, the paper became limper and limper, the others on their two legs, the others did upon their two, the other up in the air, the other tin soldiers went into, the other soldiers were put into, the other soldiers on their two, the other extended in the air, the open gate of the castle, the only two who stayed still, the only ones who did not, the old nursery rhyme was ringing, the offspring of the same old, the nut crackers played at leap, the nut cracker went head over, the nursery maid and the little, the noble castle and the elegant, the night came all the other, the nicest of all was a, the most remarkable of all was, the most charming of them all, the most beautiful thing was a, the most attractive amongst them being, the morning when the children got, the morning came and the children, the midst of this scarf was, the middle with two of her, the middle with a glittering rose, the middle of this was placed, the middle of this ribbon was, the middle of the stream it, the middle of it was a, the middle of it shone a, the maid was taking out the, the maid took the ashes out, the maid took away the ashes, the maid raked out the ashes, the little windows one could see, the little maiden were with me, the little maiden were but sailing, the little maid was stretching out, that lived under the bridge of, that it was impossible to stop, that it made the soldier s, that it had just been raining, that he would have cried tin, that he was ready to shed, that he was fit to weep, that he stood on his head, that he so much as blinked, that he shouldn't look at, that he nearly shed tears of, that he had even so much, that he had been in before, that he could not stop the, that he could not hold on, that he could no longer stand, that he could no longer keep, that happened to be on the, that had happened on the journey, that gutter plank the water poured, that fell into the mouth of, that black bogey in the snuffbox, that aren't intended for the, than under the gutter plank and, than under the bridge over the, than being in the tunnel even, teeth as he called to the, teeth and shouted to the bits, taken off the box wherein they, table with the soldiers were many, table where they were being set, table where they had been placed, table where the tin soldiers were, table on which they were placed, table on which they were being, table on which they had been, t look at things that aren, t look at the little dander, t intended for the likes of, t forget that it had just, t be hankering after forbidden fruit, sylph straight into the stove to, sylph right into the stove beside, sylph just into the stove to, swirled round three or four times, swerving from the tip of one, swans which were swimming about on, swans were swimming on its surface, swans were floating about and reflecting, swans that swam on its surface, swans of wax swam on this, swans made of wax swam on, swam on the lake and watched, swam on its surface were reflected, swallowed up by a large fish, swallowed up by a huge fish, swallowed up by a great fish, swallowed by a most enormous fish, surrounding a tiny mirror which looked, surface were reflected in the mirror, surface reflected the waxen swans which, surely be the gnome s fault, supposed she must have only one, suddenly there came along a great, suddenly there came a great water, suddenly the door of the room, suddenly the boat rushed under a, sudden the window flew open and, sudden the boat drifted into a, such weakness would have been unbecoming, such a situation was as perilous, such a racket that the canary, such a noise that they woke, such a din that the canary, stuck fast between the flag stones, struck through him like a flash, strike terror to the bravest heart, strewed with a number of other, stretched himself behind a snuff, street at once to look for, stream rushed straight into the big, stream it went so quick that, stream gushed on more madly still, straw which were floating about in, strange things do happen in this, straight up on the point of, straight into the stove to the, straight into the fire with the, straight before him with his gun, stood there quite in the blaze, stood straight up on the point, stood steadfastly on his one leg, stood some small trees and a, stood some little trees surrounding a, stood on one leg without losing, stood just as well on his, stood just as firmly on his, stood just as firm on his, stood in the open doorway of, stood in a blaze of red, stood firm with his gun on, stood at the open door of, stood at the castle s open, stood as stiff as ever on, stood as staunch as he could, stones and his one leg stuck, stones and his leg pointing up, still were the tin soldier and, still stood on one leg without, still standing on one leg with, still remained standing on one leg, still managed to keep himself erect, still i must try and scrape, still he stood firm with his, still he moved not a muscle, still as stiff as when he, still and there was a streak, stiff as when he stood at, stiff as ever on tip toe, sticking between two paving stones and, steady on one leg as any, steadfast little tin soldier lay full, stayed still were the tin soldier, stationed himself behind a snuff box, standing up to his neck in, standing right outside the open gate, standing on the tip of her, standing on the point of her, standing on one leg without ever, standing on one leg with the, standing in the open doorway of, standing at the open door of, squeaked out jokes on the slate, spun round three or four times, sprang the lid of the snuff, spoke up and clapped his hands, spice box was at the bottom, spangle that was as big as, spangle as big as her whole, spangle as big as her face, sounded in the soldier s ears, sounded a roaring enough to frighten, sorts of tricks on the slate, sort of jack in the box, soon he was sailing along the, soon as the rain let up, sometimes whirled round so fast that, sometimes turned round so quickly that, sometimes it whirled about so rapidly, something struck through him like a, something ^{0,001} no doubt the little goblin in,^{0,001} night came all the other tin,^{0,001} nicest of all was a pretty,^{0,001} next morning the maid was taking,^{0,001} newspaper and put the soldier into,^{0,001} newspaper and put the soldier in,^{0,001} never turned his eyes away from,^{0,001} never took his eyes off her,^{0,001} never moving his eyes from her,^{0,001} never for one moment turning his,^{0,001} neck and still the boat went,^{0,001} nearly stepped on the tin soldier,^{0,001} nearly going to shed tin tears,^{0,001} near to it that he could,^{0,001} near this point that he could,^{0,001} near the precipice that he could,^{0,001} near the end now that it,^{0,001} near it that he could not,^{0,001} near it he could not possibly,^{0,001} near him that they almost trod,^{0,001} narrow blue ribbon round her shoulders,^{0,001} must try to make friends with,^{0,001} must try and scrape acquaintance with,^{0,001} must try and get acquainted with,^{0,001} ^{0,001} must surely be the gnome's,^{0,001} must have put him up to,^{0,001} must have had a hand in,^{0,001} must have been the goblin in,^{0,001} must have been the fault of,^{0,001} must be that black bogey's,^{0,001} muslin and a narrow blue ribbon,^{0,001} muskets and looked straight ahead of,^{0,001} musket held trim on his shoulder,^{0,001} much noise that the canary woke,^{0,001} much moved that he was ready,^{0,001} much moved that he nearly shed,^{0,001} moving his eyes from her face,^{0,001} moved that he was ready to,^{0,001} moved that he nearly shed tears,^{0,001} move were the tin soldier and,^{0,001} move from their places were the,^{0,001} most took the eye was a,^{0,001} most remarkable of all was a,^{0,001} most charming of them all was,^{0,001} most beautiful thing was a little,^{0,001} most attractive amongst them being a,^{0,001} morning when the children got up,^{0,001} morning the maid was taking out,^{0,001} morning came and the children were,^{0,001} more in the identical room in,^{0,001} moment turning his eyes away from,^{0,001} moment the boat went to pieces,^{0,001} moment one of the little boys,^{0,001} miss was a marvelous castle of,^{0,001} mirror which looked like a lake,^{0,001} mirror supposed to represent a lake,^{0,001} mirror intended to represent a lake,^{0,001} miniature trees around a little mirror,^{0,001} mind if it were twice as,^{0,001} mighty waterfall would be for us,^{0,001} might well frighten a bolder man,^{0,001} might then be as dark as,^{0,001} might see through the tiny windows,^{0,001} might have been from his perilous,^{0,001} midst of this scarf was set,^{0,001} middle with two of her fingers,^{0,001} middle with a glittering rose made,^{0,001} middle of this was placed a,^{0,001} middle of this ribbon was a,^{0,001} middle of the stream it went,^{0,001} middle of it was a bright,^{0,001} middle of it shone a spangle,^{0,001} melted the last of the batch, meant to represent a transparent lake, meant that he shouldn't look, me in the boat it might, many other playthings on the table, man who had travelled in the, making a noise in their box, make a fit wife for me, maiden were with me in the, maiden were but sailing with me, maiden standing at the open door, maid was taking out the ashes, maid was stretching out both arms, maid took away the ashes next, made to look like a clear, made the soldier's head spin, made such a noise that they, made out of one old tin, made of wax swam on the, made last when the tin had, made him sail up and down, made as if he did not, made a little boat out of, made a boat out of newspaper, made a boat out of an, lost no time in setting them, looking glass which was to represent, looked straight in front of them, looked straight in front of him, looked straight before him with his, looked at her and she looked, looked a little different as he, look at things that aren't, look at the elegant little lady, long tunnel that was as dark, long plank where the gutter was, long bridge that lay across the, lived under the bridge of the, little windows through which you could, little windows one could see straight, little windows one could look into, little warrior was by no means, little trees surrounding a tiny mirror, little trees surrounding a small mirror, little tin soldier lay full length, little sky blue ribbon was flung, little narrow blue ribbon over her, little mirror supposed to represent a, little mirror intended to represent a, little maiden were with me in, little maiden were but sailing with, little maiden standing at the open, little maid was stretching out both, little lady who was standing right, little lady who stood in the, little lady were sitting beside me, little lady were only here along, little lady was stretching out both, little lady was but here at, little lady only sat here with, little lady held out both her, little goblin in the snuff box, little different as he had been, little dancer whom he'd never, little dancer who kept standing on, little dancer but her gilt rose, little dancer and she fluttered like, little damsel standing in the open, little boys took up the soldier, little boys took the soldier and, little boys snatched up the tin, little boy who shouted this as, little boy who made this exclamation, little boy went downstairs immediately to, little boy spoke up and clapped, little boy ran down to look, little boy ran down into the, little boy ran down at once, little boy immediately came down to, little boy clapping his hands and, little blue ribbon over her shoulders, like a sylph straight into the, like a sylph right into the, like a sylph just into the, like a flash of lightning passed, like a fairy to the tin, lightning seemed to dart through him, light before the boat came from, lifting up one leg so high, lifted so high behind her that, lifted one leg so high that, lifted one foot so high in, lifted off their box on his, lifted her leg so high that, lid was lifted off their box, lid of the box in which, let's give him a sail, length with his gun on his, length behind a snuff box that, legs was raised so high into, legs so high in the air, leg without ever losing her balance, leg with the other high in, leg was lifted so high behind, leg turned over and over in, leg stuck straight in the air, leg stood upright in the air, leg so high in the air, leg pointing up in the air, leg as the others on two, leg as the others did upon, leg as the others did on, leg as any of the other, left of the little dancer but, left of the dancer was her, left nothing but the tinsel rose, lay down on the table behind, lay down full length behind a, lay down at full length behind, lay at full length with his, later on in the evening all, late in the evening the other, last when the tin had run, last the water went over his, last the paper gave way entirely, last it came down in a, last he became quite still and, large sheet that fell into the, landed on his head with his, lake and watched their reflection in, laid himself down at full length, laid himself at full length behind, lady who was standing right outside, lady who stood in the open, lady were sitting beside me in, lady were only here along with, lady was stretching out both her, lady was but here at my, lady only sat here with me, lady held out both her arms, kitchen where the cook cut him, kind of jack in the box, kept the other high in the, kept standing on one leg without, kept quiet and held his musket, kept his eyes well to the, kept as stiff as ever he, keeping himself as stiff as he, just you wait till to-morrow, just where the bridge left off, just this soldier who became worth, just this soldier who became famous, just then a large water rat, just then a great water rat, just into the stove to the, just been raining by the bucketful, just been given to him as, just at that moment he was, just as well on his one, just as things were going so, just as steadfast on his one, just as persevering on his one, just as firmly on his one, just as dark as if he, just as dangerous a passage as, its surface were reflected in the, its little windows one could look, it would not be becoming for,

it would be no place for, it whirled about so rapidly that, it went so quick that the, it was worse than being in, it was to him just as, it was the wind or the, it was the troll or the, it was the result of trouble, it was the heat of the, it was the heat from the, it was the goblin or the, it was such a narrow place, it was really very close quarters, it was over two street boys, it was just as dark as, it was his birthday and they, it was filling with water to, it was filled with water to, it was even darker than in, it was darker than under the, it was darker than in the, it was caused by the goblin, it was burned as black as, it was beneath his dignity to, it was as dark as the, it was as dangerous to him, it was a kind of jack, it was a bright spangle as, it turned about so rapidly that, it that he could not stop, it that he could not hold, it sounded in the soldier s, it shone a spangle that was, it s no place for her, it quite affected the tin soldier, it proper to shout when he, it proper to call out loudly, it proceeded from the real fire, it open with a large knife, it open with a great knife, it must have been the goblin, it must have been the fault, it might then be as dark, it might have been from his, it might have been from grief, it made the soldier s head, it is whose fortunes seem to, it is that the window flew, it is all the fault of, it is all the doing of, it is all that conjuror s, it in his heart to weep, it he could not possibly stop, it had little windows through which, it had just been raining by, it had been raining in torrents, it had been a heavy rain, it for no reason at all, it fitting for him to cry, it could be twice as dark, it contemptible to raise an uproar, it consistent with his uniform to, it certainly had rained cats and, it came from the flames or, it came down in a full, it became as dark as it, it became as dark as if, it as dark here as at, it and clapped his hands as, is whose fortunes seem to us, is the very one who is, is the one that became famous, is that the window flew open, is of rather too high rank, is all the fault of that, is all the doing of that, is all that conjuror s doing, into the street at once to, into the stove beside the tin, into the rooms through the small, into the mouth of a sewer, into the fire with the soldier, into the air that the tin, into a large sheet that fell, intended for the likes of you, instantly swallowed up by a huge, in which they lay was taken, in their box because they wanted, in the world that they heard, in the very same room that, in the very same room in, in the very room where he, in the very room in which, in the spice box was at, in the snuffbox must have put, in the snuff box was to, in the snuff box must have, in the shape of a small, in the shape of a heart, in the same room in which, in the same room as before, in the same moment he was, in the morning when the children, in the midst of this scarf, in the midst of the battle, in the middle with a glittering, in the middle of this was, in the middle of this ribbon, in the middle of the stream, in the middle of it was, in the middle of it shone, in the inside of a fish, in the identical room in which, in the evening the other soldiers, in the evening all the other, in the drain carried the boat, in the dance one of her, in the box who put this, in the box was at the, in the boat it might be, in setting them up on the, in my making acquaintance with her, in his heart to weep tin, in his ears there sounded a, in his ears rang the burden, in his ears rang an old, in front of the castle were, in front of the castle some, in fact he is the very, in delight at seeing the soldiers, in a blaze of red light, imp in the spice box was, immediately set them up on the, immediately came down to look for, if the tin soldier had only, if the soldier would only have, if the soldier had cried out, if the little maiden were but, if the little lady were only, if the little lady was but, if the little lady only sat, if only the little maiden were, if only the little lady were, if only i had the little, if it were twice as dark, if he did not hear it, if he did not hear him, if a flash of lightning had, idling about the streets happened to, identical tin soldier it is whose, identical room in which he had, i would not mind if it, i would not care for its, i wonder where i am off, i wonder where i am going, i must try to make friends, i must try and scrape acquaintance, i must try and get acquainted, i have only a box with, i have nothing but a box, i had the little lady with, how the waves rose in that, how the rat gnashed his teeth, how he should never see her, how he gnashed his teeth and, how he did gnash his teeth, how furiously he showed his teeth, how fast the water ran down, how dark it was inside that, how dark it was in there, how could anything so extraordinary happen, housemaid and the little boy ran, his weapon with a still firmer, his uniform to cry out for, his travels or whether it was, his teeth as he called to, his teeth and shouted to the, his remains in the shape of, his one leg turned over and, his one leg stuck straight in, his neck and still the boat, his musket held trim on his, his love he didn t know, his leg stood upright in the, his leg pointing up in the, his heart to weep tin tears, his head with his leg in, his hands in delight at seeing, his hands at the same time, his hands as the lid was, his gun being wedged between two, his eyes well to the front, his ears there sounded a roaring, his ears rang the burden of, his dignity to shout aloud because, his cap and bayonet stuck fast, his birthday and they had just, his bayonet sticking between two paving, his bayonet fixed between two paving, his bayonet buried between the paving, himself out behind a snuff box, himself once more in the identical, himself in the very same room, himself down at full length behind, himself behind a snuff box that, himself at full length behind a, himself as stiffly as he could, himself as stiff and immovable as, him without ceremony into the stove, him up with a large knife, him they could not see him, him that would have been as, him that they almost trod on, him that he moved a muscle, him that he had even so, him sail up and down the, him open with her big knife, him open with a large knife, him open with a big knife, him like a flash of lightning, him just as dangerous a passage, him because it was his birthday, him because it was his birth, him at the end of the, him as a waterfall would be, him afterwards that he had flinched, high that the tin soldier lost, high that the tin soldier could, high into the air that the, high behind her that the tin, hero who had been found inside, here with me in the boat, here is the little tin soldier, here for all that i would, here at my side in the, here as at home in his, here along with me in the, her that the tin soldier couldn, her legs was raised so high, her legs so high in the, her leg so high that the, her and she looked at him, held the other up in the, held the other high in the, held the other extended in the, held out her arms to him, held his weapon with a still, held himself as stiffly as he, held himself as stiff as he, held himself as stiff and immovable, heels from the third storey into, heat was the result of the, heat from the fire or from, heat came from the real fire, heard at the same time a, heard a roar that would frighten, head with his leg in the, head over heels from the third, head foremost from the third story, head foremost from the third storey, he would have cried tin tears, he went down the gutter with, he was very near weeping tin, he was thinking of the pretty, he was swallowed by a most, he was swallowed by a great, he was swallowed by a big, he was suffering from actual fire, he was so near the end, he was sailing along the gutter, he was ready to shed tears, he was now so near this, he was now so near the, he was now so close that, he was never to see again, he was nearly going to shed, he was just as persevering on, he was just as firm on, he was in his soldier clothes, he was fit to weep tin, he was equally firm on his, he was already so near it, he thought of the elegant little, he thought of the beautiful little, he thought it would not be, he thought it was beneath his, he thought it contemptible to raise, he take his eyes off her, he supposed she must have only, he stretched himself out behind a, he stood steadfastly on his one, he stood just as well on, he stood just as firmly on, he stood just as firm on, he stood firm with his gun, he stood as steady as ever, he still stood shouldering his arms, he still managed to keep himself, he stationed himself behind a snuff, he so much as blinked an, he shouted out to all the, he shouldn't look at the, he should never see her again, he shall sail up and down, he shall have a sail in, he shall have a sail for, he shall go for a sail, he saw the very same children, he sailed away down the gutter, he remained quietly behind the snuff, he put them on the table, he put his leg straight up, he now set them up on, he now set them out on, he never turned his eyes away, he never took his eyes off, he nearly shed tears of tin, he made the most dreadful contortions, he lost no time in setting, he looked upon the little damsel, he looked at the little maiden, he looked at her and she, he looked a little different as, he'll be the remarkable one, he lay down on the table, he lay down full length behind, he lay down at full length, he landed on his head with, he laid himself down at full, he laid himself at full length, he is the very one who, he is the one that became, he immediately set them up on, he heard at the same time, he hasn't shown his passport, he hasn't shown his pass, he hasn't paid his toll, he had only one leg because, he had one leg because he, he had lost all his gay, he had even so much as, he had entirely lost his colour, he had a full view of, he gnashed his teeth and shouted, he give any reason for so, he gave no reason for doing, he found it as dark here, he found himself in the very, he felt a heat that was, he fell out of the window, he fell at breathtaking speed and, he differed from the rest in, he didn't pay his toll, he did not think it fitting, he did not think it consistent, he did not give any reason, he did it for no reason, he'd lost his splendid colors, he cried to the chips of, he could watch the dainty little, he could peep at the delicate,

^{0,001} he could not stop the boat, ^{0,001} he could not hold on any, ^{0,001} he could no longer stand upright, ^{0,001} he could no longer keep himself, ^{0,001} he could have found it in, ^{0,001} he could easily watch the little, ^{0,001} he could admire the dainty little, ^{0,001} he clapped his hands in delight, ^{0,001} he called to the sticks and, ^{0,001} he believed that she had only, ^{0,001} he began setting them out on, ^{0,001} he began putting them on the, ^{0,001} he became quite still and there, ^{0,001} he also heard a roaring sound, ^{0,001} he also heard a roaring noise, ^{0,001} he also heard a roar that, ^{0,001} having been melted the last of, ^{0,001} have the goodness to keep your, ^{0,001} have put him up to it, ^{0,001} have only a box with four, ^{0,001} have nothing but a box to, ^{0,001} have had a hand in it, ^{0,001} have found it in his heart, ^{0,001} have been unbecoming in a soldier, ^{0,001} have been the goblin in the, ^{0,001} have been the fault of the, ^{0,001} have been from his perilous journey, ^{0,001} have been fitting for a soldier, ^{0,001} have been as full of peril, ^{0,001} have a sail in a boat, ^{0,001} have a sail for once in, ^{0,001} has n_t shown his passport, ^{0,001} has n_t shown his pass, ^{0,001} has n_t paid the toll, ^{0,001} harm in my making acquaintance with, ^{0,001} happened to him on his journey, ^{0,001} happened to be on the table, ^{0,001} happened on his travels or whether, ^{0,001} hands in delight at seeing the, ^{0,001} hands as the lid was lifted, ^{0,001} had travelled in the maw of, ^{0,001} had travelled about inside a fish, ^{0,001} had travelled about in the stomach, ^{0,001} had traveled about in the stomach, ^{0,001} had traveled about in the inside, ^{0,001} had traveled about in a fish, ^{0,001} had the soldier only called out, ^{0,001} had the little lady with me, ^{0,001} had she been waiting for him, ^{0,001} had quite run off from him, ^{0,001} had only one leg like himself, ^{0,001} had only one leg because he, ^{0,001} had one leg because he had, ^{0,001} had on a frock of the, ^{0,001} had on a dress of the, ^{0,001} had now reached up to the, ^{0,001} had now been carried up into, ^{0,001} had not been enough tin to, ^{0,001} had lost all his gay colour, ^{0,001} had little windows through which you, ^{0,001} had just been raining by the, ^{0,001} had happened to him on his, ^{0,001} had happened on his travels or, ^{0,001} had even so much as winked, ^{0,001} had cut it open with a, ^{0,001} had been made last when the, ^{0,001} had been given him on his, ^{0,001} had been found inside a fish, ^{0,001} had been caught and brought to, ^{0,001} had all been made out of, ^{0,001} had all been born of one, ^{0,001} had a skirt of the clearest, ^{0,001} had a full view of the, ^{0,001} had a dress of the clearest, ^{0,001} gutter with the two young rapsallions, ^{0,001} gutter plank the water poured into, ^{0,001} gutter plank and it was so, ^{0,001} gutter fell perpendicularly into a great, ^{0,001} gutter discharged itself into a great, ^{0,001} guns and looked straight in front, ^{0,001} gun being wedged between two paving, ^{0,001} great waves there were in the, ^{0,001} great water rat who lived under, ^{0,001} great water rat that lived in, ^{0,001} great fish snapped him up and, ^{0,001} great deal than under the bridge, ^{0,001} grand castle with the pretty little, ^{0,001} got up they put the tin, ^{0,001} goodness to keep your eyes to, ^{0,001} good look at the little lady, ^{0,001} good look at the elegant little, ^{0,001} goblin or the draught which was, ^{0,001} goblin or by a puff of, ^{0,001} goblin in the snuff box was, ^{0,001} goblin in the box who put, ^{0,001} gnome in the box was at, ^{0,001} gnashing his teeth as he called, ^{0,001} gnashed his teeth and shouted to, ^{0,001} glittering rose made of gold paper, ^{0,001} glimpse of the bright day light, ^{0,001} glass which was to represent a, ^{0,001} giving any reason for doing so, ^{0,001} given to him as a present, ^{0,001} girl was cutting him up with, ^{0,001} girl took out the ashes next, ^{0,001} girl and the little boy went, ^{0,001} girl and the little boy ran, ^{0,001} gave way entirely and the soldier, ^{0,001} gave no reason for doing this, ^{0,001} gallant tin soldier did not flinch, ^{0,001} full view of the delicate little, ^{0,001} full of water to the very, ^{0,001} full of peril as for us, ^{0,001} full length with his gun on, ^{0,001} front of the castle were miniature, ^{0,001} front of the castle stood little, ^{0,001} front of the castle some small, ^{0,001} from this place he had a, ^{0,001} from thence he could watch the, ^{0,001} from thence he could peep at, ^{0,001} from the tip of one toe, ^{0,001} from the third story to the, ^{0,001} from the third storey into the, ^{0,001} from the rest in having only, ^{0,001} from the real fire or from, ^{0,001} from the flames or from his, ^{0,001} from the fire or from his, ^{0,001} from the ardour of his passion, ^{0,001} from that point he could have, ^{0,001} from love he did not know, ^{0,001} from his love he didn't, ^{0,001} four and twenty roommates to share, ^{0,001} found it in his heart to, ^{0,001} found it as dark here as, ^{0,001} found his remains in the shape, ^{0,001} found himself once more in the, ^{0,001} found himself in the very same, ^{0,001} fortunes seem to us worthy of, ^{0,001} forget that it had just been, ^{0,001} for us to shoot a great, ^{0,001} for us to sail down a, ^{0,001} for us to be carried down, ^{0,001} for they were the offspring of, ^{0,001} for they were all made out, ^{0,001} for they wanted to be out, ^{0,001} for they had all been made, ^{0,001} for they had all been born, ^{0,001} for the tin soldier as sailing, ^{0,001} for one moment turning his eyes, ^{0,001} for its being twice as dark, ^{0,001} for him that would have been, ^{0,001} for he had been made last, ^{0,001} for death thou canst not shun, ^{0,001} for all that i would care, ^{0,001} foot so high in the air, ^{0,001} fluttered like a sylph right into, ^{0,001} flung him right into the stove, ^{0,001} flung across her shoulders like a, ^{0,001} floundered in a most unaccountable way, ^{0,001} flopped and floundered in a most, ^{0,001} floating about and reflecting themselves in, ^{0,001} flew the lid of the spice, ^{0,001} flew open and the soldier pitched, ^{0,001} flew open and out fell the, ^{0,001} flew open all of a sudden, ^{0,001} flew like a sylph straight into, ^{0,001} flew like a sylph just into, ^{0,001} flew like a fairy to the, ^{0,001} flash of lightning seemed to dart, but in his ears there sounded, but i must try and get, but i must make her acquaintance, but his remarks were in verse, but here at my side in, but he thought it would not, but he thought it was beneath, but he thought it contemptible to,

 but he stuck to it manfully, but he stood just as firm, but he stood as steady as, but he stood as firmly upon, but he still managed to keep,
 but he heard at the same, but he always talked in verse, but he also heard a roar, but doubtless the imp in the, but could not lift the lid, but clung still tighter to his, but at the same time he, but at the same moment he, but although they almost trod on, burnt as black as a coal, burnt as black as a cinder, buried between the paving stones and, brought to a kitchen where the, brilliant spangle as big as her, bright spangle as big as her, bright daylight where the arch of, bright daylight at the end of, bright day light before the boat, bridge that lay across the gutter, breathtaking speed and landed cap first, brave tin soldier melted down into, boys took the soldier and threw, boys that were idling about the, boys snatched up the tin soldier, boys running along by the side, boys ran beside him and clapped, boys ran alongside clapping their hands, boy who shouted this as he, boy went downstairs immediately to look, boy spoke up and clapped his, boy shouted it and clapped his, boy ran down to look for, boy ran down into the street, boy ran down at once to, boy immediately came down to look, boy clapping his hands and crying, box with four and twenty others, box who put this into his, box was to blame for that, box that stood on the table, box that lay on the table, box that happened to be on, box must have had a hand, box in which they were lying, box in which they lay was, box because they wanted to join, bottom when a great fish snapped, both the boys running along by, both the boys ran along beside, both flamed up into a blaze, both boys ran alongside clapping their, born of one old tin spoon, boldest heart might well have trembled, bogey in the snuffbox must have, boat went into a long drain, boat swirled round three or four, boat shot under a long bridge, boat sailed under a long gutter, boat rushed under a long plank, boat passed under a long tunnel, boat out of an old newspaper, boat now spun round three or, boat it might be twice as, boat drifted under a long wooden, boat came from under the tunnel, blue ribbon went over her shoulder, blue riband was flung across her, black bogey in the snuffbox must, bits of wood and straw which, birthday and they had just been, big waterfall would be to us, between two paving stones and his, between the paving stones and his, beside him and clapping their hands, beside him and clapped their hands, beneath his dignity to shout aloud, believed that she had only one, being wedged between two paving stones, being a pretty little paper castle, behind her that the tin soldier, behind a snuff box that stood, behind a snuff box that lay, behind a snuff box that happened, began to play in their turn, began to play at various games, began to play among themselves at, began setting them out on the, began putting them on the table, before the boat came from under, before him with his gun shouldered, before him at the end of, been the goblin in the box, been the fault of the jack, been placed stood many other toys, been placed stood many other playthings, been melted the last of the, been made out of one old, been made last when the tin, been given to him as a, been given him on his birthday, been enough tin to finish him, been caught and brought to market, been carried up into the kitchen, been born of one old tin, been as full of peril as, becoming for him to cry out, because they were born of the, because they wanted to join in, because it was his birth day, because he was in his soldier, because he had on his uniform, became quite still and there was, became filled to the brim with, became as dark as it was, became as dark as if he, beautiful thing was a little lady, beautiful dancer remained only the spangle, be twice as dark here for,
 be the very wife for me, be that black bogey s revenge, be no place for a lady, be no harm in my making, be just the wife for me, be for us to sail down, be carried down a great waterfall, be becoming for him to cry, be as dark as it pleased, bayonet stuck fast between the flag, bayonet sticking between two paving stones, bayonet fixed between two paving stones, bayonet buried between the paving stones, back in the same room as, away the ashes next morning she, away he went down the gutter, away he sailed down the gutter, attractive amongst them being a pretty, at which the boldest heart might, at this moment the boat went, at this moment one of the, at this moment a big water, at things that aren t intended, at the same time he heard, at the same time a roaring, at the same moment he was, at the point where the bridge, at the end of that gutter, at the castle s open door, at the bottom of this too, at the bottom of it all, at once the window burst open, at once the boat went into,

at once the boat sailed under, at once the boat passed under, at once the boat drifted under, at once one of the little, at my side in the boat, at last the water went over, at last the paper gave way, at last it came down in, at last it became quite quiet, at last he became quite quiet, at home in his own box, at her and she looked at, at full length with his gun, at breathtaking speed and landed cap, ashes she found him in the, ashes next morning she found him, as when he stood at attention, as well on his one leg, as well as the beautiful castle, as things were going so nicely, as they were made out of, as the soldier's own box, as the others did upon their, as the others did on two, as the lid was lifted off, as the beautiful castle with the, as stiff as when he stood, as stiff as ever on tip, as stiff as ever he could, as stiff and immovable as possible, as steady on one leg as, as steadfast on his one leg, as soon as the rain let, as sailing down a mighty waterfall, as persevering on his one leg, as perilous to him as it, as if a flash of lightning, as he had been cast last, as he cried to the chips, as he clapped his hands in, as he called to the sticks, as full of peril as for,
as for us to be carried, as dark here for all that, as dark here as at home, as dark as the soldier's, as dark as in his box, as dark as his box had, as dangerous to him as a, as dangerous for the tin soldier, as dangerous a passage as a, as at home in his own, as any of the other soldiers, as a waterfall would be to, as a big waterfall would be, around a little mirror supposed to, aren't intended for the likes, are twenty five of us in, are all our five and twenty, appeared as if he did not, anything so extraordinary happen in this, any of the other soldiers on, and wore the smartest red and, and wore a smart red and,
and whether the bogey did it, and whether it was the wind, and whether it was the troll, and whether it was the gnome, and when the servant maid took, and when the servant girl took, and when the maid took the, and when the maid took away, and when next morning the maid, and what a strong tide there, and were reflected on its surface, and we are five and twenty, and waxen swans swam in the, and watched their reflection in it, and was now in the kitchen, and was lifting up one leg, and was instantly consumed by the, and was full of water to, and was filled with water to, and twenty tin soldiers that were,
and twenty roommates to share it, and twenty of us to share, and took him into the parlour, and threw him without ceremony into,
and threw him right into the, and this refrain rang in his, and this identical tin soldier it, and they shouldered their guns and,
and they had just been given, and they all had the same, and these words rang in his, and therefore concluded that she had,
and there was the same grand, and there was the same fine, and there was the pretty castle, and there was such a din, and there was soon a regular, and there was so little room, and there was not tin enough, and there was not quite enough, and there was a streak of, and there was a regular down, and there sounded in his ears, and there had not been enough, and there are twenty five of, and there are five and twenty, and then whirled round and round, and then veered round so quickly, and then there are five and, and then she lifted one foot, and then she lifted her leg, and then it was very narrow, and then it was so narrow, and then it turned about so, and then he lay down at, and then he laid himself down, and their uniforms were red and, and the wind caught up the, and the waters now closed over, and the toys were still standing, and the toys were all standing, and the tin soldier was sinking, and the tin soldier was just, and the tin soldier fell through, and the tin soldier could already, and the soldier sank right through, and the soldier pitched out headlong, and the slate pencil squeaked out, and the slate pencil played at, and the slate pencil did all, and the same toys stood upon, and the same toys on the,
and the same playthings on the, and the rat gave chase to, and the rat came right after, and the poor tin soldier kept, and the pencil scribbled nonsense on, and the pencil played games on, and the pencil jumped about the, and the paper was gradually giving, and the paper was fast dropping, and the paper got soft and, and the little boy went downstairs, and the little boy immediately came, and the drops fell faster and, and the draught of air caught, and the children were out of, and the children had got up, and the chalk ran about the, and the boat sank deeper and, and that was the end of, and that was burnt black as,
and that was burnt as black, and that was as black as, and such a situation was as, and straw which were floating about, and still the boat went down, and still holding up the other, and soon he was sailing along, and sometimes whirled round so fast, and sometimes turned round so quickly, and sometimes it whirled about so, and some one called out loudly, and softer and softer grew the,

and so he stationed himself behind, and shouted to the bits of, and she lifted one leg so, and she fluttered like a sylph, and set him floating down the, and raised one of her legs, and put the tin soldier in, and put the soldier into the, and put the soldier in it, and placed the soldier inside it, and out fell the tin soldier, and out fell the little tin, and only held faster his gun, and one that no eye could, and one leg was lifted so, and off she flew like a, and now the water closed over, and now the paper fell in, and now the paper broke in, and now the paper boat broke, and now one of the little, and now he put them on, and now he began setting them, and now and then whirled round, and now and then it turned, and no one could say that, and no one can say that, and never a word was said, and made the most frantic movements, and made him sail up and, and looked straight in front of, and looked straight ahead of them, and looked at themselves in it, and lay at full length with, and kept the other high in, and just at that moment he, and it was really very close, and it was burned as black, and it sounded in the soldier, and in the most horrible heat, and in the midst of this, and in the middle of the, and in the dance one of, and in his ears rang the, and in his ears rang an, and in front of the castle, and i have only a box, and how he should never see, and how fast the water ran, and how fast the stream ran, and his one leg stuck straight, and his leg pointing up in, and his bayonet between the paving, and held the other up in, and held the other extended in, and held his weapon with a, and held his musket still tighter, and held his bayonet tightly clasped, and he was just as persevering, and he was just as firm, and he supposed she must have, and he sailed down the gutter, and he sailed away down the, and he now set them up, and he now set them out, and he never turned his eyes, and he laid himself at full, and he is the one that, and he heard a voice say, and he felt himself melting away, and he differed from the rest, and he did not take his, and he believed that she had, and had now been carried up, and grasped his musket still tighter, and grasped his gun more firmly, and from thence he could peep, and for him that would have, and flung him right into the, and flung him into the stove, and floundered in a most unaccountable, and flashed up in a flame, and filled with water to the, and felt a tremendous degree of, and faster till they poured down, and every now and then veered, and down the tin soldier was, and did not move a muscle, and did not even change countenance, and deeper and deeper sank the, and cried out to sticks and, and clapped his hands as the, and carried his gun shoulder high, and carried him into the sitting, and carried him into the parlour, and carried him into the parlor, and came down so that he, and called out to the bits, and call out to the wood, and brought to a kitchen where, and brought home into the kitchen, and began to talk to them, and became filled to the brim, and bayonet stuck fast between the, and away he went down the, and away he sailed down the, and at last the water went, and at last it came down, and again the boat spun around, and after a while something struck, and a narrow blue ribbon over, and a little narrow blue ribbon, an uproar while he was wearing, an imp is a magical creature, amongst them being a pretty little, amongst them the beautiful castle with, although they very nearly trod upon, although they very nearly trod on, although they almost trod on him, also heard a roar that would, already so near it that he, already see the bright daylight at, already see daylight where the tunnel, already see daylight before him at, already see daylight at the point, already catch a glimpse of the, aloud because he was in uniform, along with me in the boat, along by the side and clapping, along a great water rat that, almost trod upon him they could, all was the little lady who, all was a splendid castle made, all was a pretty pasteboard castle, all was a pretty little castle, all was a little maiden standing, all was a little lady who, all was a little damsel standing, all waited to see the famous, all this was very pretty but, all the tin soldiers were put, all the soldiers were exactly alike, all the soldiers looked exactly alike, all the other tin soldiers went, all the fault of that goblin, all the doing of that goblin, all the bits of wood and, all that was left of the, all sorts of tricks on the, all our five and twenty men, all of a sudden the window, all of a sudden the boat, all made out of the same, all had the same splendid uniform, all been made out of one, all been born of one old, all at once the window burst, all at once the boat went, all at once the boat sailed, all at once the boat passed, all at once the boat drifted, all at once one of the, air that the tin soldier couldn, after a while something struck through, admire the dainty little dancer who, across her shoulders like a scarf, accuse him of having even blinked, about the streets happened to pass, and that was burned as black as, and so they made a boat out, and it was just this soldier who, air that the tin soldier could not, about in the stomach of a fish, a snuff box which was on the, a boat out of a newspaper and, young rascallions running beside him and clapping, you please keep your eyes to yourself, you could see through the tiny windows, you could see right into the rooms, yet he stood as firmly on his, would not mind if it were twice, would not have been fitting for a, would not care for its being twice, would not be becoming for him to, would make a fit wife for me, would have been unbecoming in a soldier, would have been as full of peril, would be the very wife for me, would be no place for a lady, would be just the wife for me, would be for us to shoot a, would be for us to sail down, would be for us to go down, worse than being in the tunnel even, worse even than under the gutter board, worse a great deal than under the, wore the smartest red and blue uniform, wore a smart red and blue uniform, wore a dress of the lightest gauze, wore a dress of the fluffiest gauze, wore a dress of the clearest muslin, words that they heard in this world, word that they heard in this world, wood and straw which were floating about, wonderful things will happen in this world, wonderful man who had travelled in the, wonder where i am off to now, woke up and began to talk to, without giving any reason for doing so, without ever swerving from the tip of, with windows through which you could see, with the two young rascallions running beside, with the soldiers were many other playthings, with the other high in the air, with the noble castle and the elegant, with me in the boat it might, with his uniform to cry out for, with his musket held trim on his, with his bayonet fixed between two paving, with his bayonet buried between the paving, with his bayonet between the paving stones, with four and twenty roommates to share, with a scarf of narrow blue ribbon, with a glittering rose made of gold, with a dainty little blue ribbon over, windows through which you could see into, windows through which you could look right, windows one could see straight into the, windows one could look into the rooms, window flew open and the soldier pitched, window flew open and out fell the, window flew open all of a sudden, wilt thou keep thine eyes to thyself, will you please keep your eyes to, will you keep your eyes to yourself, will be no harm in my making, widened into a large sheet that fell, whose surface reflected the waxen swans which, whose fortunes seem to us worthy of, whose face he should never see again, whom he was never to see again, who was still standing upon one leg, who was standing right outside the open, who was clapping his hands with joy, who stood in the open doorway of, who stood at the open door of, who stood at the castle s open, who still stood on one leg without, who still remained standing on one leg, who stayed still were the tin soldier, who shouted this as he clapped his, who remained standing on one leg without, who kept standing on one leg without, who had travelled in the maw of, who had travelled about inside a fish, who had travelled about in the stomach, who had traveled about in the stomach, who had traveled about in the inside, who had traveled about in a fish, who had been made last when the, who had been found inside a fish, who fluttered like a sylph right into, who did not move were the tin, who continued standing on one leg without, whirled round so fast that the tin, whirled about so rapidly that it made, whilst she held the other high in, whilst i have only a box with, while the two boys ran alongside him, while the boat sank deeper and deeper, while something struck through him like a, while i have nothing but a box, while his leg stood upright in the, which you could see into the rooms, which you could look right inside it, which were floating about in the drain, which was made to look like a, which was enough to frighten even a, which was as large as her head, which they were placed was strewed with, which they had been placed stood many, which the boldest heart might well have, which plainly showed that the gnome in, which might well frighten a bolder man, which caught the eye was a delightful, whether this heat was the result of, whether this heat came from the real, whether this had happened to him on, whether this had happened on his travels, whether this had happened during his travels, whether this change had happened during his, whether the conjuror or the wind occasioned, whether that had happened on the journey, whether it was the wind or the, whether it was the troll or the, whether it was the result of trouble, whether it was the heat of the, whether it was the heat from the, whether it was the goblin or the, whether it was caused by the goblin, whether it proceeded from the real fire, whether it came from the flames or, whether he was suffering from actual fire, where they had been placed stood many, where the tunnel ended the stream rushed, where the tin soldiers were set out, where the servant girl was cutting him, where the cook was opening it with, where the cook had cut it open, where the cook cut it open with, where the arch of the drain ended, where on earth am i going to, where it was just as dark as, where it was as dark as in, where he fell out of the window, where he could admire the dainty little, where everyone wanted to see the wonderful, where everyone wanted to see the hero, where everybody was desirous of seeing such, where everybody wanted to see the remarkable, where every one was eager to see, where all waited to see the famous, when there was not quite tin enough, when there was not enough tin left, when the servant maid took the ashes, when the servant girl took out the, when the rain was over two boys, when the night came all the other, when the morning came and the children, when the maid took the ashes out, when the maid took away the ashes, when the maid raked out the ashes, when the lid of the box in, when the evening came the other tin, when the children got up they put, when next morning the maid was taking, when it was over two street boys, when a servant took up the ashes, when a great fish snapped him up, what wonderful things will happen in this, what strange things do happen in this, what odd events do happen in the, what great waves there were in the, what curious things may happen in the, what curious things can happen in this, what a strong tide there was running, what a rough sea there was in, were with me in the boat it, were the tin soldier and the dancer, were the offspring of the same old, were some little trees surrounding a small, were so near him that they almost, were sitting beside me in the boat, were set out were several other playthings, were placed was strewed with a number, were placed round a looking glass which, were only here along with me in, were once upon a time five and, were miniature trees around a little mirror, were many other playthings on the table, were making a noise in their box, were made out of the same old, were idling about the streets happened to, were floating about and reflecting themselves in, were but sailing with me in the, were born of the same old tin, were all made out of the same, went so quick that the tin soldier, went over her shoulder for a scarf, went downstairs immediately to look after him, went down the gutter with the two, well on his one leg as the, well calculated to appall even the bravest, well as the beautiful castle with the, weakness would have been unbecoming in a, we are five and twenty of us, way entirely and the soldier fell through, waxen swans which were swimming about on, wax swans were swimming on its surface, wax swans were floating about and reflecting, wax swans that swam on its surface, wax swam on the lake and watched, waters widened into a large sheet that, waters now closed over the tin soldier, water went over the soldier s head, water was up to his neck and, water rushed out into a big canal, water rat who lived under the gutter, water rat that lived in the tunnel, water of the gutter fell perpendicularly into, water in the drain carried the boat, water had now reached up to the, water closed over the soldier s head, was worse than being in the tunnel, was very pretty but prettiest of all, was up to his neck and still, was to him just as dangerous a, was thinking of the pretty little dancer, was the wind or the little imp, was the troll or the draught that, was the time for the toys to, was the same grand castle with the, was the same fine castle with the, was the result of the actual fire, was the pretty castle with the graceful, was the little lady who stood in, was the heat of the real fire, was the heat from the fire or, was the goblin or the draught which, was taken off the box wherein they, was swallowed up by a large fish, was swallowed up by a great fish, was swallowed by a most enormous fish, was such a racket that the canary, was such a din that the canary, was strewed with a number of other, was still standing on one leg with, was standing up to his neck in, was standing right outside the open gate, was standing on the tip of her, was so near to it that he, was so near the end now that, was so near it he could not, was so much noise that the canary, was so much moved that he was, was so much moved that he nearly, was sinking to the bottom when a, was ready to shed tears of tin, was raised so high into the air, was over two street boys came along, was opening it with a large knife, was once more in the broad daylight, was now so near this point that, was now so near the precipice that, was now so close that he could, was now lighted up by the flames, was nothing left of the little dancer, was not tin enough to fill the, was not the more conceited for that, was not quite enough tin left to, was no snuff in it at all, was nearly going to shed tin tears, was meant to represent a transparent lake, was made to look like a clear, was lifting up one leg so high, was lifted so high behind her that, was lifted off their box on his, was left of the dancer was her, was left nothing but the tinsel rose, was just this soldier who became worth, was just this soldier who became famous, was just as steadfast on his one, was just as persevering on his one, was just as firm on his one, was just as dark as if he, was instantly swallowed up by a huge, was in the very same room in, was in the very room where he, was in the very room in which, was in the same room in which, was his birthday and they had just, was full of water to the very, was flung across her shoulders like a, was filling with water to the very, was filled with water to the edge, was filled with water to the brim, was exactly the image of the other, was exactly like the other in shape, was even darker than in the drain, was equally firm on his one leg, was enough to frighten even a bold, was eager to see the wonderful man, was desirous of seeing such a celebrated, was darker than under the gutter plank, was darker than in the drain tunnel, was cutting him up with a large, was caused by the goblin or by, was but here at my side in, was burnt as black as a coal, was beneath his dignity to shout aloud, was at the bottom of this too, was at the bottom of it all, was as perilous to him as it, was as if a flash of lightning, was as dark as the soldier's, was as dark as in his box, was as dark as his box had, was as dangerous to him as a, was as dangerous for the tin soldier, was already so near it that he, was a streak of light through him, was a splendid castle made of cardboard, was a pretty little castle made of, was a little maiden standing at the, was a little lady who was standing, was a little different to the rest, was a little damsel standing in the, was a little boy who shouted this, was a little boy who made this, was a little boy clapping his hands, was a kind of jack in the, was a bright spangle as big as, wanted to see this remarkable traveler who, wanted to see the remarkable man who, wanted to see the hero who had, waited to see the famous man who, very same room that he had been, very same room in which he had, very room where he fell out of, very room in which he had been, very pretty but prettiest of all was, very one who is to become famous, very first thing in the world that, veered round so quickly that the tin, us to sail down a waterfall in, us to be carried down a great, uproar while he was wearing his uniform, upon him they could not see him, upon a time five and twenty tin, up to his neck and still the, up they put the tin soldier on, up the tin soldier and threw him, up the soldier between her finger and, up the ashes she found him in, up popped the lid of the snuffbox, up one leg so high in the, up on the point of one of, up and began to talk to them, until they came down by the bucketful, under the gutter plank and it was, under a long tunnel that was as, under a long plank where the gutter, under a long bridge that lay across, two young rascallions running beside him and, two who stayed still were the tin, two who did not move were the, two who did not move from their, two paving stones and his leg pointing, two boys that were idling about the, two boys ran beside him and clapped, twice as dark here for all that, twenty tin soldiers that were all brothers, twenty five of us in there already, turned round so quickly that the tin, turned over and over in the air, turned about so rapidly that the tin, tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a, tunnel that was as dark as his, tunnel ended the stream rushed straight into, troll or the draught that did it, trod upon him they could not see, trees were placed round a looking glass, trees surrounding a tiny mirror which looked, trees around a little mirror supposed to, travels or whether it was the result, travelled in the maw of a fish, travelled about in the stomach of a, traveler who had traveled about in a, traveled about in the stomach of a, traveled about in the inside of a, traveled about in a fish's stomach, toys were still standing on the table, toys were all standing on the table, toys made such a noise that they, toys commenced to play and amuse themselves, toys began to play among themselves at, toy that most took the eye was, touched the tin soldier so deeply that, touched the soldier so deeply that he, took up the soldier between her finger, took up the ashes she found him, took the tin soldier and threw him, took the tin soldier and flung him, took the soldier up by the waist, took the soldier round the body with, took the soldier and threw him without, took the soldier and carried him into, took the eye was a neat castle, took his eyes off her for a, took away the ashes next morning she, together with the noble castle and the, to the wood shavings and the straw, to the tin soldier in the stove, to the chips of wood and straw, to the bottom when a great fish, to the bits of straw and wood, to the bits of stick and straw, to strike terror to the bravest heart, to shout when he was in uniform, to shout aloud because he was in, to see this remarkable traveler who had, to see the wonderful man who had,

^{0,001} to see the remarkable man who had, ^{0,001} to see the hero who had been, ^{0,001} to see the famous man who had, ^{0,001} to sail down a waterfall in a, ^{0,001} to raise an uproar while he was, ^{0,001} to it that he could not hold, ^{0,001} to his neck and still the boat, ^{0,001} to him just as dangerous a passage, ^{0,001} to him because it was his birthday, ^{0,001} to him because it was his birth, ^{0,001} to him as it would be for, ^{0,001} to him as a waterfall would be, ^{0,001} to find death in the midst of, ^{0,001} to be carried down a great waterfall, ^{0,001} to all the bits of wood and, ^{0,001} to a kitchen where the cook cut, ^{0,001} tis thy fate to find death in, ^{0,001} tiny mirror which looked like a lake, ^{0,001} tiny blue ribbon went over her shoulder, ^{0,001} tin soldiers were set out were several,
^{0,001} tin soldiers were put in their box, ^{0,001} tin soldiers were put back into the, ^{0,001} tin soldiers were put away into the, ^{0,001} tin soldiers were put away in their,
^{0,001} tin soldiers were making a noise in, ^{0,001} tin soldiers rustled about in their box, ^{0,001} tin soldiers rattled about in their box, ^{0,001} tin soldier was very nearly shaken overboard, ^{0,001} tin soldier was standing up to his, ^{0,001} tin soldier was so much moved that, ^{0,001} tin soldier was sinking to the bottom, ^{0,001} tin soldier was placed on the window, ^{0,001} tin soldier was now lighted up by, ^{0,001} tin soldier was not the more conceited, ^{0,001} tin soldier was just as steadfast on, ^{0,001} tin soldier was in the very same, ^{0,001} tin soldier was in the same room, ^{0,001} tin soldier was as dauntless as ever, ^{0,001} tin soldier took no pride in it, ^{0,001} tin soldier summoned up all his courage, ^{0,001} tin soldier stood there quite in the, ^{0,001} tin soldier stood there dressed in flames, ^{0,001} tin soldier stood as staunch as he, ^{0,001} tin soldier so deeply that he was, ^{0,001} tin soldier's resolution was as constant, ^{0,001} tin soldier pretended not to have heard, ^{0,001} tin soldier now stood in a blaze, ^{0,001} tin soldier melted down to a lump, ^{0,001} tin soldier melted down into a lump, ^{0,001} tin soldier made as if he did, ^{0,001} tin soldier kept as stiff as ever, ^{0,001} tin soldier keeping himself as stiff as, ^{0,001} tin soldier it is whose fortunes seem, ^{0,001} tin soldier held himself as stiffly as, ^{0,001} tin soldier held himself as stiff as, ^{0,001} tin soldier held himself as stiff and, ^{0,001} tin soldier found himself once more in, ^{0,001} tin soldier did not flinch a bit, ^{0,001} tin soldier couldn't see it at, ^{0,001} tin soldier couldn't find it anywhere, ^{0,001} tin soldier could see the bright daylight, ^{0,001} tin soldier could see absolutely nothing of, ^{0,001} tin soldier could not see it at, ^{0,001} tin soldier could already see the bright, ^{0,001} tin soldier could already see daylight where, ^{0,001} tin soldier could already see daylight before, ^{0,001} tin soldier could already see daylight at, ^{0,001} tin soldier could already catch a glimpse, ^{0,001} tin soldier by the middle with two, ^{0,001} tin soldier as sailing down a mighty, ^{0,001} tin soldier appeared as if he did, ^{0,001} tin soldier and threw him right into, ^{0,001} tin soldier and threw him into the, ^{0,001} tin soldier and flung him into the, ^{0,001} time the soldier was reduced to a,
^{0,001} time in setting them up on the, ^{0,001} till it was filled with water to, ^{0,001} thy fate to find death in the, ^{0,001} through which you could see into the, ^{0,001} through which you could look right inside, ^{0,001} through the tiny windows into the rooms, ^{0,001} through the little windows one could see, ^{0,001} through its little windows one could look, ^{0,001} through him like a flash of lightning, ^{0,001} thrice and again the boat spun around, ^{0,001} threw him without ceremony into the stove, ^{0,001} thought of the pretty little dancer whom, ^{0,001} thought it would not be becoming for, ^{0,001} thought it was beneath his dignity to, ^{0,001} thought it contemptible to raise an uproar, ^{0,001} though they were so near him that, ^{0,001} though they nearly stepped on the tin, ^{0,001} though they had nearly trodden upon him, ^{0,001} though they almost trod upon him they, ^{0,001} this was very pretty but prettiest of, ^{0,001} this was exclaimed by a little boy, ^{0,001} this was as dangerous for the tin, ^{0,001} this touched the tin soldier so deeply, ^{0,001} this time the soldier was reduced to, ^{0,001} this soldier who became worth talking about, ^{0,001} this scarf was set a bright gold, ^{0,001} this ribbon was a shining tinsel rose, ^{0,001} this remarkable traveler who had traveled about, ^{0,001} this point that he could not stop, ^{0,001} this place he had a full view, ^{0,001} this must surely be the gnome's, ^{0,001} this must be that black bogey's, ^{0,001} this moment the boat went to pieces, ^{0,001} this moment one of the little boys, ^{0,001} this identical tin soldier it is whose, ^{0,001} this heat was the result of the, ^{0,001} this heat came from the real fire, ^{0,001} this had happened to him on his, ^{0,001} this had happened on his travels or, ^{0,001} this change had happened during his travels, ^{0,001} this as he clapped his hands in, ^{0,001} think it proper to shout when he, ^{0,001} think it proper to call out loudly, ^{0,001} think it fitting for him to cry, ^{0,001} think it consistent with his uniform to, ^{0,001} things were going so nicely for them, ^{0,001} things that aren't intended for the, ^{0,001} thing which caught the eye was a, ^{0,001} thing they heard in their new world, ^{0,001} thing they had heard in the world, ^{0,001} thing of all was a little maiden, ^{0,001} thing in the world that they heard, ^{0,001} they were the offspring of the same, ^{0,001} they were so near him that they, ^{0,001} they were placed was strewed with a, ^{0,001} they were made out of the same, ^{0,001} they were born of the same old, ^{0,001} they were all made out of the, ^{0,001} they wanted to join in the fun, ^{0,001} they walked right past without seeing him, ^{0,001} they shouldered their muskets and looked straight, ^{0,001} they shouldered their guns and looked straight, ^{0,001} they set him up on the table, ^{0,001} they put the tin soldier on the, ^{0,001} they put him on the table and, ^{0,001} they nearly stepped on the tin soldier, ^{0,001}

the tin soldier appeared as if he, the tin soldier and threw him right, the tin soldier and threw him into, the tin soldier and flung him into, the time for the toys to play, the third storey into the street below, the table with the soldiers were many, the table where they were being set, the table where they had been placed, the table where the tin soldiers were, the table on which they were placed, the table on which they were being, the table on which they had been, the street at once to look for, the stream rushed straight into the big, the stream it went so quick that, the stream gushed on more madly still, the steadfast little tin soldier lay full, the spice box was at the bottom, the soldier was once more in the, the soldiers were exactly alike with one, the soldiers resembled each other to a, the soldiers looked exactly alike except one, the soldiers had been given to him, the soldier would only have cried out, the soldier was so much moved that, the soldier was set on the window, the soldier was reduced to a mere, the soldier was melted to a hard, the soldier up bodily between her two, the soldier so deeply that he would, the soldier round the body with two, the soldier pitched out headlong from the, the soldier kept quiet and held his, the soldier into the middle of it, the soldier could see daylight ahead where, the soldier between her finger and thumb, the soldier and threw him without ceremony, the soldier and carried him into the, the snuffbox must have put him up, the snuff box was to blame for, the snuff box must have had a, the smartest red and blue uniform imaginable, the slate pencil squeaked out jokes on, the slate pencil played at commerce on, the slate pencil did all sorts of, the shape of a small tin heart, the servant maid took the ashes out, the servant maid and the little boy, the servant girl was cutting him up, the servant girl took out the ashes, the same toys were on the table, the same toys stood upon the table, the same time he heard a roaring, the same room in which he had, the same playthings stood on the table, the same moment he was swallowed up, the same moment he was swallowed by, the same grand castle with the pretty, the same fine castle with the pretty, the rush of the water in the, the rest in having only one leg, the remarkable man who had traveled about, the real fire or from love he, the rain was over two boys came, the pretty little dancer whom he d, the pretty dancer nothing was left except, the pretty castle with the graceful dancer, the prettiest thing of all was a, the prettiest of all was a diminutive, the precipice that he could no longer, the poor tin soldier summoned up all, the poor tin soldier stood as staunch, the poor tin soldier kept as stiff, the poor tin soldier keeping himself as, the point of one of her toes, the playthings now began to play in, the playthings began to play at various, the pencil scribbled nonsense on the slate, the pencil played games on the table, the paving stones and his one leg, the paper was fast dropping to pieces, the paper gave way entirely and the, the paper boat tossed up and down, the paper boat rocked to and fro, the paper boat danced up and down, the other tin soldiers went into their, the other soldiers were put into their, the only two who stayed still were, the only ones who did not move, the old nursery rhyme was ringing in, the offspring of the same old tin, the nut crackers played at leap frog, the nut cracker went head over heels, the nursery maid and the little boy, the noble castle and the elegant little, the night came all the other tin, the nicest of all was a pretty, the most remarkable of all was a, the most charming of them all was, the most beautiful thing was a little, the most attractive amongst them being a, the morning when the children got up, the morning came and the children were, the midst of this scarf was set, the middle with two of her fingers, the middle with a glittering rose made, the middle of this was placed a, the middle of this ribbon was a, the middle of the stream it went, the middle of it was a bright, the middle of it shone a spangle, the maid was taking out the ashes, the maid took the ashes out the, the maid took away the ashes next, the little windows one could see straight, the little maiden were with me in, the little maiden were but sailing with, the little maid was stretching out both, the little lady who stood in the, the little lady were sitting beside me, the little lady were only here along, the little lady was stretching out both, the little lady was but here at, the little lady only sat here with, the little lady held out both her, the little goblin in the snuff box, the little dancer but her gilt rose, the little dancer and she fluttered like, the little boys took up the soldier, the little boys took the soldier and, the little boys snatched up the tin, the little boy went downstairs immediately to, the little boy ran down to look, the little boy ran down into the, the little boy ran down at once, the little boy immediately came down to, the lid was lifted off their box, the lid of the box in which, the lake and watched their reflection in, the imp in the spice box was, taken off the box wherein they lay, table with the soldiers were many other, table where they were being set up, table where they had been placed stood, table where the tin soldiers were set, table on which they were placed was, table on which they were being set, table on which they had been placed, t look at things that aren't, t intended for the likes of you, t forget that it had just been, sylph straight into the stove to the, sylph right into the stove beside the, sylph just into the stove to the, swerving from the tip of one toe, swans which were swimming about on it, swans were floating about and reflecting themselves, swans that swam on its surface were, swans of wax swam on this lake, swans made of wax swam on the, swam on the lake and watched their, swam on its surface were reflected in, surrounding a tiny mirror which looked like, surface reflected the waxen swans which were, supposed she must have only one leg, suddenly there came along a great water, suddenly there came a great water rat, suddenly the door of the room flew, suddenly the boat rushed under a long, sudden the window flew open and the, sudden the boat drifted into a drain, such weakness would have been unbecoming in, such a situation was as perilous to, such a racket that the canary bird, such a noise that they woke up, such a din that the canary bird, struck through him like a flash of, strewn with a number of other toys, stretched himself out behind a snuff box, street at once to look for him, stream rushed straight into the big canal, stream it went so quick that the, straw which were floating about in the, strange things do happen in this world, straight up on the point of one, straight into the stove to the tin, straight into the fire with the soldier, straight before him with his gun shouldered, stood straight up on the point of, stood some small trees and a little, stood some little trees surrounding a tiny, stood on one leg without losing her, stood just as well on his one, stood just as firmly on his one, stood just as firm on his one, stood in the open doorway of the, stood in a blaze of red light, stood firm with his gun on his, stood at the open door of the, stood at the castle's open door, stood as stiff as ever on tip, stones and his one leg stuck straight, stones and his leg pointing up in, still were the tin soldier and the, still stood on one leg without losing, still standing on one leg with the, still i must try and scrape acquaintance, still he stood firm with his gun, still as stiff as when he stood, still and there was a streak of, stiff as when he stood at attention, sticking between two paving stones and his, steady on one leg as any of, steadfast little tin soldier lay full length, stayed still were the tin soldier and, stationed himself behind a snuff box that, standing up to his neck in water, standing right outside the open gate of, standing on the tip of her toes, standing on the point of her foot, standing on one leg without ever losing, standing on one leg with the other, standing in the open doorway of the, standing at the open door of the, sprang the lid of the snuff box, spice box was at the bottom of, spangle that was as big as her, spangle as big as her whole face, sounded a roaring enough to frighten any, soon he was sailing along the gutter, sometimes whirled round so fast that the, sometimes turned round so quickly that the, sometimes it whirled about so rapidly that, something struck through him like a flash, something like a flash of lightning passed, some small trees were placed round a, some small trees and a little looking, some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror, some little trees surrounding a small mirror, soldier was once more in the broad, soldiers were set out were several other, soldiers were put back into the box, soldiers were put away into the box, soldiers were put away in their box, soldiers were making a noise in their, soldiers were exactly alike with one exception, soldiers resembled each other to a hair, soldier was standing up to his neck, soldier was sinking to the bottom when, soldier was set on the window ledge, soldier was reduced to a mere lump, soldier was placed on the window ledge, soldier was now lighted up by the, soldier was not the more conceited for, soldier was melted to a hard lump, soldier was just as steadfast on his, only the little lady were sitting beside, only sat here with me in the, only ones who did not move from, only one leg because he had been, only looked straight before him with his, only i had the little lady with, only here along with me in the, only a box with four and twenty, ones who did not move from their, one was eager to see the wonderful, one that was a little different to, one that no eye could miss was, one should say of him that he, one should say of him afterwards that, one only was rather different from the, one of them was a little different, one of the little boys snatched up, one of her legs was raised so, one of her legs so high in, one moment turning his eyes away from, one might see through the tiny windows, one leg without ever losing her balance, one leg with the other high in, one leg was lifted so high behind, one leg turned over and over in, one leg stuck straight in the air, one leg so high that the tin, one leg so high in the air, one leg as the others on two, one leg as the others did upon, one leg as the others did on, one leg as any of the other, one foot so high in the air, one could see straight into the hall, one could say that he moved an, one could accuse him of having even, one can say that he so much, once upon a time five and twenty, once the window flew open and out, once the boat went into a long, once the boat sailed under a long, once the boat passed under a long, once the boat drifted under a long, once one of the little boys took, once more in the identical room in, once five and twenty tin soldiers that, once did he take his eyes off, on which they were placed was strewed, on which they were being set out, on which they had been placed stood, on the table with the soldiers were, on the table where they were being, on the table where they had been, on the table where the tin soldiers, on the table on which they were, on the table on which they had, on the point of one of her, on the lake and watched their reflection, on one leg without ever losing her, on one leg with the other high, on its surface were reflected in the, on in the evening all the other, on his travels or whether it was, on his head with his leg in, on earth am i going to now, on a frock of the clearest muslin, on a dress of the finest muslin, old nursery rhyme was ringing in his, offspring of the same old tin spoon, off the box in which they were, off the box in which they lay, off she flew like a fairy to, off flew the lid of the spice, off by a brilliant spangle as big, of wood and straw which were floating, of wax swam on the lake and, of this was placed a tinsel rose, of this scarf was set a bright, of this ribbon was a shining tinsel, of them all was a pretty pasteboard, of the water in the drain carried, of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself, of the stream it went so quick, of the pretty little dancer whom he, of the pretty dancer nothing was left, of the other soldiers on their two, of the little dancer but her gilt, of the little boys took the soldier, of the little boys snatched up the, of the gutter fell perpendicularly into a, of the flames of love within him, of the drain the water rushed out, of the dancer was left nothing but, of the dancer there remained only the, of the dancer nothing remained but the, of the clearest muslin and a narrow, of the castle were miniature trees around, of the castle stood some tiny trees, of the castle stood some little trees, of the castle some small trees were, of the bright day light before the, of the box in which they lay, of the beautiful dancer remained only the, of that gutter plank the water poured, of narrow blue ribbon round her shoulders, of lightning seemed to dart through him, of it was a bright spangle as, of it shone a spangle that was, of him that he moved a muscle, of him that he had even so, of him afterwards that he had flinched, of her legs was raised so high, of her legs so high in the, of all was the little lady who, of all was a splendid castle made, of all was a pretty little castle, of all was a little maiden standing, of all was a little lady who, of all was a little damsel standing, of a sudden the window flew open, of a sudden the boat drifted into, odd events do happen in the world, nursery rhyme was ringing in his ears, nursery maid and the little boy came, now was the time for the toys, now the water was over his head, now the water closed over the soldier, now the two boys ran beside him, now the toys began to play at, now the toys began to play among, now the playthings began to play at, now the paper boat broke beneath him, now that it was impossible to stop, now stood in a blaze of red, now spun round three or four times, now so near this point that he, now so near the precipice that he, now so close that he could no, now set them up on the table, now set them out on the table, now reached up to the soldier s, now one of the little boys took, now he was already so near it, now he put them on the table, now he began setting them out on, now closed over the tin soldier s, now began to play in their turn, now been carried up into the kitchen, now and then whirled round and round, now and then veered round so quickly, now and then it turned about so, into the rooms through the small windows, into the air that the tin soldier, into a large sheet that fell into, instantly swallowed up by a huge fish, in which they lay was taken off, in their box because they wanted to, in the world that they heard was, in the very same room that he, in the very same room in which, in the very room where he fell, in the very room in which he, in the spice box was at the, in the snuffbox must have put him, in the snuff box was to blame, in the snuff box must have had, in the shape of a small tin, in the same room in which he, in the same moment he was swallowed, in the morning when the children got, in the midst of this scarf was, in the middle with a glittering rose, in the middle of this was placed, in the middle of this ribbon was, in the middle of the stream it, in the middle of it was a, in the middle of it shone a, in the identical room in which he, in the evening the other soldiers were, in the evening all the other tin, in the drain carried the boat along, in the dance one of her legs, in the box who put this into, in the box was at the bottom, in the boat it might be twice, in setting them up on the table, in his heart to weep tin tears, in his ears there sounded a roaring, in his ears rang the burden of, in front of the castle were miniature, in front of the castle stood little, in front of the castle some small, in fact he is the very one, imp in the spice box was at, immediately set them up on the table, immediately came down to look for him, if the tin soldier had only called, if the soldier would only have cried, if the little maiden were but sailing, if the little lady were only here, if the little lady was but here, if the little lady only sat here, if only the little maiden were with, if only the little lady were sitting, if only i had the little lady, if a flash of lightning had passed, idling about the streets happened to pass, identical tin soldier it is whose fortunes, identical room in which he had been, i would not mind if it were, i would not care for its being, i wonder where i am off to, i wonder where i am going now, i must try to make friends with, i must try and scrape acquaintance with, i must try and get acquainted with, i have only a box with four, i have nothing but a box to, i had the little lady with me, how the waves rose in that gutter, how he should never see her again, how he gnashed his teeth and shouted, how fast the water ran down the, how dark it was inside that fish, how could anything so extraordinary happen in, housemaid and the little boy ran down, his weapon with a still firmer grasp, his uniform to cry out for help, his travels or whether it was the, his teeth as he called to the, his teeth and shouted to the bits, his remains in the shape of a, his one leg turned over and over, his one leg stuck straight in the, his neck and still the boat went, his musket held trim on his shoulder, his leg stood upright in the air, his leg pointing up in the air, his head with his leg in the, his hands in delight at seeing the, his hands as the lid was lifted, his gun being wedged between two paving, his eyes off her for a single, his ears there sounded a roaring enough, his ears rang the burden of the, his dignity to shout aloud because he, his cap and bayonet stuck fast between, his birthday and they had just been, his bayonet sticking between two paving stones, his bayonet fixed between two paving stones, his bayonet buried between the paving stones, himself out behind a snuff box that, himself once more in the identical room, himself in the very same room that, himself down at full length behind a, himself behind a snuff box that stood, himself at full length behind a snuff, himself as stiff and immovable as possible, him that would have been as full, him that they almost trod on him, him that he had even so much, him sail up and down the gutter, him just as dangerous a passage as, him in the shape of a heart, him because it was his birth day, him at the end of the tunnel, him as a waterfall would be to, high that the tin soldier lost sight, high that the tin soldier could not, high into the air that the tin, high behind her that the tin soldier, hero who had been found inside a, here for all that i would care, here at my side in the boat, here as at home in his own, here along with me in the boat, her that the tin soldier couldn't, her legs was raised so high into, her legs so high in the air, her leg so high that the tin, held the other up in the air, held the other high in the air, held the other extended in the air, held his weapon with a still firmer, held himself as stiffly as he could, held himself as stiff as he could, held himself as stiff and immovable as, heels from the third storey into the, heat was the result of the actual, heat from the fire or from his, heat came from the real fire or, heard at the same time a roaring, heard a roar that would frighten the, head with his leg in the air, head over heels from the third storey, he went down the gutter with the, he was very near weeping tin tears, he was thinking of the pretty little, he was swallowed up by a large, he was swallowed up by a great, he was swallowed by a most enormous, he was swallowed by a great fish, he was swallowed by a big fish, he was so near to it that, he was so near the end now, he was so near it he could, he was ready to shed tears of, he was now so near this point, he was now so near the precipice, he was now so close that he, he was nearly going to shed tin, he was just as persevering on his, he was just as firm on his, he was equally firm on his one, he was already so near it that, he thought of the elegant little dancer, he thought of the beautiful little dancer, he thought it would not be becoming, he thought it was beneath his dignity, he thought it contemptible to raise an, he supposed she must have only one, he stretched himself out behind a snuff, he stood steadfastly on his one leg, he stood just as well on his, he stood just as firmly on his, he stood just as firm on his, he stood firm with his gun on, he still managed to keep himself erect, he stationed himself behind a snuff box, he so much as blinked an eye, he shouted out to all the bits, he shouldn't look at the little, he shall sail up and down in, he shall have a sail in a, he shall have a sail for once, he remained quietly behind the snuff box, he now set them up on the, he now set them out on the, he never turned his eyes away from, he never took his eyes off her, he lost no time in setting them, he looked at her and she looked, he looked a little different as he, he lay down on the table behind, he lay down full length behind a, he lay down at full length behind, he landed on his head with his, he laid himself down at full length, he laid himself at full length behind, he is the very one who is, he is the one that became famous, he immediately set them up on the, he heard at the same time a, he has n't shown his passport, he has n't shown his pass, he had only one leg because he, he had one leg because he had, he had lost all his gay colour, he had even so much as winked, he had a full view of the, he gnashed his teeth and shouted to, he give any reason for so doing, he gave no reason for doing this, he found it as dark here as, he found himself in the very same, he felt that he was melting away, he felt a heat that was something, he fell at breathtaking speed and landed, he differed from the rest in having, he did not think it fitting for, he did not think it consistent with, he did not give any reason for, he did it for no reason at, he cried to the chips of wood, he could watch the dainty little lady, he could peep at the delicate little, he could not hold on any longer, he could no longer keep himself back, he could have found it in his, he could easily watch the little dainty, he could admire the dainty little dancer, he clapped his hands in delight at, he called to the sticks and straws, he believed that she had only one, he began setting them out on the, he began putting them on the table, he became quite still and there was, he also heard a roar that would, having been melted the last of the, have the goodness to keep your eyes, have only a box with four and, have nothing but a box to live, have found it in his heart to, have been the goblin in the box, have been the fault of the jack, have been as full of peril as, have a sail for once in his, have a good look at the little, have a good look at the elegant, harm in my making acquaintance with her, happened on his travels or whether it, hands in delight at seeing the soldiers, hands as the lid was lifted off, had travelled in the maw of a, had travelled about in the stomach of, had traveled about in the stomach of, had traveled about in the inside of, had traveled about in a fish's, had only one leg because he had, had one leg because he had been, had on a frock of the clearest, had on a dress of the finest, had now reached up to the soldier, had now been carried up into the, had not been enough tin to finish, had little windows through which you could, had just been raining by the bucketful, had just been given to him as, had happened to him on his journey, had happened on his travels or whether, had even so much as winked an, had cut it open with a great, had been placed stood many other toys, had been placed stood many other playthings, had been made last when the tin, had been given him on his birthday, had been caught and brought to market, had all been made out of one, had all been born of one old, had a skirt of the clearest gauze, had a full view of the delicate, had a dress of the clearest gauze, gutter with the two young rascallions running, gutter plank the water poured into the, gutter plank and it was so cramped, gutter fell perpendicularly into a great canal, gutter discharged itself into a great canal, guns and looked straight in front of, gun being wedged between two paving stones, great waves there were in the gutter, great water rat who lived under the, great water rat that lived in the, great fish snapped him up and swallowed, great deal than under the bridge over, grand castle with the pretty little dancer, got up they put the tin soldier, goodness to keep your eyes to yourself, good look at the elegant little lady, goblin or the draught which was the, goblin or by a puff of wind, goblin in the snuff box was to, goblin in the boat sailed under a long gutter board,^{0,001} boat rushed under a long plank where,^{0,001} boat passed under a long tunnel that,^{0,001} boat now spun round three or four,^{0,001} boat it might be twice as dark,^{0,001} boat drifted under a long wooden tunnel,^{0,001} blue ribbon went over her shoulder for,^{0,001} blue riband was flung across her shoulders,^{0,001} black bogey in the snuffbox must have,^{0,001} bits of wood and straw which were,^{0,001} birthday and they had just been given,^{0,001} between two paving stones and his leg,^{0,001} between the paving stones and his one,^{0,001} beneath his dignity to shout aloud because,^{0,001} believed that she had only one leg,^{0,001} behind her that the tin soldier couldn,^{0,001} behind a snuff box that stood on,^{0,001} behind a snuff box that lay on,^{0,001} behind a snuff box that happened to,^{0,001} been as full of peril as for,^{0,001} because they were born of the same,^{0,001} because they wanted to join in the,^{0,001} because he was in his soldier clothes,^{0,001} became quite still and there was a, ^{0,001} became filled to the brim with water, ^{0,001} became as dark as it was in, ^{0,001} became as dark as if he had, ^{0,001} beautiful castle with the pretty little dancing, ^{0,001} beautiful castle with the pretty little dancer, ^{0,001} be twice as dark here for all, ^{0,001} be no harm in my making acquaintance, ^{0,001} be for us to shoot a great, ^{0,001} be becoming for him to cry out, ^{0,001} bayonet stuck fast between the flag stones, ^{0,001} bayonet sticking between two paving stones and, ^{0,001} bayonet buried between the paving stones and, ^{0,001} back in the same room as before, ^{0,001} away the ashes next morning she found, ^{0,001} away he went down the gutter with, ^{0,001} attractive amongst them being a pretty little, ^{0,001} at which the boldest heart might well, ^{0,001} at this moment the boat went to, ^{0,001} at this moment one of the little, ^{0,001} at this moment a big water rat, ^{0,001} at things that aren't intended for, ^{0,001} at the same time he heard a, ^{0,001} at the same time a roaring noise, ^{0,001} at the same moment he was swallowed, ^{0,001} at the point where the bridge ended, ^{0,001} at the end of the tunnel the, ^{0,001} at the end of the drain the, ^{0,001} at the end of that gutter plank, ^{0,001} at that moment he was swallowed up, ^{0,001} at once the window flew open and, ^{0,001} at once the boat went into a, ^{0,001} at once the boat sailed under a, ^{0,001} at once the boat passed under a, ^{0,001} at once the boat drifted under a, ^{0,001} at once one of the little boys, ^{0,001} at last the water went over his, ^{0,001} at last the paper gave way entirely, ^{0,001} at last it came down in a, ^{0,001} at last he became quite still and, ^{0,001} at her and she looked at him, ^{0,001} at full length with his gun on, ^{0,001} at breathtaking speed and landed cap first, ^{0,001} ashes she found him in the shape, ^{0,001} as well on his one leg as, ^{0,001} as well as the beautiful castle with, ^{0,001} as things were going so nicely for, ^{0,001} as they were made out of the, ^{0,001} as the others on their two legs, ^{0,001} as the others did upon their two, ^{0,001} as the lid was lifted off their, ^{0,001} as the beautiful castle with the pretty, ^{0,001} as stiff as when he stood at, ^{0,001} as stiff as ever on tip toe, ^{0,001} as steady on one leg as any, ^{0,001} as soon as the rain let up, ^{0,001} as sailing down a mighty waterfall would, ^{0,001} as perilous to him as it would, ^{0,001} as if he did not hear him, ^{0,001} as if a flash of lightning had, ^{0,001} as he had been cast last of, ^{0,001} as he cried to the chips of, ^{0,001} as he clapped his hands in delight, ^{0,001} as he called to the sticks and, ^{0,001} as full of peril as for us, ^{0,001} as for us to be carried down, ^{0,001} as firm on his one leg as, ^{0,001} as dark here for all that i, ^{0,001} as dark here as at home in, ^{0,001} as dark as the soldier's own, ^{0,001} as dark as his box had been, ^{0,001} as dangerous to him as a waterfall, ^{0,001} as dangerous for the tin soldier as, ^{0,001} as dangerous a passage as a big, ^{0,001} as at home in his own box, ^{0,001} as any of the other soldiers on, ^{0,001} as a waterfall would be to us, ^{0,001} as a big waterfall would be to, ^{0,001} around a little mirror supposed to represent, ^{0,001} aren't intended for the likes of, ^{0,001} are twenty five of us in there, ^{0,001} are five and twenty of us to, ^{0,001} are all our five and twenty men, ^{0,001} appeared as if he did not hear, ^{0,001} anything so extraordinary happen in this world, ^{0,001} any of the other soldiers on their, ^{0,001} and wore the smartest red and blue, ^{0,001} and wore a smart red and blue, ^{0,001} and whether it was the wind or, ^{0,001} and whether it was the troll or, ^{0,001} and when the servant maid took the, ^{0,001} and when the servant girl took out, ^{0,001} and when the maid took the ashes, ^{0,001} and when the maid took away the, ^{0,001} and when next morning the maid was, ^{0,001} and what a strong tide there was, ^{0,001} and we are five and twenty of, ^{0,001} and waxen swans swam in the lake, ^{0,001} and was lifting up one leg so, ^{0,001} and was instantly consumed by the flames, ^{0,001} and was full of water to the, ^{0,001} and was filled with water to the, ^{0,001} and twenty tin soldiers that were all, ^{0,001} and twenty of us to share it, ^{0,001} and threw him without ceremony into the, ^{0,001} and threw him right into the fire, ^{0,001} and this refrain rang in his ears, ^{0,001} and this identical tin soldier it is, ^{0,001} and they shouldered their guns and looked, ^{0,001} and they had just been given to, ^{0,001} and they all had the same splendid, ^{0,001} and these words rang in his ears, ^{0,001} and therefore concluded that she had only, ^{0,001} and there was the same grand castle, ^{0,001} and there was the same fine castle, ^{0,001} and there was the pretty castle with, ^{0,001} and there was such a din that, ^{0,001} and there was soon a regular shower, ^{0,001} and there was not tin enough to, ^{0,001} and there was not quite enough tin, ^{0,001} and there was a streak of light, ^{0,001} and there was a regular down pour, ^{0,001} and there had not been enough tin, ^{0,001} and there are twenty five of us, ^{0,001} and there are five and twenty of, ^{0,001} and then veered round so quickly that, ^{0,001} and then there are five and twenty, ^{0,001} and then she lifted one foot so, ^{0,001} and then she lifted her leg so, ^{0,001} and then it turned about so rapidly, ^{0,001} and then he lay down at full, ^{0,001} and then he laid himself down at, ^{0,001} and their uniforms were red and blue, ^{0,001} and the wind caught up the dancer, ^{0,001} and the waters now closed over the, ^{0,001} and the toys were still standing on, ^{0,001} and the toys were all standing on, ^{0,001} and the tin soldier was sinking to, ^{0,001} and the tin soldier was just as, ^{0,001} and the tin soldier could already see, ^{0,001} and the soldier pitched out headlong from, ^{0,001} and the slate pencil squeaked out jokes, ^{0,001} and the slate pencil played at commerce, ^{0,001} and the slate pencil did all sorts, ^{0,001} and the same toys stood upon the, ^{0,001} and the same toys on the table, ^{0,001} and the same playthings on the table, ^{0,001} and the rat gave chase to it, ^{0,001} and the rat came right after it, ^{0,001} and the poor tin soldier kept as, ^{0,001} and the pencil scribbled nonsense on the, ^{0,001} and the pencil played games on the,

the identical room in which he had, the housemaid and the little boy ran, the hero who had been found inside, the heat from the fire or from, the gutter with the two young rascallions, the gutter plank and it was so, the gutter fell perpendicularly into a great, the gutter discharged itself into a great, the goodness to keep your eyes to, the goblin or the draught which was, the goblin or by a puff of, the goblin in the box who put, the gnome in the box was at, the flames or from his love he, the fish rushed about and made the, the fish had been caught and brought, the fish flopped and floundered in a, the first words they heard in this, the first words that they heard in, the first word that they heard in, the first thing they heard in this, the first thing they heard in their, the first thing they had heard in, the fault of the jack in the, the famous man who had traveled about, the eye was a neat castle of, the eye was a delightful paper castle, the evening the other soldiers were put, the evening came the other tin soldiers, the evening all the other tin soldiers, the end of the tunnel the gutter, the end of the drain the water, the end of that gutter plank the, the end now that it was impossible, the drops fell faster and faster till, the draught which was the cause of, the draught of air caught the dancer, the draught caught up the little dancer, the draught caught the little dancer and, the drain the water rushed out into, the drain ran into a great canal, the drain carried the boat along faster, the door of the room flew open, the dancer was left nothing but the, the dancer there remained only the gold, the dancer nothing remained but the tinsel, the dance one of her legs was, the dainty little dancer who kept standing, the cook was opening it with a, the cook had cut it open with, the cook cut it open with a, the cook cut him open with her, the conjuror or the wind occasioned it, the conjuror in the snuff box must, the colors had quite run off from, the colors had quite gone off him, the clearest muslin and a narrow blue, the children got up they put the, the chief thing which caught the eye, the castle were miniature trees around a, the castle stood some little trees surrounding, the castle some small trees were placed, the canary woke up and joined in, the bright daylight where the arch of, the bright daylight at the end of, the bright day light before the boat, the brave tin soldier melted down into, the boys running along by the side, the box who put this into his, the box was at the bottom of, the box in which they were lying, the box in which they lay was, the bottom when a great fish snapped, the boldest heart might well have trembled, the boat went into a long drain, the boat swirled round three or four, the boat shot under a long bridge, the boat sailed under a long gutter, the boat rushed under a long plank, the boat passed under a long tunnel, the boat now spun round three or, the boat it might be twice as, the boat drifted under a long wooden, the boat came from under the tunnel, the bits of wood and straw which, the beautiful dancer remained only the spangle, the ashes she found him in the, the ashes next morning she found him, the air that the tin soldier couldn, that would not have been fitting for, that would have been as full of, that would frighten the bravest of us, that would be the wife for me, that would be the very wife for, that would be no place for her, that would be just the wife for, that would be a wife for me, that were idling about the streets happened, that was meant to represent a transparent, that was left of the dancer was, that was burnt black as a coal, that was burnt as black as a, that was burned as black as coal, that was burned as black as a, that was as dark as his box, that was as black as a cinder, that was as big as her face, that was a little different to the, that touched the soldier so deeply that, that they woke up the canary bird, that the tin soldier was very nearly, that the tin soldier lost sight of, that the tin soldier couldn t see, that the tin soldier couldn t find, that the tin soldier could see absolutely, that the tin soldier could not find, that the tin soldier became quite giddy, that the gnome in the box was, that the canary woke up and joined, that swam on its surface were reflected, that she had only one leg like, that point he could have a good, that nobody should say of him that, that no eye could miss was a, that most took the eye was a, that moment he was swallowed up by, that lived under the bridge of the, that it made the soldier s head, that it had just been raining by, that he would have cried tin tears, that he was ready to shed tears, that he was fit to weep tin, that he so much as blinked an, that he shouldn t look at the, that he nearly shed tears of tin, that he had even so much as, that he could not stop the boat, that he could not hold on any, that he could no longer stand upright, that he could no longer keep himself, that happened to be on the table, that gutter plank the water poured into, that fell into the mouth of a, that black bogey in the snuffbox must, that aren t intended for the likes, than under the gutter plank and it, than under the bridge over the gutter, teeth as he called to the sticks, teeth and shouted to the bits of,

^{0,001} and the pencil jumped about the table, ^{0,001} and the paper was gradually giving way, ^{0,001} and the paper was fast dropping to, ^{0,001} and the paper got soft and limp, ^{0,001} and the little boy went downstairs immediately, ^{0,001} and the little boy ran down to, ^{0,001} and the little boy ran down into, ^{0,001} and the little boy ran down at, ^{0,001} and the little boy immediately came down, ^{0,001} and the drops fell faster and faster, ^{0,001} and the draught of air caught the, ^{0,001} and the children were out of bed, ^{0,001} and the chalk ran about the blackboard, ^{0,001} and the boat sank deeper and deeper, ^{0,001} and that was the end of her, ^{0,001} and that was burnt black as a, ^{0,001} and that was burnt as black as, ^{0,001} and that was as black as a, ^{0,001} and such a situation was as perilous, ^{0,001} and straw which were floating about in, ^{0,001} and soon he was sailing along the, ^{0,001} and sometimes whirled round so fast that, ^{0,001} and sometimes turned round so quickly that, ^{0,001} and sometimes it whirled about so rapidly, ^{0,001} and softer and softer grew the paper, ^{0,001} and so he stationed himself behind a, ^{0,001} and shouted to the bits of stick, ^{0,001} and she lifted one leg so high, ^{0,001} and she flew like a sylph straight, ^{0,001} and she flew like a sylph just, ^{0,001} and set him floating down the gutter, ^{0,001} and raised one of her legs so, ^{0,001} and put the tin soldier in the, ^{0,001} and put the soldier into the middle, ^{0,001} and out fell the little tin soldier, ^{0,001} and one that no eye could miss, ^{0,001} and one leg was lifted so high, ^{0,001} and off she flew like a fairy, ^{0,001} and now the water closed over the, ^{0,001} and now the paper fell in two, ^{0,001} and now the paper broke in two, ^{0,001} and now the paper boat broke beneath, ^{0,001} and now one of the little boys, ^{0,001} and now he put them on the, ^{0,001} and now he began setting them out, ^{0,001} and now and then whirled round and, ^{0,001} and now and then it turned about, ^{0,001} and no one could say that he, ^{0,001} and no one can say that he, ^{0,001} and made him sail up and down, ^{0,001} and looked straight in front of them, ^{0,001} and lay at full length with his, ^{0,001} and kept the other high in the, ^{0,001} and just at that moment he was, ^{0,001} and it was really very close quarters, ^{0,001} and it was burned as black as, ^{0,001} and it sounded in the soldier's, ^{0,001} and it became as dark as it, ^{0,001} and it became as dark as if, ^{0,001} and in the midst of this scarf, ^{0,001} and in the middle of this was, ^{0,001} and in the middle of this ribbon, ^{0,001} and in the middle of the stream, ^{0,001} and in the middle of it was, ^{0,001} and in the middle of it shone, ^{0,001} and in the dance one of her, ^{0,001} and in his ears rang the burden, ^{0,001} and in his ears rang an old, ^{0,001} and in front of the castle were, ^{0,001} and how he should never see her, ^{0,001} and how fast the water ran down, ^{0,001} and his one leg stuck straight in, ^{0,001} and his leg pointing up in the, ^{0,001} and his bayonet between the paving stones, ^{0,001} and held the other up in the, ^{0,001} and held the other extended in the, ^{0,001} and held his weapon with a still, ^{0,001} and he was just as persevering on, ^{0,001} and he was just as firm on, ^{0,001} and he supposed she must have only, ^{0,001} and he sailed away down the gutter, ^{0,001} and he now set them up on, ^{0,001} and he now set them out on, ^{0,001} and he never turned his eyes away, ^{0,001} and he laid himself at full length, ^{0,001} and he is the one that became, ^{0,001} and he had only one leg because, ^{0,001} and he differed from the rest in, ^{0,001} and he did not take his eyes, ^{0,001} and he believed that she had only, ^{0,001} and had now been carried up into, ^{0,001} and from thence he could peep at, ^{0,001} and for him that would have been, ^{0,001} and flung him right into the stove, ^{0,001} and floundered in a most unaccountable way, ^{0,001} and filled with water to the edge, ^{0,001} and felt a tremendous degree of heat, ^{0,001} and felt a heat that was truly, ^{0,001} and felt a heat that was terrible, ^{0,001} and every now and then veered round, ^{0,001} and down the tin soldier was flung, ^{0,001} and deeper and deeper sank the boat, ^{0,001} and cried out to sticks and straws, ^{0,001} and clapped his hands as the lid, ^{0,001} and carried him into the sitting room, ^{0,001} and came down so that he stood, ^{0,001} and called out to the bits of, ^{0,001} and call out to the wood shavings, ^{0,001} and brought to a kitchen where the, ^{0,001} and became filled to the brim with, ^{0,001} and bayonet stuck fast between the flag, ^{0,001} and away he went down the gutter, ^{0,001} and away he sailed down the gutter, ^{0,001} and at last the water went over, ^{0,001} and at last it came down in, ^{0,001} and after a while something struck through, ^{0,001} and a narrow blue ribbon over her, ^{0,001} and a little narrow blue ribbon over, ^{0,001} an uproar while he was wearing his, ^{0,001} amongst them being a pretty little paper, ^{0,001} among them the beautiful castle with the, ^{0,001} although they very nearly trod upon him, ^{0,001} although they very nearly trod on him, ^{0,001} also heard a roar that would frighten, ^{0,001} already so near it that he could, ^{0,001} already see the bright daylight at the, ^{0,001} already see daylight where the tunnel ended, ^{0,001} already see daylight before him at the, ^{0,001} already see daylight at the point where, ^{0,001} already catch a glimpse of the bright, ^{0,001} along by the side and clapping their, ^{0,001} along a great water rat that lived, ^{0,001} almost trod upon him they could not, ^{0,001} all was the little lady who stood, ^{0,001} all was a splendid castle made of, ^{0,001} all was a pretty little castle made, ^{0,001} all was a little maiden standing at, ^{0,001} all was a little lady who was, ^{0,001} all was a little damsel standing in, ^{0,001} all waited to see the famous man, ^{0,001} all this was very pretty but prettiest, ^{0,001} all the tin soldiers were put in, ^{0,001} all the soldiers were exactly alike with, ^{0,001} all the soldiers looked exactly alike except, ^{0,001} all the other tin soldiers went into, ^{0,001} all the bits of wood and straw, ^{0,001} all that was left of the dancer, ^{0,001} to stand on one leg without losing her, ^{0,002} tin soldier melted down into a little lump, ^{0,002} they had been given to him because it, ^{0,002} then the tin soldier melted down into a, ^{0,002} then one of the little boys took the, ^{0,002} then he thought of the pretty little dancer, ^{0,002} the tin soldier was put in the window, ^{0,002} the tin soldier was placed in the window, ^{0,002} the tin soldier was in the very room, ^{0,002} the tin soldier in the middle of it, ^{0,002} the soldier fell head foremost from the third, ^{0,002} the prettiest of all was a little lady, ^{0,002} the poor tin soldier held himself as stiff, ^{0,002} the people in the house went to bed, ^{0,002} the little boys took up the tin soldier, ^{0,002} the little boys took the tin soldier and, ^{0,002} the little boy came down at once to, ^{0,002} the lid was taken off the box in, ^{0,002} the boat whirled round three or four times, ^{0,002} the air that the tin soldier could not, ^{0,002} that would be just as dangerous for him, ^{0,002} that the tin soldier could not see it, ^{0,002} that the canary woke up and began to, ^{0,002} stood as firmly upon his one leg as, ^{0,002} stood as firmly on his one leg as, ^{0,002} standing on one leg without losing her balance, ^{0,002} stand on one leg without losing her balance, ^{0,002} same room in which he had been before, ^{0,002} put the tin soldier in the middle of, ^{0,002} out of a newspaper and put the soldier, ^{0,002} one of the little boys took the tin, ^{0,002} one leg because he had been cast last, ^{0,002} of the little boys took up the tin, ^{0,002} of the little boys took the tin soldier, ^{0,002} not take his eyes off her for a, ^{0,002} noise that the canary woke up and began, ^{0,002} maid took the ashes out the next day, ^{0,002} maid and the little boy came down at, ^{0,002} made out of the same old tin spoon, ^{0,002} made a boat out of a newspaper and, ^{0,002} little boy came down at once to look, ^{0,002} lid was taken off the box in which, ^{0,002} length behind a snuff box which was on, ^{0,002} leg because he had been cast last of, ^{0,002} just as dangerous for him as it would, ^{0,002} in the air that the tin soldier could, ^{0,002} if the tin soldier had but called out, ^{0,002} he stood as firmly upon his one leg, ^{0,002} he stood as firmly on his one leg, ^{0,002} he did not take his eyes off her, ^{0,002} he could have a good look at the, ^{0,002} had been given to him because it was, ^{0,002} full length behind a snuff box which was, ^{0,002} for him as it would be for us, ^{0,002} firmly upon his one leg as the others, ^{0,002} firmly on his one leg as the others, ^{0,002} down at full length behind a snuff box, ^{0,002} did not take his eyes off her for, ^{0,002} dark as if he had been in his, ^{0,002} dangerous for him as it would be for, ^{0,002} continued to stand on one leg without losing, ^{0,002} came down at once to look for him, ^{0,002} but they could not get the lid off, ^{0,002} but the prettiest of all was a little, ^{0,002} but i must try to make her acquaintance, ^{0,002} but he did not think it proper to, ^{0,002} boy came down at once to look for, ^{0,002} boat out of a newspaper and put the, ^{0,002} behind a snuff box which was on the, ^{0,002} been given to him because it was his, ^{0,002} because he had been cast last of all, ^{0,002} be just as dangerous for him as it, ^{0,002} at that moment he was swallowed by a, ^{0,002} at full length behind a snuff box which, ^{0,002} as firmly upon his one leg as the, ^{0,002} as firmly on his one leg as the, ^{0,002} as dangerous for him as it would be, ^{0,002} are five and twenty of us in that, ^{0,002} and the soldier fell head foremost from the, ^{0,002} and the people in the house went to, ^{0,002} and the little boy came down at once, ^{0,002} and so they made a boat out of, ^{0,002} and it was just this soldier who became, ^{0,002} all the other tin soldiers were put back, ^{0,002} a snuff box which was on the table, ^{0,002} a boat out of a newspaper and put, ^{0,001} young rascallions running beside him and clapping their, ^{0,001} you could see right into the rooms through, ^{0,001} yet he stood as firmly on his one, ^{0,001} would not mind if it were twice as, ^{0,001} would not have been fitting for a soldier, ^{0,001} would not care for its being twice as, ^{0,001} would not be becoming for him to cry, ^{0,001} would have been as full of peril as, ^{0,001} would be for us to shoot a great, ^{0,001} would be for us to sail down a, ^{0,001} worse a great deal than under the bridge, ^{0,001} wore the smartest red and blue uniform imaginable, ^{0,001} wore a dress of the clearest muslin and, ^{0,001} wood and straw which were floating about in, ^{0,001} wonderful man who had travelled in the maw, ^{0,001} woke up and began to talk to them, ^{0,001} without ever swerving from the tip of one, ^{0,001} with windows through which you could see into, ^{0,001} with the two young rascallions running beside him, ^{0,001} with the noble castle and the elegant little, ^{0,001} with me in the boat it might be, ^{0,001} with his uniform to cry out for help, ^{0,001} with his musket held trim on his shoulder, ^{0,001} with his bayonet fixed between two paving stones, ^{0,001} with his bayonet buried between the paving stones, ^{0,001} with four and twenty roommates to share it, ^{0,001} with a scarf of narrow blue ribbon round, ^{0,001} with a glittering rose made of gold paper, ^{0,001} with a dainty little blue ribbon over her, ^{0,001} windows through which you could see into the, ^{0,001} windows through which you could look right inside, ^{0,001} windows one could see straight into the hall, ^{0,001} window flew open and the soldier pitched out, ^{0,001} window flew open and out fell the little, ^{0,001} will you please keep your eyes to yourself, ^{0,001} will be no harm in my making acquaintance, ^{0,001} widened into a large sheet that fell into, ^{0,001} whose surface reflected the waxen swans which were, ^{0,001} whose fortunes seem to us worthy of record,^{0,001} who was standing right outside the open gate,^{0,001} who stood in the open doorway of the,^{0,001} who stood at the open door of the,^{0,001} who stood at the castle's open door,^{0,001} who still stood on one leg without losing,^{0,001} who stayed still were the tin soldier and,^{0,001} who shouted this as he clapped his hands,^{0,001} who remained standing on one leg without losing,^{0,001} who kept standing on one leg without ever,^{0,001} who had travelled in the maw of a,^{0,001} who had travelled about in the stomach of,^{0,001} who had traveled about in the stomach of,^{0,001} who had traveled about in the inside of,^{0,001} who had traveled about in a fish's,^{0,001} who had been made last when the tin,^{0,001} who fluttered like a sylph right into the,^{0,001} who did not move were the tin soldier,^{0,001} who did not move from their places were,^{0,001} who continued standing on one leg without losing,^{0,001} whirled round so fast that the tin soldier,^{0,001} whirled about so rapidly that it made the,^{0,001} whilst she held the other high in the,^{0,001} whilst i have only a box with four,^{0,001} while something struck through him like a flash,^{0,001} while i have nothing but a box to,^{0,001} while his leg stood upright in the air,^{0,001} which was made to look like a clear,^{0,001} which was enough to frighten even a bold,^{0,001} which they were placed was strewed with a,^{0,001} which they had been placed stood many other,^{0,001} which the boldest heart might well have trembled,^{0,001} which plainly showed that the gnome in the,^{0,001} which caught the eye was a delightful paper,^{0,001} whether this heat was the result of the,^{0,001} whether this heat came from the real fire,^{0,001} whether this had happened to him on his,^{0,001} whether this had happened on his travels or,^{0,001} whether this change had happened during his travels,^{0,001} whether the conjuror or the wind occasioned it,^{0,001} whether it was the wind or the little,^{0,001} whether it was the troll or the draught,^{0,001} whether it was caused by the goblin or,^{0,001} whether it came from the flames or from,^{0,001} where they had been placed stood many other,^{0,001} where the tunnel ended the stream rushed straight,^{0,001} where the tin soldiers were set out were,^{0,001} where the servant girl was cutting him up,^{0,001} where the cook was opening it with a,^{0,001} where the cook had cut it open with,^{0,001} where the cook cut it open with a,^{0,001} where the cook cut him open with her,^{0,001} where on earth am i going to now,^{0,001} where it was just as dark as if,^{0,001} where it was as dark as in his,^{0,001} where he could admire the dainty little dancer,^{0,001} where everyone wanted to see the wonderful man,^{0,001} where everyone wanted to see the hero who,^{0,001} where everybody was desirous of seeing such a,^{0,001} where everybody wanted to see the remarkable man,^{0,001} where every one was eager to see the,^{0,001} where all waited to see the famous man,^{0,001} when there was not quite tin enough left,^{0,001} when the servant maid took the ashes out,^{0,001} when the servant girl took out the ashes,^{0,001} when the rain was over two boys came,^{0,001} when the night came all the other tin,^{0,001} when the morning came and the children were,^{0,001} when the maid took the ashes out the,^{0,001} when the maid took away the ashes next,^{0,001} when the lid of the box in which,^{0,001} when the evening came the other tin soldiers,^{0,001} when the children got up they put the,^{0,001} when next morning the maid was taking out,^{0,001} when it was over two street boys came,^{0,001} when a servant took up the ashes she,^{0,001} when a great fish snapped him up and,^{0,001} what wonderful things will happen in this world,^{0,001} what strange things do happen in this world,^{0,001} what odd events do happen in the world,^{0,001} what great waves there were in the gutter,^{0,001} what curious things may happen in the world,^{0,001} what curious things can happen in this world,^{0,001} what a rough sea there was in that,^{0,001} were with me in the boat it might,^{0,001} were the offspring of the same old tin,^{0,001} were some little trees surrounding a small mirror,^{0,001} were so near him that they almost trod,^{0,001} were placed was strewed with a number of,^{0,001} were placed round a looking glass which was,^{0,001} were only here along with me in the,^{0,001} were once upon a time five and twenty,^{0,001} were once five and twenty tin soldiers that,^{0,001} were miniature trees around a little mirror supposed,^{0,001} were many other playthings on the table on,^{0,001} were making a noise in their box because,^{0,001} were made out of the same old tin,^{0,001} were idling about the streets happened to pass,^{0,001} were floating about and reflecting themselves in it,^{0,001} were but sailing with me in the boat,^{0,001} were born of the same old tin spoon,^{0,001} were all made out of the same old,^{0,001} went so quick that the tin soldier trembled,^{0,001} went down the gutter with the two young,^{0,001} well on his one leg as the others,^{0,001} well as the beautiful castle with the pretty,^{0,001} weakness would have been unbecoming in a soldier,^{0,001} we are five and twenty of us in,^{0,001} waxen swans which were swimming about on it,^{0,001} wax swans were floating about and reflecting themselves,^{0,001} wax swans that swam on its surface were,^{0,001} wax swam on the lake and watched their,^{0,001} waters widened into a large sheet that fell,^{0,001} waters now closed over the tin soldier's,^{0,001} water was up to his neck and still,^{0,001} water rat who lived under the gutter plank,^{0,001} water of the gutter fell perpendicularly into a,^{0,001} water in the drain carried the boat along,^{0,001} water had now reached up to the soldier, was worse than being in the tunnel even, was very pretty but prettiest of all was, was up to his neck and still the, was to him just as dangerous a passage, was the troll or the draught that did, was the time for the toys to play, was the same grand castle with the pretty, was the same fine castle with the pretty, was the pretty castle with the graceful dancer, was the little lady who stood in the, was the heat from the fire or from, was the goblin or the draught which was, was taken off the box wherein they lay, was such a racket that the canary bird, was such a din that the canary bird, was strewed with a number of other toys, was still standing on one leg with the, was standing up to his neck in water, was standing right outside the open gate of, was standing on the tip of her toes, was so near to it that he could, was so near the end now that it, was so near it he could not possibly, was so much noise that the canary woke, was so much moved that he was ready, was so much moved that he nearly shed, was sinking to the bottom when a great, was raised so high into the air that, was now so near this point that he, was now so near the precipice that he, was now so close that he could no, was nothing left of the little dancer but, was not tin enough to fill the mold, was not quite enough tin left to finish, was made to look like a clear lake, was lifting up one leg so high in, was lifted so high behind her that the, was lifted off their box on his birthday, was left of the dancer was her spangle, was just this soldier who became worth talking, was just as steadfast on his one leg, was just as persevering on his one leg, was just as firm on his one leg, was just as dark as if he had, was instantly swallowed up by a huge fish, was in the very same room in which, was in the very room where he fell, was in the very room in which he, was in the same room in which he, was his birthday and they had just been, was full of water to the very edge, was flung across her shoulders like a scarf, was filling with water to the very edge, was enough to frighten even a bold man, was eager to see the wonderful man who, was desirous of seeing such a celebrated man, was darker than under the gutter plank and, was cutting him up with a large knife, was caused by the goblin or by a, was but here at my side in the, was beneath his dignity to shout aloud because, was as perilous to him as it would, was as if a flash of lightning had, was as dark as the soldier's own, was as dark as his box had been, was as dangerous to him as a waterfall, was as dangerous for the tin soldier as, was already so near it that he could, was a pretty little castle made of cardboard, was a little maiden standing at the open, was a little lady who was standing right, was a little damsel standing in the open, was a little boy who shouted this as, was a little boy who made this exclamation, was a little boy clapping his hands and, was a kind of jack in the box, was a bright spangle as big as her, wanted to see this remarkable traveler who had, wanted to see the remarkable man who had, wanted to see the hero who had been, waited to see the famous man who had, very same room that he had been in, very same room in which he had been, very room where he fell out of the, very room in which he had been before, very pretty but prettiest of all was the, very first thing in the world that they, veered round so quickly that the tin soldier, us to sail down a waterfall in a, us to be carried down a great waterfall, upon his one leg as the others on, upon his one leg as the others did, upon a time five and twenty tin soldiers, up to his neck and still the boat, up they put the tin soldier on the, up the tin soldier and threw him into, up the soldier between her finger and thumb, up the ashes she found him in the, up one leg so high in the air, up on the point of one of her, under the gutter plank and it was so, under a long tunnel that was as dark, under a long plank where the gutter was, under a long bridge that lay across the, two young rascallions running beside him and clapping, two who stayed still were the tin soldier, two who did not move were the tin, two who did not move from their places, two paving stones and his leg pointing up, two boys that were idling about the streets, two boys ran beside him and clapped their, twice as dark here for all that i, turned round so quickly that the tin soldier, turned about so rapidly that the tin soldier, tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a great, tunnel that was as dark as his box, tunnel ended the stream rushed straight into the, trod upon him they could not see him, trees were placed round a looking glass which, trees surrounding a tiny mirror which looked like, trees around a little mirror supposed to represent, travels or whether it was the result of, travelled about in the stomach of a fish, thing in the world that they heard was, they were the offspring of the same old, they were so near him that they almost, they were placed was strewed with a number, they were made out of the same old, they were born of the same old tin, they were all made out of the same, they shouldered their muskets and looked straight ahead, they shouldered their guns and looked straight in, they put the tin soldier on the window, they made a little boat out of newspaper, they made a boat out of an old, they had just been given to him as, they had been placed stood many other toys, they had been placed stood many other playthings, they had been given him on his birthday, they had all been made out of one, they had all been born of one old, they almost trod upon him they could not, there will be no harm in my making, there were some little trees surrounding a small, there were once upon a time five and, there were many other playthings on the table, there was the same grand castle with the, there was the same fine castle with the, there was the pretty castle with the graceful, there was such a racket that the canary, there was such a din that the canary, there was so much noise that the canary, there was nothing left of the little dancer, there was not tin enough to fill the, there was not quite enough tin left to, there was no snuff in it at all, there was a streak of light through him, there the steadfast little tin soldier lay full, there sounded a roaring enough to frighten any, there he stood as firmly on his one, there he could have a good look at, there he could easily watch the little dainty, there had not been enough tin to finish, there came along a great water rat that, there are twenty five of us in there, there are five and twenty of us to, there are five and twenty of us in, there are all our five and twenty men, thence he could watch the dainty little lady, thence he could peep at the delicate little, then veered round so quickly that the tin, then there are five and twenty of us, then the toys commenced to play and amuse, then the toys began to play at visiting, then the fish flopped and floundered in a, then she lifted one foot so high in, then she lifted her leg so high that, then one of the little boys took up, then it turned about so rapidly that the, then it certainly had rained cats and dogs, then he stretched himself out behind a snuff, then he lay down full length behind a, then he lay down at full length behind, then he laid himself down at full length, then a flash of lightning seemed to dart, then the beautiful castle with the pretty little, their muskets and looked straight ahead of them, their guns and looked straight in front of, their box because they wanted to join in, the wonderful man who had travelled in the, the window flew open and the soldier pitched, the window flew open and out fell the, the window flew open all of a sudden, the waxen swans which were swimming about on, the wax swans that swam on its surface, the waters widened into a large sheet that, the waters now closed over the tin soldier, the water went over the soldier s head, the water was up to his neck and, the water rushed out into a big canal, the water of the gutter fell perpendicularly into, the water in the drain carried the boat, the water had now reached up to the, the water closed over the soldier s head, the very same room that he had been, the very same room in which he had, the very room where he fell out of, the very room in which he had been, the very one who is to become famous, the very first thing in the world that, the two young rapsallions running beside him and, the two boys ran beside him and clapped, the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a, the tunnel ended the stream rushed straight into, the troll or the draught that did it, the toys were still standing on the table, the toys were all standing on the table, the toys made such a noise that they, the toys commenced to play and amuse themselves, the toys began to play among themselves at, the toy that most took the eye was, the tin soldiers were set out were several, the tin soldiers were put in their box, the tin soldiers were making a noise in, the tin soldiers rustled about in their box, the tin soldiers rattled about in their box, the tin soldier was very nearly shaken overboard, the tin soldier was standing up to his, the tin soldier was so much moved that, the tin soldier was sinking to the bottom, the tin soldier was placed on the window, the tin soldier was now lighted up by, the tin soldier was not the more conceited, the tin soldier was just as steadfast on, the tin soldier was in the very same, the tin soldier was in the same room, the tin soldier was as dauntless as ever, the tin soldier took no pride in it, the tin soldier stood there quite in the, the tin soldier stood there dressed in flames, the tin soldier so deeply that he was, the tin soldier s resolution was as constant, the tin soldier pretended not to have heard, the tin soldier now stood in a blaze, the tin soldier melted down to a lump, the tin soldier melted down into a lump, the tin soldier melted down into a little, the tin soldier made as if he did, the tin soldier found himself once more in, the tin soldier couldn't see it at, the tin soldier couldn't find it anywhere, the tin soldier could see the bright daylight, the tin soldier could see absolutely nothing of, the tin soldier could not see it at, the tin soldier could already see the bright, the tin soldier could already see daylight where, the tin soldier could already see daylight before, the tin soldier could already see daylight at, the tin soldier could already catch a glimpse, the tin soldier by the middle with two, the tin soldier as sailing down a mighty, the tin soldier appeared as if he did, the tin soldier and threw him right into, the tin soldier and threw him into the, the tin soldier and flung him into the, the table with the soldiers were many other, the table where they were being set up, the table where they had been placed stood, the table where the tin soldiers were set, the table on which they were placed was, the table on which they were being set, the table on which they had been placed, the street at once to look for him, the stream rushed straight into the big canal, the stream it went so quick that the, the steadfast little tin soldier lay full length, the spice box was at the bottom of, the soldier was once more in the broad, the soldiers were exactly alike with one exception, the soldiers resembled each other to a hair, the soldier was so much moved that he, the soldier was set on the window ledge, the soldier was reduced to a mere lump, the soldier was melted to a hard lump, the soldier up bodily between her two fingers, the soldier so deeply that he would have, the soldier round the body with two fingers, the soldier pitched out headlong from the third, the soldier kept quiet and held his musket, the soldier could see daylight ahead where the, the soldier and threw him without ceremony into, the soldier and carried him into the parlor, the snuffbox must have put him up to, the snuff box was to blame for that, the snuff box must have had a hand, the slate pencil squeaked out jokes on the, the slate pencil played at commerce on the, the slate pencil did all sorts of tricks, the servant maid took the ashes out the, the servant maid and the little boy came, the servant girl was cutting him up with, the servant girl took out the ashes next, the servant girl and the little boy went, the servant girl and the little boy ran, the same time he heard a roaring noise, the same room in which he had been, the same moment he was swallowed up by, the same moment he was swallowed by a, the same grand castle with the pretty little, the same fine castle with the pretty little, the rush of the water in the drain, the remarkable man who had traveled about in, the real fire or from love he did, the rain was over two boys came past, the pretty little dancer whom he'd never, the pretty dancer nothing was left except her, the prettiest thing of all was a little, the prettiest of all was a diminutive lady, the precipice that he could no longer keep, the poor tin soldier summoned up all his, the poor tin soldier stood as staunch as, the poor tin soldier kept as stiff as, the poor tin soldier keeping himself as stiff, the poor tin soldier held himself as stiffly, the playthings now began to play in their, the playthings began to play at various games, the paving stones and his one leg stuck, the paper gave way entirely and the soldier, the other tin soldiers were put back into, the other tin soldiers were put away into, the other tin soldiers were put away in, the other tin soldiers went into their box, the other soldiers were put into their box, the only two who stayed still were the, the only two who did not move were, the only two who did not move from, the only ones who did not move from, the old nursery rhyme was ringing in his, the offspring of the same old tin spoon, the nursery maid and the little boy came, the noble castle and the elegant little dancer, the night came all the other tin soldiers, the nicest of all was a pretty little, the most remarkable of all was a splendid, the most charming of them all was a, the most beautiful thing was a little lady, the most attractive amongst them being a pretty, the morning when the children got up they, the morning came and the children were up, the midst of this scarf was set a, the middle with a glittering rose made of, the middle of this was placed a tinsel, the middle of this ribbon was a shining, the middle of the stream it went so, the middle of it was a bright spangle, the middle of it shone a spangle that, the maid took the ashes out the next, the maid took away the ashes next morning, the maid servant and the little boy ran, the maid servant and the little boy immediately, the little windows one could see straight into, the little maiden were with me in the, the little maiden were but sailing with me, the little maid was stretching out both arms,^{0,001} the little lady who stood in the open,^{0,001} the little lady were sitting beside me in,^{0,001} the little lady were only here along with,^{0,001} the little lady was stretching out both her,^{0,001} the little lady was but here at my,^{0,001} the little lady only sat here with me,^{0,001} the little lady held out both her arms,^{0,001} the little goblin in the snuff box was,^{0,001} the little dancer and she fluttered like a,^{0,001} the little boys took the soldier and threw,^{0,001} the little boys snatched up the tin soldier,^{0,001} the little boy went downstairs immediately to look,^{0,001} the little boy ran down to look for,^{0,001} the little boy ran down into the street,^{0,001} the little boy ran down at once to,^{0,001} the little boy immediately came down to look,^{0,001} the lid was taken off the box wherein,^{0,001} the lid was lifted off their box on,^{0,001} the lid of the box in which they,^{0,001} the lake and watched their reflection in it,^{0,001} the imp in the spice box was at,^{0,001} ^{0,001} the identical room in which he had been,^{0,001} the housemaid and the little boy ran down,^{0,001} the hero who had been found inside a,^{0,001} the heat from the fire or from his,^{0,001} the gutter with the two young rascallions running,^{0,001} the gutter plank and it was so cramped,^{0,001} the gutter fell perpendicularly into a great canal,^{0,001} the gutter discharged itself into a great canal,^{0,001} the goodness to keep your eyes to yourself,^{0,001} the goblin or the draught which was the,^{0,001} the goblin or by a puff of wind,^{0,001} the goblin in the box who put this,^{0,001} the gnome in the box was at the,^{0,001} ^{0,001} the flames or from his love he didn't,^{0,001} the fish rushed about and made the most,^{0,001} the fish had been caught and brought to,^{0,001} the fish flopped and floundered in a most,^{0,001} the first words they heard in this world,^{0,001} the first words that they heard in this,^{0,001} the first word that they heard in this,^{0,001} the first thing they heard in this world,^{0,001} the first thing they heard in their new,^{0,001} the first thing they had heard in the,^{0,001} the fault of the jack in the box,^{0,001} the famous man who had traveled about in,^{0,001} the eye was a neat castle of cardboard,^{0,001} the evening the other soldiers were put into,^{0,001} the evening came the other tin soldiers were,^{0,001} the evening all the other tin soldiers were,^{0,001} the end of the tunnel the gutter discharged,^{0,001} the end of the drain the water rushed,^{0,001} the end of that gutter plank the water,^{0,001} the end now that it was impossible to,^{0,001} the drops fell faster and faster till they,^{0,001} the draught which was the cause of it,^{0,001} the draught caught the little dancer and she,^{0,001} the drain the water rushed out into a,^{0,001} the drain carried the boat along faster and,^{0,001} the dancer was left nothing but the tinsel,^{0,001} the dancer there remained only the gold wing,^{0,001} the dancer nothing remained but the tinsel rose,^{0,001} the dance one of her legs was raised,^{0,001} the dainty little dancer who kept standing on,^{0,001} the cook was opening it with a large,^{0,001} the cook had cut it open with a,^{0,001} the cook cut it open with a large,^{0,001} the cook cut him open with her big,^{0,001} the cook cut him open with a large,^{0,001} the cook cut him open with a big,^{0,001} the conjuror in the snuff box must have,^{0,001} the colors had quite run off from him,^{0,001} the clearest muslin and a narrow blue ribbon,^{0,001} the children got up they put the tin,^{0,001} the chief thing which caught the eye was,^{0,001} the castle were miniature trees around a little,^{0,001} the castle stood some little trees surrounding a,^{0,001} the castle some small trees were placed round,^{0,001} the canary woke up and began to talk,^{0,001} the canary woke up and began to chatter,^{0,001} the bright daylight where the arch of the,^{0,001} the bright daylight at the end of the,^{0,001} the bright day light before the boat came,^{0,001} the brave tin soldier melted down into a,^{0,001} the boys running along by the side and,^{0,001} the box who put this into his head,^{0,001} the box was at the bottom of it,^{0,001} the box in which they lay was taken,^{0,001} the bottom when a great fish snapped him,^{0,001} the boat swirled round three or four times,^{0,001} the boat shot under a long bridge that,^{0,001} the boat sailed under a long gutter board,^{0,001} the boat rushed under a long plank where,^{0,001} the boat passed under a long tunnel that,^{0,001} the boat now spun round three or four,^{0,001} the boat it might be twice as dark,^{0,001} the boat drifted under a long wooden tunnel,^{0,001} the bits of wood and straw which were,^{0,001} the beautiful castle with the pretty little dancing,^{0,001} the beautiful castle with the pretty little dancer,^{0,001} the ashes she found him in the shape,^{0,001} the air that the tin soldier couldn't,^{0,001} the air that the tin soldier could see,^{0,001} that would not have been fitting for a,^{0,001} that would have been as full of peril,^{0,001} that would be the very wife for me,^{0,001} that would be just the wife for me,^{0,001} that were idling about the streets happened to,^{0,001} that was meant to represent a transparent lake,^{0,001} that was left of the dancer was her,^{0,001} that was burnt as black as a coal,^{0,001} that was burned as black as a coal,^{0,001} that was as dark as his box had,^{0,001} that was a little different to the rest,^{0,001} that touched the soldier so deeply that he,^{0,001} that the tin soldier was very nearly shaken,^{0,001} that the tin soldier lost sight of it,^{0,001} that the tin soldier couldn't see it,^{0,001} that the tin soldier couldn't find it,^{0,001} that the tin soldier could see absolutely nothing,^{0,001} that the tin soldier could not find it,^{0,001} that the gnome in the box was at,^{0,001} that the canary woke up and joined in,^{0,001} that swam on its surface were reflected in,^{0,001} that she had only one leg like himself,^{0,001} that point he could have a good look,^{0,001} that nobody should say of him that he,^{0,001} that no eye could miss was a marvelous,^{0,001} that most took the eye was a neat,^{0,001} that moment he was swallowed up by a,^{0,001} that moment he was swallowed by a most,^{0,001} that moment he was swallowed by a great,^{0,001} that lived under the bridge of the gutter,^{0,001} that it made the soldier's head spin,^{0,001} that it had just been raining by the,^{0,001} that he was ready to shed tears of,^{0,001} that he so much as blinked an eye,^{0,001} that he shouldn't look at the little,^{0,001} that he had even so much as winked,^{0,001} ^{0,001} that he could not hold on any longer,^{0,001} that he could no longer keep himself back,^{0,001} that gutter plank the water poured into the,^{0,001} that fell into the mouth of a sewer,^{0,001} that black bogey in the snuffbox must have,^{0,001} that aren't intended for the likes of,^{0,001} than under the gutter plank and it was,^{0,001} teeth as he called to the sticks and,^{0,001} teeth and shouted to the bits of stick,^{0,001} taken off the box in which they were,^{0,001} taken off the box in which they lay,^{0,001} take his eyes off her for a single,^{0,001} take his eyes off her for a moment,^{0,001} ^{0,001} table with the soldiers were many other playthings,^{0,001} table where they had been placed stood many,^{0,001} table where the tin soldiers were set out,^{0,001} table on which they were placed was strewed,^{0,001} table on which they were being set out,^{0,001} table on which they had been placed stood,^{0,001} t look at things that aren't intended,^{0,001} t forget that it had just been raining,^{0,001} sylph straight into the stove to the tin,^{0,001} sylph right into the stove beside the tin,^{0,001} sylph just into the stove to the tin,^{0,001} swans were floating about and reflecting themselves in,^{0,001} swans that swam on its surface were reflected,^{0,001} swans made of wax swam on the lake,^{0,001} swam on the lake and watched their reflection,^{0,001} swam on its surface were reflected in the,^{0,001} surrounding a tiny mirror which looked like a,^{0,001} surface reflected the waxen swans which were swimming,^{0,001} suddenly there came along a great water rat,^{0,001} suddenly the door of the room flew open,^{0,001} suddenly the boat rushed under a long plank,^{0,001} sudden the window flew open and the soldier,^{0,001} such weakness would have been unbecoming in a,^{0,001} such a situation was as perilous to him,^{0,001} such a racket that the canary bird waked,^{0,001} such a noise that they woke up the,^{0,001} such a din that the canary bird awoke,^{0,001} struck through him like a flash of lightning,^{0,001} stretched himself out behind a snuff box that,^{0,001} stream it went so quick that the tin,^{0,001} straw which were floating about in the drain,^{0,001} straight up on the point of one of,^{0,001} straight into the stove to the tin soldier,^{0,001} stood straight up on the point of one,^{0,001} stood some small trees and a little looking,^{0,001} stood some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror,^{0,001} stood on one leg without losing her balance,^{0,001} stood just as well on his one leg,^{0,001} stood just as firmly on his one leg,^{0,001} stood just as firm on his one leg,^{0,001} stood in the open doorway of the castle,^{0,001} stood firm with his gun on his shoulder,^{0,001} stood at the open door of the castle,^{0,001} stood as stiff as ever on tip toe,^{0,001} stones and his one leg stuck straight in,^{0,001} stones and his leg pointing up in the,^{0,001} still were the tin soldier and the little,^{0,001} still stood on one leg without losing her,^{0,001} still standing on one leg with the other,^{0,001} still i must try and scrape acquaintance with,^{0,001} still he stood firm with his gun on,^{0,001} still as stiff as when he stood at,^{0,001} still and there was a streak of light,^{0,001} sticking between two paving stones and his leg,^{0,001} steady on one leg as any of the,^{0,001} stayed still were the tin soldier and the,^{0,001} stationed himself behind a snuff box that stood,^{0,001} standing right outside the open gate of the,^{0,001} standing on one leg without ever losing her,^{0,001} standing on one leg with the other high,^{0,001} standing in the open doorway of the castle,^{0,001} standing at the open door of the castle,^{0,001} spice box was at the bottom of this,^{0,001} spangle that was as big as her face,^{0,001} sounded a roaring enough to frighten any brave,^{0,001} sometimes whirled round so fast that the tin,^{0,001} sometimes turned round so quickly that the tin,^{0,001} sometimes it whirled about so rapidly that it,^{0,001} something struck through him like a flash of,^{0,001} something like a flash of lightning passed through,^{0,001} some small trees were placed round a looking,^{0,001} some small trees and a little looking glass,^{0,001} some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror which,^{0,001} soldier was once more in the broad daylight,^{0,001} soldiers were set out were several other playthings,^{0,001} soldiers were making a noise in their box,^{0,001} soldier was standing up to his neck in,^{0,001} soldier was so much moved that he was,^{0,001} soldier was so much moved that he nearly,^{0,001} soldier was sinking to the bottom when a,^{0,001} soldier was now lighted up by the flames,^{0,001} soldier was not the more conceited for that,^{0,001} soldier was just as steadfast on his one,^{0,001} soldier was in the very same room in,^{0,001} soldier was in the very room where he,^{0,001} soldier was in the very room in which,^{0,001} soldier was in the same room in which,^{0,001} soldier was exactly the image of the other,^{0,001} soldier was exactly like the other in shape,^{0,001} soldier so deeply that he would have cried,^{0,001} soldier so deeply that he was fit to,^{0,001} soldier's resolution was as constant as ever,^{0,001} soldier pitched out headlong from the third floor,^{0,001} soldier now stood in a blaze of red,^{0,001} soldier made as if he did not hear,^{0,001} soldier kept quiet and held his musket tighter,^{0,001} soldier kept as stiff as ever he could,^{0,001} soldier keeping himself as stiff as he could,^{0,001} soldier it is whose fortunes seem to us,^{0,001} soldier held himself as stiffly as he could,^{0,001} soldier held himself as stiff as he could,^{0,001} soldier held himself as stiff and immovable as,^{0,001} soldier found himself once more in the identical,^{0,001} soldier fell head foremost from the third story,^{0,001} soldier fell head foremost from the third storey,^{0,001} soldier could see the bright daylight where the,^{0,001} soldier could see daylight ahead where the board,^{0,001} soldier could already see the bright daylight at,^{0,001} soldier could already see daylight where the tunnel,^{0,001} soldier could already see daylight before him at,^{0,001} soldier could already see daylight at the point,^{0,001} soldier could already catch a glimpse of the,^{0,001} soldier by the middle with two of her,^{0,001} soldier as sailing down a mighty waterfall would,^{0,001} soldier appeared as if he did not hear,^{0,001} soldier and threw him without ceremony into the,^{0,001} soldier and threw him right into the fire,^{0,001} so they made a little boat out of,^{0,001} so they made a boat out of an,^{0,001} so rapidly that the tin soldier was very,^{0,001} so rapidly that it made the soldier s,^{0,001} ^{0,001} so quickly that the tin soldier became quite,^{0,001} so now the playthings began to play at,^{0,001} so near to it that he could not,^{0,001}

so near this point that he could not,^{0,001} so near the precipice that he could no,^{0,001} so near the end now that it was,^{0,001} so near it that he could not stop,^{0,001} ^{0,001} so near it he could not possibly stop,^{0,001} so near him that they almost trod on,^{0,001} so much noise that the canary woke up,^{0,001} so much moved that he was ready to,^{0,001} so much moved that he nearly shed tears,^{0,001} so high that the tin soldier lost sight,^{0,001} so high that the tin soldier could not,^{0,001} so high into the air that the tin,^{0,001} so high behind her that the tin soldier,^{0,001} so he stationed himself behind a snuff box,^{0,001} so he lost no time in setting them,^{0,001} so deeply that he would have cried tin,^{0,001} so deeply that he was fit to weep,^{0,001} so close that he could no longer stand,^{0,001} snuffbox must have put him up to it,^{0,001} snuff box that happened to be on the,^{0,001} snuff box must have had a hand in,^{0,001} snatched up the tin soldier and threw him,^{0,001} small trees were placed round a looking glass,^{0,001} small boy shouted it and clapped his hands,^{0,001} slate pencil squeaked out jokes on the slate,^{0,001} slate pencil played at commerce on the slate,^{0,001} slate pencil did all sorts of tricks on,^{0,001} sky blue riband was flung across her shoulders,^{0,001} situation was as perilous to him as it,^{0,001} sinking to the bottom when a great fish,^{0,001} showed that the gnome in the box was,^{0,001} shouted to the bits of stick and straw,^{0,001} shouted this as he clapped his hands in,^{0,001} shouted out to all the bits of wood,^{0,001}

one that was a little different to the, one that no eye could miss was a, one should say of him that he even, one should say of him afterwards that he, one only was rather different from the rest, one of the little boys took the soldier, one of the little boys snatched up the, one of her legs was raised so high, one of her legs so high in the, one moment turning his eyes away from her, one might see through the tiny windows into, one leg with the other high in the, one leg was lifted so high behind her, one leg turned over and over in the, one leg so high that the tin soldier, one leg so high in the air that, one leg as the others did upon their, one leg as the others did on two, one leg as any of the other soldiers, one foot so high in the air that, one could say that he moved an eyelid, one could accuse him of having even blinked, one can say that he so much as, once upon a time five and twenty tin, once the window flew open and out fell, once the boat went into a long drain, once the boat sailed under a long gutter, once the boat passed under a long tunnel, once the boat drifted under a long wooden, once one of the little boys took up, once more in the identical room in which, once five and twenty tin soldiers that were, once did he take his eyes off her, on which they were placed was strewn with, on which they had been placed stood many, on the table with the soldiers were many, on the table where they were being set, on the table where they had been placed, on the table where the tin soldiers were, on the table on which they were being, on the table on which they had been, on the point of one of her toes, on the lake and watched their reflection in, on one leg without ever losing her balance, on one leg with the other high in, on one leg as any of the other, on its surface were reflected in the mirror, on in the evening all the other tin, on his travels or whether it was the, on his one leg as the others did, on his head with his leg in the, old nursery rhyme was ringing in his ears, off the box in which they were lying, off she flew like a fairy to the, off flew the lid of the spice box, off by a brilliant spangle as big as, of wood and straw which were floating about, of wax swam on the lake and watched, of this scarf was set a bright gold, of this ribbon was a shining tinsel rose, of them all was a pretty pasteboard castle, of the water in the drain carried the, of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into, of the stream it went so quick that, of the pretty little dancer whom he d, of the pretty dancer nothing was left except, of the little dancer but her gilt rose, of the little boys took up the soldier, of the little boys took the soldier and, of the little boys snatched up the tin, of the gutter fell perpendicularly into a great, of the drain the water rushed out into, of the dancer was left nothing but the, of the dancer there remained only the gold, of the dancer nothing remained but the tinsel, of the clearest muslin and a narrow blue, of the castle were miniature trees around a, of the castle stood some little trees surrounding, of the castle some small trees were placed, of the bright day light before the boat, of the box in which they lay was, of the beautiful dancer remained only the spangle, of that gutter plank the water poured into, of peril as for us to be carried, of it was a bright spangle as big, of it shone a spangle that was as, of him that he had even so much, of her legs was raised so high into, of her legs so high in the air, of all was the little lady who stood, of all was a splendid castle made of, of all was a pretty little castle made, of all was a little maiden standing at, of all was a little lady who was, of all was a little damsel standing in, of a sudden the window flew open and, of a sudden the boat drifted into a, of a newspaper and put the soldier into, of a newspaper and put the soldier in, nursery maid and the little boy came down, now was the time for the toys to, now the water closed over the soldier's, now the two boys ran beside him and, now the toys began to play among themselves, now the playthings began to play at various, now stood in a blaze of red light, now so near this point that he could, now so near the precipice that he could, now so close that he could no longer, now reached up to the soldier's head, now one of the little boys took the, now he was so near to it that, now he was already so near it that, now he began setting them out on the, now closed over the tin soldier's head, now and then veered round so quickly that, now and then it turned about so rapidly, nothing left of the little dancer but her, not think it proper to shout when he, not think it proper to call out loudly, not think it fitting for him to cry, not think it consistent with his uniform to, not quite enough tin left to finish him, not once did he take his eyes off, not move were the tin soldier and the, not move from their places were the tin, not mind if like a sylph just into the stove to, ^{0,001} like a flash of lightning passed through him, ^{0,001} like a fairy to the tin soldier in, ^{0,001} light before the boat came from under the, ^{0,001} lifting up one leg so high in the, ^{0,001} lifted so high behind her that the tin, ^{0,001} lifted one leg so high that the tin, ^{0,001} lifted one foot so high in the air, ^{0,001} lifted her leg so high that the tin, ^{0,001} lid was taken off the box wherein they,
^{0,001} lid was lifted off their box on his, ^{0,001} lid of the box in which they lay, ^{0,001} length behind a snuff box that happened to, ^{0,001} legs was raised so high into the air, ^{0,001} legs so high in the air that the, ^{0,001} leg with the other high in the air, ^{0,001} leg was lifted so high behind her that, ^{0,001} leg turned over and over in the air, ^{0,001} leg so high that the tin soldier lost, ^{0,001} leg so high that the tin soldier could, ^{0,001} leg so high in the air that the, ^{0,001} leg as the others on their two legs, ^{0,001} leg as the others did upon their two, ^{0,001} leg as any of the other soldiers on, ^{0,001} left of the little dancer but her gilt, ^{0,001} lay down on the table behind a snuffbox, ^{0,001} lay down full length behind a snuff box, ^{0,001} lay down at full length behind a snuff, ^{0,001} lay at full length with his gun on, ^{0,001} later on in the evening all the other, ^{0,001} late in the evening the other soldiers were, ^{0,001} last the paper gave way entirely and the, ^{0,001} last it came down in a full stream, ^{0,001} last he became quite still and there was, ^{0,001} large sheet that fell into the mouth of, ^{0,001} landed on his head with his leg in, ^{0,001} laid himself down at full length behind a, ^{0,001} laid himself at full length behind a snuff, ^{0,001} lady who was standing right outside the open, ^{0,001} lady who stood in the open doorway of, ^{0,001} lady were sitting beside me in the boat, ^{0,001} lady were only here along with me in, ^{0,001} lady was but here at my side in, ^{0,001} lady only sat here with me in the, ^{0,001} kitchen where the cook cut him open with, ^{0,001} kept standing on one leg without ever losing, ^{0,001} just this soldier who became worth talking about, ^{0,001} just into the stove to the tin soldier, ^{0,001} just been given to him as a present, ^{0,001} just at that moment he was swallowed by, ^{0,001} just as well on his one leg as, ^{0,001} just as things were going so nicely for, ^{0,001} just as firm on his one leg as,
^{0,001} just as dark as if he had been, ^{0,001} just as dangerous a passage as a big, ^{0,001} its little windows one could look into the, ^{0,001} it would not be becoming for him to, ^{0,001} it would be no place for a lady, ^{0,001} it would be for us to shoot a, ^{0,001} it would be for us to sail down, ^{0,001} it would be for us to go down, ^{0,001} it whirled about so rapidly that it made, ^{0,001} it went so quick that the tin soldier, ^{0,001} it was worse than being in the tunnel, ^{0,001} it was to him just as dangerous a, ^{0,001} it was the wind or the little imp, ^{0,001} it was the troll or the draught that, ^{0,001} it was the heat of the real fire, ^{0,001} it was the heat from the fire or, ^{0,001} it was the goblin or the draught which, ^{0,001} it was over two street boys came along, ^{0,001} it was just this soldier who became worth, ^{0,001} it was just this soldier who became famous, ^{0,001} it was his birthday and they had just, ^{0,001} it was filling with water to the very, ^{0,001} it was filled with water to the edge, ^{0,001} it was even darker than in the drain, ^{0,001} it was darker than under the gutter plank, ^{0,001} it was darker than in the drain tunnel, ^{0,001} it was caused by the goblin or by, ^{0,001} it was burned as black as a coal, ^{0,001} it was beneath his dignity to shout aloud, ^{0,001} it was as if a flash of lightning, ^{0,001} it was as dark as the soldier s, ^{0,001} it was as dangerous to him as a, ^{0,001} it was a little boy who shouted this, ^{0,001} it was a little boy who made this, ^{0,001} it was a bright spangle as big as, ^{0,001} it turned about so rapidly that the tin, ^{0,001} it that he could not hold on any, ^{0,001} it shone a spangle that was as big, ^{0,001} it proper to shout when he was in, ^{0,001} it must have been the goblin in the, ^{0,001} it must have been the fault of the, ^{0,001} it might then be as dark as it, ^{0,001} it might have been from his perilous journey, ^{0,001} it is whose fortunes seem to us worthy, ^{0,001} it is all the fault of that goblin, ^{0,001} it is all the doing of that goblin, ^{0,001} it in his heart to weep tin tears, ^{0,001} it had little windows through which you could, ^{0,001} it had just been raining by the bucketful, ^{0,001} it could be twice as dark here for, ^{0,001} it contemptible to raise an uproar while he, ^{0,001} it consistent with his uniform to cry out, ^{0,001} it came from the flames or from his, ^{0,001} it became as dark as it was in, ^{0,001} it became as dark as if he had, ^{0,001} it as dark here as at home in, ^{0,001} it and clapped his hands as the lid, ^{0,001} is whose fortunes seem to us worthy of, ^{0,001} is the very one who is to become, ^{0,001} into the street at once to look for, ^{0,001} into the air that the tin soldier could, ^{0,001} into a large sheet that fell into the, ^{0,001} in their box because they wanted to join, ^{0,001} in the very same room that he had, ^{0,001} in the very same room in which he, ^{0,001} in the very room where he fell out, ^{0,001} in the very room in which he had, ^{0,001} in the spice box was at the bottom, ^{0,001} in the snuffbox must have put him up, ^{0,001} in the snuff box was to blame for, ^{0,001} in the snuff box must have had a, ^{0,001} in the shape of a small tin heart, ^{0,001} in the same room in which he had, ^{0,001} in the same moment he was swallowed up, ^{0,001} in the morning when the children got up, ^{0,001} in the midst of this scarf was set, ^{0,001} in the middle with a glittering rose made, ^{0,001} in the middle of this was placed a, ^{0,001} in the middle of this ribbon was a, ^{0,001} in the middle of the stream it went, ^{0,001} in the middle of it was a bright, ^{0,001} in the middle of it shone a spangle, ^{0,001} in the identical room in which he had, in the evening the other soldiers were put, in the evening all the other tin soldiers, in the drain carried the boat along faster, in the dance one of her legs was, in the box who put this into his, in the box was at the bottom of,

in the boat it might be twice as, in the air that the tin soldier couldn, in his ears there sounded a roaring enough, in his ears rang the burden of the, in front of the castle were miniature trees, in front of the castle stood some tiny, in front of the castle stood some little, in front of the castle stood little trees, in front of the castle some small trees, in fact he is the very one who, imp in the spice box was at the, if the tin soldier had only called out, if the soldier would only have cried out, if the little maiden were but sailing with, if the little lady were only here along, if the little lady was but here at,
if the little lady only sat here with, if only the little maiden were with me, if only the little lady were sitting beside,
if only i had the little lady with, if a flash of lightning had passed through, idling about the streets happened to pass by, identical tin soldier it is whose fortunes seem, identical room in which he had been before, i would not mind if it were twice, i would not care for its being twice, i wonder where i am off to now, i must try to make friends with her, i must try and scrape acquaintance with her, i must try and get acquainted with her, i have only a box with four and, i have nothing but a box to live, how he gnashed his teeth and shouted to, how fast the water ran down the gutter, how could anything so extraordinary happen in this, housemaid and the little boy ran down to, his travels or whether it was the result, his teeth as he called to the sticks, his teeth and shouted to the bits of, his remains in the shape of a little, his one leg turned over and over in, his one leg stuck straight in the air, his one leg as the others on two, his one leg as the others did upon, his one leg as the others did on, his neck and still the boat went down, his head with his leg in the air, his hands in delight at seeing the soldiers, his hands as the lid was lifted off, his gun being wedged between two paving stones, his eyes off her for a single moment, his ears there sounded a roaring enough to, his ears rang the burden of the old, his dignity to shout aloud because he was, his cap and bayonet stuck fast between the, his birthday and they had just been given, his bayonet sticking between two paving stones and, his bayonet buried between the paving stones and, himself out behind a snuff box that lay, himself once more in the identical room in, himself in the very same room that he, himself down at full length behind a snuff, himself behind a snuff box that stood on, himself at full length behind a snuff box, him that would have been as full of, him that he had even so much as,
him just as dangerous a passage as a, him as a waterfall would be to us, high that the tin soldier lost sight of, high that the tin soldier could not see, high into the air that the tin soldier, high behind her that the tin soldier couldn, hero who had been found inside a fish, here as at home in his own box, her that the tin soldier couldn't see, her legs was raised so high into the, her legs so high in the air that, her leg so high that the tin soldier, held his weapon with a still firmer grasp, held himself as stiff and immovable as possible, heels from the third storey into the street, heat was the result of the actual fire, heat from the fire or from his love, heat came from the real fire or from, heard at the same time a roaring noise, heard a roar that would frighten the bravest, head over heels from the third storey into, he went down the gutter with the two, he was thinking of the pretty little dancer, he was swallowed up by a large fish, he was swallowed up by a great fish, he was swallowed by a most enormous fish, he was so near the end now that, he was so near it he could not, he was ready to shed tears of tin, he was now so near this point that, he was now so near the precipice that, he was now so close that he could, he was nearly going to shed tin tears, he was just as persevering on his one, he was just as firm on his one, he was equally firm on his one leg, he was already so near it that he, he thought of the pretty little dancer whom, he thought it would not be becoming for, he thought it was beneath his dignity to, he thought it contemptible to raise an uproar, he supposed she must have only one leg, he stretched himself out behind a snuff box, he stood just as well on his one, he stood just as firmly on his one, he stood just as firm on his one, he stood firm with his gun on his,
he stationed himself behind a snuff box that, he shouted out to all the bits of, he shouldn't look at the little dander, he shall sail up and down in a, he shall have a sail in a boat, he shall have a sail for once in, he now set them up on the table, he now set them out on the table, he never turned his eyes away from her, he never took his eyes off her for, he lost no time in setting them up, he looked at her and she looked at, he looked a little different as he had, he lay down on the table behind a, he lay down full length behind a snuff, he lay down at full length behind a, he landed on his head with his leg, he laid himself down at full length behind, he laid himself at full length behind a, he immediately set them up on the table, he heard at the same time a roaring, he had only one leg because he had, he had one leg because he had been, he had even so much as winked an, he had a full view of the delicate, he gnashed his teeth and shouted to the, he found it as dark here as at, he found himself in the very same room, he felt a heat that was something terrible, he fell at breathtaking speed and landed cap, he differed from the rest in having only, he did not think it proper to shout, he did not think it proper to call, he did not think it fitting for him, he did not think it consistent with his, he did not give any reason for so, he did it for no reason at all, he cried to the chips of wood and, he could peep at the delicate little lady, he could have found it in his heart, he could easily watch the little dainty lady, he could admire the dainty little dancer who, he clapped his hands in delight at seeing, he believed that she had only one leg, he began setting them out on the table, he became quite still and there was a, he also heard a roar that would frighten, having been melted the last of the batch, have the goodness to keep your eyes to, have only a box with four and twenty, have nothing but a box to live in, have found it in his heart to weep, have been the goblin in the box who, have been the fault of the jack in, have been as full of peril as for, have a sail for once in his life, have a good look at the little lady, have a good look at the elegant little, happened on his travels or whether it was, hands as the lid was lifted off their, had travelled in the maw of a fish, had travelled about in the stomach of a, had traveled about in the stomach of a, had traveled about in the inside of a, had traveled about in a fish's stomach, had only one leg because he had been, had one leg because he had been cast, had on a frock of the clearest muslin, had on a dress of the finest muslin, had now reached up to the soldier's, had now been carried up into the kitchen, had not been enough tin to finish him, had little windows through which you could look, had just been given to him as a, had happened on his travels or whether it, had even so much as winked an eye, had cut it open with a great knife, had been made last when the tin had, had all been made out of one old, had all been born of one old tin, had a full view of the delicate little, gutter with the two young rascallions running beside, gutter plank the water poured into the great, guns and looked straight in front of them, great water rat who lived under the gutter, great water rat that lived in the tunnel, great fish snapped him up and swallowed him, great deal than under the bridge over the, got up they put the tin soldier on, goblin or the draught which was the cause, goblin in the snuff box was to blame, goblin in the box who put this into, gnome in the box was at the bottom, gnashing his teeth as he called to the, gnashed his teeth and shouted to the bits, glimpse of the bright day light before the, given to him because it was his birthday, given to him because it was his birth, girl was cutting him up with a large, girl and the little boy went downstairs immediately, girl and the little boy ran down into, gave way entirely and the soldier fell through, gallant tin soldier did not flinch a bit, full of peril as for us to be, full length with his gun on his shoulder, full length behind a snuff box that happened, front of the castle were miniature trees around, front of the castle stood some tiny trees, front of the castle stood some little trees, front of the castle some small trees were, from this place he had a full view, from thence he could watch the dainty little, from thence he could peep at the delicate, from the third storey into the street below, from the rest in having only one leg, from the real fire or from love he, from the flames or from his love he, from that point he could have a good, found it in his heart to weep tin, found it as dark here as at home, found his remains in the shape of a, found himself once more in the identical room, found himself in the very same room that, found him in the shape of a heart, forget that it had just been raining by, for us to sail down a waterfall in, for us to be carried down a great, for they were the offspring of the same, for they were all made out of the, for they had all been made out of, for they had all been born of one, for the tin soldier as sailing down a, for one moment turning his eyes away from, for him that would have been as full, foot so high in the air that the, ^{0,001} fluttered like a sylph right into the stove, ^{0,001} flopped and floundered in a most unaccountable way, ^{0,001} flew open and the soldier pitched out headlong, ^{0,001} flew open and out fell the little tin, ^{0,001} flew like a sylph straight into the stove, ^{0,001} flew like a sylph just into the stove, ^{0,001} flew like a fairy to the tin soldier, ^{0,001} flash of lightning seemed to dart through him, ^{0,001} flames or from his love he didn't, ^{0,001} five and twenty tin soldiers that were all, ^{0,001} five and twenty of us to share it, ^{0,001} fit to strike terror to the bravest heart, ^{0,001} fish rushed about and made the most frantic, ^{0,001} fish had been caught and brought to market, ^{0,001} fish flopped and floundered in a most unaccountable, ^{0,001} first words that they heard in this world, ^{0,001} first word that they heard in this world, ^{0,001} first thing they heard in their new world, ^{0,001} first thing they had heard in the world, ^{0,001} first thing in the world that they heard, ^{0,001} firm on his one leg as the others, ^{0,001} fire or from love he did not know, ^{0,001} find death in the midst of the battle, ^{0,001} fell faster and faster till they poured down, ^{0,001} fell at breathtaking speed and landed cap first, ^{0,001} fate to find death in the midst of, ^{0,001} fastened in the middle with a glittering rose, ^{0,001} famous man who had traveled about in the, ^{0,001} fairy to the tin soldier in the stove, ^{0,001} fact he is the very one who is, ^{0,001} eye could miss was a marvelous castle of, ^{0,001} except one that was a little different to, ^{0,001} everyone wanted to see this remarkable traveler who, ^{0,001} everyone wanted to see the hero who had, ^{0,001} everybody was desirous of seeing such a celebrated, ^{0,001} everybody wanted to see the remarkable man who, ^{0,001} every one was eager to see the wonderful, ^{0,001} every now and then veered round so quickly, ^{0,001} ever swerving from the tip of one toe, ^{0,001} evening the other soldiers were put into their, ^{0,001} evening came the other tin soldiers were put, ^{0,001} evening all the other tin soldiers were put, ^{0,001} ended the stream rushed straight into the big, ^{0,001} end of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself, ^{0,001} end of the drain the water rushed out, ^{0,001} end of that gutter plank the water poured, ^{0,001} end now that it was impossible to stop, ^{0,001} ears there sounded a roaring enough to frighten, ^{0,001} ears rang the burden of the old song, ^{0,001} eager to see the wonderful man who had, ^{0,001} each soldier was exactly the image of the, ^{0,001} each soldier was exactly like the other in, ^{0,001} drops fell faster and faster till they poured, ^{0,001} dress of the clearest muslin and a narrow, ^{0,001} draught caught the little dancer and she fluttered, ^{0,001} drain the water rushed out into a big, ^{0,001} drain carried the boat along faster and faster, ^{0,001} down the gutter with the two young rascallions, ^{0,001} down so that he stood on his head, ^{0,001} down into the street at once to look, ^{0,001} down a mighty waterfall would be for us, ^{0,001} doubtless the imp in the spice box was, ^{0,001} doubt the little goblin in the snuff box, ^{0,001} don't look at things that aren't, ^{0,001} don't forget that it had just been, ^{0,001} dignity to shout aloud because he was in, ^{0,001} different as he had been cast last of, ^{0,001} differed from the rest in having only one, ^{0,001} did not think it proper to shout when, ^{0,001} did not think it proper to call out, ^{0,001} did not think it fitting for him to, ^{0,001} did not think it consistent with his uniform, ^{0,001} did not move were the tin soldier and, ^{0,001} did not move from their places were the, ^{0,001} did not give any reason for so doing, ^{0,001} did he give any reason for so doing, ^{0,001} did all sorts of tricks on the slate, ^{0,001} deeply that he would have cried tin tears, ^{0,001} deeply that he was fit to weep tin, ^{0,001} deal than under the bridge over the gutter, ^{0,001} daylight where the arch of the drain ended, ^{0,001} daylight before him at the end of the, ^{0,001} daylight at the point where the bridge ended, ^{0,001} day light before the boat came from under, ^{0,001} darker than under the gutter plank and it, ^{0,001} dark here for all that i would care, ^{0,001} dark here as at home in his own, ^{0,001} dangerous to him as a waterfall would be, ^{0,001} dangerous for the tin soldier as sailing down, ^{0,001} dangerous a passage as a big waterfall would, ^{0,001} dancer who kept standing on one leg without, ^{0,001} dancer was left nothing but the tinsel rose, ^{0,001} dance one of her legs was raised so, ^{0,001} damsel standing in the open doorway of the, ^{0,001} dainty little dancer who kept standing on one, ^{0,001} cried to the chips of wood and straw, ^{0,001} could see the bright daylight where the arch, ^{0,001} could see right into the rooms through the, ^{0,001} could see daylight ahead where the board ended, ^{0,001} could miss was a marvelous castle of cardboard, ^{0,001} could have found it in his heart to, ^{0,001} could have a good look at the little, ^{0,001} could have a good look at the elegant, ^{0,001} could be twice as dark here for all, ^{0,001} could anything so extraordinary happen in this world, ^{0,001} could already see the bright daylight at the, ^{0,001} could already see daylight where the tunnel ended, ^{0,001} could already see daylight before him at the, ^{0,001} could already see daylight at the point where, ^{0,001} could already catch a glimpse of the bright, ^{0,001} boys that were idling about the streets happened, boys snatched up the tin soldier and threw, boys running along by the side and clapping, boys ran beside him and clapped their hands, boy who shouted this as he clapped his, boy went downstairs immediately to look after him, boy shouted it and clapped his hands as, boy ran down to look for him and, boy ran down into the street at once, boy ran down at once to look for, boy immediately came down to look for him, box was at the bottom of this too, box was at the bottom of it all, box that happened to be on the table, box must have had a hand in it, box in which they lay was taken off, box because they wanted to join in the, bottom when a great fish snapped him up, both the boys running along by the side, bogey in the snuffbox must have put him, boat shot under a long bridge that lay, boat rushed under a long plank where the, boat passed under a long tunnel that was, boat now spun round three or four times, boat it might be twice as dark for, blue ribbon went over her shoulder for a, blue riband was flung across her shoulders like, black bogey in the snuffbox must have put, bits of wood and straw which were floating, birthday and they had just been given to, between two paving stones and his leg pointing, between the paving stones and his one leg, beneath his dignity to shout aloud because he, believed that she had only one leg like, behind her that the tin soldier couldn't, behind a snuff box that stood on the, behind a snuff box that lay on the, behind a snuff box that happened to be, before the boat came from under the tunnel, before him at the end of the tunnel, been the goblin in the box who put, been the fault of the jack in the, been made out of one old tin spoon, been made last when the tin had run, been as full of peril as for us, because they were born of the same old, because they wanted to join in the fun, became quite still and there was a streak, became as dark as it was in his, became as dark as if he had been, beautiful castle with the pretty little dancing maiden, be twice as dark here for all that, be no harm in my making acquaintance with, be for us to shoot a great rapid, be for us to sail down a waterfall, be for us to go down a waterfall, bayonet sticking between two paving stones and his, bayonet buried between the paving stones and his, away the ashes next morning she found him, away he went down the gutter with the, attractive amongst them being a pretty little paper, at which the boldest heart might well have, at this moment the boat went to pieces, at this moment one of the little boys, at things that aren't intended for the, at the same time he heard a roaring, at the same moment he was swallowed by, at the end of the tunnel the gutter, at the end of the drain the water, at the end of that gutter plank the, at that moment he was swallowed up by, at once the window flew open and out, at once the boat went into a long, at once the boat sailed under a long, at once the boat passed under a long, at once the boat drifted under a long, at once one of the little boys took, at last the water went over his head, at last the paper gave way entirely and, at last it came down in a full, at last he became quite still and there, at full length with his gun on his, at full length behind a snuff box that, ashes she found him in the shape of, as well on his one leg as the, as well as the beautiful castle with the, as things were going so nicely for them, as they were made out of the same, as the lid was lifted off their box, as the beautiful castle with the pretty little, as stiff as when he stood at attention, as steady on one leg as any of, as sailing down a mighty waterfall would be, as perilous to him as it would be, as it would be for us to shoot, as it would be for us to sail, as if a flash of lightning had passed, as he had been cast last of all, as he cried to the chips of wood, as he clapped his hands in delight at, as he called to the sticks and straws, as full of peril as for us to, as for us to be carried down a, as firm on his one leg as the, as dark here for all that i would, as dark here as at home in his, as dark as the soldier's own box, as dangerous to him as a waterfall would, as dangerous for the tin soldier as sailing, as dangerous a passage as a big waterfall, as any of the other soldiers on their, as a big waterfall would be to us, around a little mirror supposed to represent a, aren't intended for the likes of you, are twenty five of us in there already, are five and twenty of us to share, are all our five and twenty men in, appeared as if he did not hear it, any of the other soldiers on their two, and wore the smartest red and blue uniform, and wore a smart red and blue uniform, and whether it was the wind or the, and whether it was the troll or the, and when the servant maid took the ashes, and when the servant girl took out the, and when the maid took the ashes out, and when the maid took away the ashes, and when next morning the maid was taking, ^{0,001} and what a strong tide there was running, ^{0,001} and we are five and twenty of us, ^{0,001} and was lifting up one leg so high, ^{0,001} and was full of water to the very, ^{0,001} and was filled with water to the brim, ^{0,001} and twenty tin soldiers that were all brothers, ^{0,001} and threw him without ceremony into the stove, ^{0,001} and this identical tin soldier it is whose, ^{0,001} and they shouldered their guns and looked straight, ^{0,001} and they had just been given to him, ^{0,001} and they all had the same splendid uniform, ^{0,001} and therefore concluded that she had only one, ^{0,001} and there was the same grand castle with, ^{0,001} and there was the same fine castle with, ^{0,001} and there was the pretty castle with the, ^{0,001} and there was such a din that the, ^{0,001} and there was not tin enough to fill, ^{0,001} and there was not quite enough tin left, ^{0,001} and there was a streak of light through, ^{0,001} and there had not been enough tin to, ^{0,001} and there are twenty five of us in, ^{0,001} and there are five and twenty of us, ^{0,001} and then veered round so quickly that the, ^{0,001} and then there are five and twenty of, ^{0,001} and then she lifted one foot so high, ^{0,001} and then she lifted her leg so high, ^{0,001} and then it turned about so rapidly that, ^{0,001} and then he lay down at full length, ^{0,001} and then he laid himself down at full, ^{0,001} and the waters now closed over the tin, ^{0,001} and the toys were still standing on the, ^{0,001} and the toys were all standing on the, ^{0,001} and the tin soldier was sinking to the, ^{0,001} and the tin soldier was just as steadfast, ^{0,001} and the tin soldier could already see daylight, ^{0,001} and the soldier pitched out headlong from the, ^{0,001} and the slate pencil squeaked out jokes on, ^{0,001} and the slate pencil played at commerce on, ^{0,001} and the slate pencil did all sorts of, ^{0,001} and the same toys stood upon the table, ^{0,001} and the poor tin soldier kept as stiff, ^{0,001} and the pencil scribbled nonsense on the slate, ^{0,001} and the pencil played games on the table, ^{0,001} and the paper was fast dropping to pieces, ^{0,001} and the little boy went downstairs immediately to, ^{0,001} and the little boy ran down to look, ^{0,001} and the little boy ran down into the, ^{0,001} and the little boy ran down at once, ^{0,001} and the little boy immediately came down to, ^{0,001} and the draught of air caught the dancer, ^{0,001} and that was burnt black as a coal, ^{0,001} and that was burnt as black as a, ^{0,001} and that was burned as black as coal, ^{0,001} and that was burned as black as a, ^{0,001} and that was as black as a cinder, ^{0,001} and such a situation was as perilous to, ^{0,001} and straw which were floating about in the, ^{0,001} and soon he was sailing along the gutter, ^{0,001} and sometimes whirled round so fast that the, ^{0,001} and sometimes turned round so quickly that the, ^{0,001} and sometimes it whirled about so rapidly that, ^{0,001} and so he stationed himself behind a snuff, ^{0,001} and shouted to the bits of stick and, ^{0,001} and she lifted one leg so high that, ^{0,001} and she flew like a sylph straight into, ^{0,001} and she flew like a sylph just into, ^{0,001} and raised one of her legs so high, ^{0,001} and put the tin soldier in the middle, ^{0,001} and put the soldier into the middle of, ^{0,001} and one that no eye could miss was, ^{0,001} and one leg was lifted so high behind, ^{0,001} and off she flew like a fairy to, ^{0,001} and now the water closed over the soldier, ^{0,001} and now the paper boat broke beneath him, ^{0,001} and now one of the little boys took, ^{0,001} and now he put them on the table, ^{0,001} and now he began setting them out on, ^{0,001} and now and then whirled round and round, ^{0,001} and now and then it turned about so, ^{0,001} and no one could say that he moved, ^{0,001} and no one can say that he so, ^{0,001} and made him sail up and down the, ^{0,001} and lay at full length with his gun, ^{0,001} and kept the other high in the air, ^{0,001} and just at that moment he was swallowed, ^{0,001} and it was burned as black as a, ^{0,001} and it sounded in the soldier's ears, ^{0,001} and it became as dark as it was, ^{0,001} and it became as dark as if he, ^{0,001} and in the midst of this scarf was, ^{0,001} and in the middle of this was placed, ^{0,001} and in the middle of this ribbon was, ^{0,001} and in the middle of the stream it, ^{0,001} and in the middle of it was a, ^{0,001} and in the middle of it shone a, ^{0,001} and in the dance one of her legs, ^{0,001} and in his ears rang the burden of, ^{0,001} and in front of the castle were miniature, ^{0,001} and how he should never see her again, ^{0,001} and how fast the water ran down the, ^{0,001} and his one leg stuck straight in the, ^{0,001} and his leg pointing up in the air, ^{0,001} and held the other up in the air, ^{0,001} and held the other extended in the air, ^{0,001} and held his weapon with a still firmer, ^{0,001} and he was just as persevering on his, ^{0,001} and he was just as firm on his, ^{0,001} and he supposed she must have only one, ^{0,001} and he now set them up on the, ^{0,001} and he now set them out on the, ^{0,001} and he never turned his eyes away from, ^{0,001} and he laid himself at full length behind, ^{0,001} and he is the one that became famous, ^{0,001} and he had only one leg because he, ^{0,001} and he felt that he was melting away, ^{0,001} and he differed from the rest in having, ^{0,001} and he did not take his eyes off, ^{0,001} and he believed that she had only one, ^{0,001} and had now been carried up into the, ^{0,001} and from thence he could peep at the, ^{0,001} and for him that would have been as, ^{0,001} and felt a heat that was truly terrible, ^{0,001} and every now and then veered round so, ^{0,001} and clapped his hands as the lid was, ^{0,001} and came down so that he stood on, ^{0,001} and called out to the bits of straw,^{0,001} and call out to the wood shavings and,^{0,001} and brought to a kitchen where the cook,^{0,001} and became filled to the brim with water,^{0,001} and bayonet stuck fast between the flag stones,^{0,001} and away he went down the gutter with,^{0,001} and at last the water went over his,^{0,001} and at last it came down in a,^{0,001} and after a while something struck through him,^{0,001} and a narrow blue ribbon over her shoulders,^{0,001} and a little narrow blue ribbon over her,^{0,001} an uproar while he was wearing his uniform,^{0,001} with the two young rascallions running beside him and, with the noble castle and the elegant little dancer, with me in the boat it might be twice, with his bayonet buried between the paving stones and, with a scarf of narrow blue ribbon round her, with a dainty little blue ribbon over her shoulders, windows through which you could see into the rooms, windows through which you could look right inside it, window flew open and the soldier pitched out headlong, window flew open and out fell the little tin, will be no harm in my making acquaintance with, widened into a large sheet that fell into the, whose surface reflected the waxen swans which were swimming, who was standing right outside the open gate of, who stood in the open doorway of the castle, who stood at the open door of the castle, who still stood on one leg without losing her, who stayed still were the tin soldier and the, who shouted this as he clapped his hands in, who remained standing on one leg without losing her, who kept standing on one leg without ever losing, who had travelled in the maw of a fish, who had travelled about in the stomach of a, who had traveled about in the stomach of a, who had traveled about in the inside of a, who had traveled about in a fish's stomach, who had been made last when the tin had, who fluttered like a sylph right into the stove, who did not move were the tin soldier and, who did not move from their places were the, who continued standing on one leg without losing her, whirled round so fast that the tin soldier trembled, whirled about so rapidly that it made the soldier, whilst she held the other high in the air, whilst i have only a box with four and, while something struck through him like a flash of, while i have nothing but a box to live, which was made to look like a clear lake, which was enough to frighten even a bold man, which they were placed was strewed with a number, which they had been placed stood many other playthings, which plainly showed that the gnome in the box, which caught the eye was a delightful paper castle, whether this heat was the result of the actual, whether this heat came from the real fire or, whether this had happened to him on his journey, whether this had happened on his travels or whether, whether it was the wind or the little imp, whether it was the troll or the draught that, whether it was the heat of the real fire, whether it was the heat from the fire or, whether it was the goblin or the draught which, whether it was caused by the goblin or by, whether it came from the flames or from his, where they had been placed stood many other toys, where the tunnel ended the stream rushed straight into, where the tin soldiers were set out were several, where the servant girl was cutting him up with, where the cook was opening it with a large, where the cook had cut it open with a, where the cook cut it open with a large, where the cook cut him open with her big, where the cook cut him open with a large, where the cook cut him open with a big, where it was just as dark as if he, where it was as dark as in his box, where he could admire the dainty little dancer who, where everyone wanted to see the hero who had, where everybody was desirous of seeing such a celebrated, where everybody wanted to see the remarkable man who, where every one was eager to see the wonderful, where all waited to see the famous man who, when the servant maid took the ashes out the, when the servant girl took out the ashes next, when the rain was over two boys came past, when the night came all the other tin soldiers, when the morning came and the children were up, when the maid took the ashes out the next, when the maid took away the ashes next morning, when the lid was taken off the box wherein, when the lid of the box in which they, when the evening came the other tin soldiers were, when the children got up they put the tin, when next morning the maid was taking out the, when it was over two street boys came along, when a servant took up the ashes she found, when a great fish snapped him up and swallowed, what a rough sea there was in that gutter, were with me in the boat it might be, were the offspring of the same old tin spoon, were so near him that they almost trod on, were placed was strewed with a number of other, were placed round a looking glass which was to, were only here along with me in the boat, were once upon a time five and twenty tin, were once five and twenty tin soldiers that were, were miniature trees around a little mirror supposed to, were many other playthings on the table on which, were making a noise in their box because they, were made out of the same old tin spoon, were idling about the streets happened to pass by, were all made out of the same old tin, went down the gutter with the two young rascalls, well on his one leg as the others on, well as the beautiful castle with the pretty little, we are five and twenty of us in that, wax swans were floating about and reflecting themselves in, wax swans that swam on its surface were reflected, wax swam on the lake and watched their reflection, waters widened into a large sheet that fell into, waters now closed over the tin soldier's head, water was up to his neck and still the, water of the gutter fell perpendicularly into a great, water in the drain carried the boat along faster, water had now reached up to the soldier's, was very pretty but prettiest of all was the, was up to his neck and still the boat, was to him just as dangerous a passage as, was the troll or the draught that did it, was the same grand castle with the pretty little, was the same fine castle with the pretty little, was the little lady who stood in the open, was the heat from the fire or from his, was the goblin or the draught which was the, was taken off the box in which they were, was taken off the box in which they lay, was such a racket that the canary bird waked, was such a din that the canary bird awoke, was still standing on one leg with the other, was standing right outside the open gate of the, was so near to it that he could not, was so near the end now that it was, was so near it he could not possibly stop, was so much noise that the canary woke up, was so much moved that he was ready to, was so much moved that he nearly shed tears, was sinking to the bottom when a great fish, was raised so high into the air that the, was now so near this point that he could, was now so near the precipice that he could, was now so close that he could no longer, was nothing left of the little dancer but her, ^{0,001} was not quite enough tin left to finish him, ^{0,001} was lifting up one leg so high in the, ^{0,001} was lifted so high behind her that the tin, ^{0,001} was just this soldier who became worth talking about, ^{0,001} was just as dark as if he had been, ^{0,001} was in the very same room in which he, ^{0,001} was in the very room where he fell out, ^{0,001} was in the very room in which he had, ^{0,001} was in the same room in which he had, ^{0,001} was his birthday and they had just been given, ^{0,001} was eager to see the wonderful man who had, ^{0,001} was darker than under the gutter plank and it, ^{0,001} was caused by the goblin or by a puff, ^{0,001} was but here at my side in the boat, ^{0,001} was beneath his dignity to shout aloud because he, ^{0,001} was as perilous to him as it would be, ^{0,001} was as if a flash of lightning had passed, ^{0,001} was as dark as the soldier's own box, ^{0,001} was as dangerous to him as a waterfall would, ^{0,001} was as dangerous for the tin soldier as sailing, ^{0,001} was already so near it that he could not, ^{0,001} was a little maiden standing at the open door, ^{0,001} was a little lady who was standing right outside, ^{0,001} was a little damsel standing in the open doorway, ^{0,001} was a little boy who shouted this as he, ^{0,001} was a little boy clapping his hands and crying, ^{0,001} was a bright spangle as big as her face, ^{0,001} wanted to see this remarkable traveler who had traveled, ^{0,001} wanted to see the remarkable man who had traveled, ^{0,001} wanted to see the hero who had been found, ^{0,001} wanted to see the famous man who had traveled, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} very same room that he had been in before, ^{0,001} very same room in which he had been before, ^{0,001} very room where he fell out of the window, ^{0,001} very pretty but prettiest of all was the little, ^{0,001} very first thing in the world that they heard, ^{0,001} veered round so quickly that the tin soldier became, ^{0,001} us to sail down a waterfall in a boat, ^{0,001} upon his one leg as the others on their, ^{0,001} upon his one leg as the others did upon, ^{0,001} up to his neck and still the boat went, ^{0,001} up they put the tin soldier on the window, ^{0,001} up the tin soldier and threw him into the, ^{0,001} up the ashes she found him in the shape, ^{0,001} up one leg so high in the air that, ^{0,001} up on the point of one of her toes, ^{0,001} under the gutter plank and it was so cramped, ^{0,001} under a long tunnel that was as dark as, ^{0,001} under a long plank where the gutter was boarded, ^{0,001} under a long bridge that lay across the gutter, ^{0,001} two young rapsallions running beside him and clapping their, ^{0,001} two who stayed still were the tin soldier and, ^{0,001} two who did not move were the tin soldier, ^{0,001} two who did not move from their places were, ^{0,001} two paving stones and his leg pointing up in, ^{0,001} two boys that were idling about the streets happened, ^{0,001} two boys ran beside him and clapped their hands, ^{0,001} twice as dark here for all that i would, ^{0,001} turned round so quickly that the tin soldier trembled, ^{0,001} turned about so rapidly that the tin soldier was, ^{0,001} tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a great canal, ^{0,001} tunnel that was as dark as his box had, ^{0,001} tunnel ended the stream rushed straight into the big, ^{0,001} trees were placed round a looking glass which was, ^{0,001} took up the soldier between her finger and thumb, ^{0,001} took up the ashes she found him in the, ^{0,001} took the tin soldier and threw him right into, ^{0,001} took the tin soldier and flung him into the, ^{0,001} took the soldier round the body with two fingers, ^{0,001} took the soldier and threw him without ceremony into, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} took the soldier and carried him into the parlor, ^{0,001} took the eye was a neat castle of cardboard, ^{0,001} took away the ashes next morning she found him, ^{0,001}

^{0,001} together with the noble castle and the elegant little, ^{0,001} to the bottom when a great fish snapped him, ^{0,001} to see this remarkable traveler who had traveled about, ^{0,001} to see the wonderful man who had travelled in, ^{0,001} to see the remarkable man who had traveled about, ^{0,001} to see the hero who had been found inside, ^{0,001} to see the famous man who had traveled about, ^{0,001} to raise an uproar while he was wearing his, ^{0,001} to it that he could not hold on any, ^{0,001} to his neck and still the boat went down, ^{0,001} to him just as dangerous a passage as a, ^{0,001} to him as a waterfall would be to us, ^{0,001} to find death in the midst of the battle, ^{0,001} to all the bits of wood and straw which, ^{0,001} to a kitchen where the cook cut him open, ^{0,001} tis thy fate to find death in the midst, ^{0,001} bogey in the snuffbox must have put, that aren't intended for the likes of you, than under the gutter plank and it was so, teeth as he called to the sticks and straws, teeth and shouted to the bits of stick and, taken off the box in which they were lying, take his eyes off her for a single moment, table where they had been placed stood many other, table where the tin soldiers were set out were, table on which they were placed was strewn with, table on which they had been placed stood many, t look at things that aren't intended for, t forget that it had just been raining by, sylph straight into the stove to the tin soldier, sylph right into the stove beside the tin soldier, sylph just into the stove to the tin soldier, swans were floating about and reflecting themselves in it, swans that swam on its surface were reflected in, swans made of wax swam on the lake and, swam on the lake and watched their reflection in, swam on its surface were reflected in the mirror, surrounding a tiny mirror which looked like a lake, surface reflected the waxen swans which were swimming about, suddenly there came along a great water rat that, suddenly the boat rushed under a long plank where, sudden the window flew open and the soldier pitched, such weakness would have been unbecoming in a soldier, such a situation was as perilous to him as, such a racket that the canary bird waked up, such a noise that they woke up the canary, stretched himself out behind a snuff box that lay, stream it went so quick that the tin soldier, straight up on the point of one of her, stood straight up on the point of one of, stood some small trees and a little looking glass, stood some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror which, stood just as well on his one leg as, stood just as firm on his one leg as, stones and his one leg stuck straight in the, stones and his leg pointing up in the air, still were the tin soldier and the little dancer, still stood on one leg without losing her balance, still standing on one leg with the other high, still i must try and scrape acquaintance with her, still he stood firm with his gun on his, still as stiff as when he stood at attention, still and there was a streak of light through, sticking between two paving stones and his leg pointing, steady on one leg as any of the other, stayed still were the tin soldier and the little, stationed himself behind a snuff box that stood on, standing right outside the open gate of the castle, standing on one leg without ever losing her balance, standing on one leg with the other high in, spice box was at the bottom of this too, sounded a roaring enough to frighten any brave man, sometimes whirled round so fast that the tin soldier, sometimes turned round so quickly that the tin soldier, sometimes it whirled about so rapidly that it made, something struck through him like a flash of lightning, something like a flash of lightning passed through him, some small trees were placed round a looking glass, some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror which looked, soldiers were making a noise in their box because, soldier was standing up to his neck in water, soldier was so much moved that he was ready, soldier was so much moved that he nearly shed, soldier was sinking to the bottom when a great, soldier was just as steadfast on his one leg, soldier was in the very same room in which, soldier was in the very room where he fell, soldier was in the very room in which he, soldier was in the same room in which he, soldier so deeply that he would have cried tin, soldier so deeply that he was fit to weep, soldier now stood in a blaze of red light, soldier made as if he did not hear him, soldier it is whose fortunes seem to us worthy, soldier held himself as stiff and immovable as possible, soldier found himself once more in the identical room, soldier could see the bright daylight where the arch, soldier could see daylight ahead where the board ended, soldier could already see the bright daylight at the, soldier could already see daylight where the tunnel ended, soldier could already see daylight before him at the, soldier could already see daylight at the point where, soldier could already catch a glimpse of the bright, soldier by the middle with two of her fingers, soldier as sailing down a mighty waterfall would be, soldier appeared as if he did not hear it, soldier and threw him without ceremony into the stove, so they made a little boat out of newspaper, so they made a boat out of an old, so rapidly that the tin soldier was very nearly, so rapidly that it made the soldier's head, so quickly that the tin soldier became quite giddy,^{0,001} so now the playthings began to play at various,^{0,001} so near to it that he could not hold,^{0,001} so near this point that he could not stop,^{0,001} so near the precipice that he could no longer,^{0,001} so near the end now that it was impossible,^{0,001} so near him that they almost trod on him,^{0,001} so much moved that he was ready to shed,^{0,001} so much moved that he nearly shed tears of,^{0,001} so high that the tin soldier lost sight of,^{0,001} so high that the tin soldier could not see,^{0,001} so high into the air that the tin soldier,^{0,001} so high behind her that the tin soldier couldn't,^{0,001} so he stationed himself behind a snuff box that,^{0,001} so he lost no time in setting them up,^{0,001} so deeply that he would have cried tin tears,^{0,001} so deeply that he was fit to weep tin,^{0,001} so close that he could no longer stand upright,^{0,001} snuff box that happened to be on the table,^{0,001} snuff box must have had a hand in it,^{0,001} snatched up the tin soldier and threw him into,^{0,001} of that gutter plank the water poured into the, ^{0,001} of peril as for us to be carried down, ^{0,001} of it was a bright spangle as big as, ^{0,001} of it shone a spangle that was as big, ^{0,001} of him that he had even so much as, ^{0,001} of her legs was raised so high into the, of her legs so high in the air that, of all was the little lady who stood in,

of all was a splendid castle made of cardboard, of all was a pretty little castle made of, of all was a little maiden standing at the,
of all was a little lady who was standing, of all was a little damsel standing in the, of a sudden the window flew open and the,
of a sudden the boat drifted into a drain, of a newspaper and put the soldier into the, of a newspaper and put the soldier in it, nursery maid and the little boy came down at, now was the time for the toys to play, now the water closed over the soldier's head, now the two boys ran beside him and clapped, now the toys began to play among themselves at, now the playthings began to play at various games, now so near this point that he could not, now so near the precipice that he could no, now so close that he could no longer stand, now one of the little boys took the soldier, now he was already so near it that he, now he began setting them out on the table, now and then veered round so quickly that the, now and then it turned about so rapidly that, nothing left of the little dancer but her gilt, not think it proper to shout when he was, not think it fitting for him to cry out, not think it consistent with his uniform to cry, not take his eyes off her for a single, not take his eyes off her for a moment, not once did he take his eyes off her, not move were the tin soldier and the little, not move from their places were the tin soldier, nor did he give any reason for so doing, noise that the canary woke up and joined in, noise in their box because they wanted to join, nobody should say of him that he moved a, nobody should say of him that he had even, no time in setting them up on the table, no one should say of him that he even, no one should say of him afterwards that he, no one could say that he moved an eyelid, no one could accuse him of having even blinked, no one can say that he so much as, no eye could miss was a marvelous castle of, no doubt the little goblin in the snuff box, night came all the other tin soldiers went into, nicest of all was a pretty little castle made, next morning the maid was taking out the ashes, newspaper and put the soldier into the middle of, never took his eyes off her for a moment, never for one moment turning his eyes away from, near to it that he could not hold on, near this point that he could not stop the, near the precipice that he could no longer keep, near the end now that it was impossible to, must have been the goblin in the box who, must have been the fault of the jack in, muslin and a narrow blue ribbon over her shoulders, much moved that he was ready to shed tears, much moved that he nearly shed tears of tin, moved that he was ready to shed tears of, move were the tin soldier and the little dancer, move from their places were the tin soldier and, most took the eye was a neat castle of, most remarkable of all was a splendid castle made, most charming of them all was a pretty pasteboard, most attractive amongst them being a pretty little paper, morning when the children got up they put the, more in the identical room in which he had, moment one of the little boys took up the, moment he was swallowed up by a large fish, moment he was swallowed up by a great fish, moment he was swallowed by a most enormous fish, miniature trees around a little mirror supposed to represent, might see through the tiny windows into the rooms, midst of this scarf was set a bright gold, middle with a glittering rose made of gold paper, middle of this ribbon was a shining tinsel rose, middle of the stream it went so quick that, middle of it was a bright spangle as big, middle of it shone a spangle that was as, meant that he shouldn't look at the little, me in the boat it might be twice as, many other playthings on the table on which they, man who had travelled in the maw of a, man who had traveled about in the stomach of, man who had traveled about in the inside of, making a noise in their box because they wanted, maiden were with me in the boat it might, maiden were but sailing with me in the boat, maiden standing at the open door of the castle, maid took away the ashes next morning she found, maid servant and the little boy ran down at, maid servant and the little boy immediately came down, made such a noise that they woke up the, made of wax swam on the lake and watched, lost no time in setting them up on the, looked a little different as he had been cast, look at things that aren't intended for the, long tunnel that was as dark as his box, little windows through which you could look right inside, little windows one could see straight into the hall, little trees surrounding a tiny mirror which looked like, little sky blue riband was flung across her shoulders, little maiden were with me in the boat it, little maiden were but sailing with me in the, little maiden standing at the open door of the,

he lay down at full length behind a snuff, ^{0,001} he landed on his head with his leg in, ^{0,001} he laid himself down at full length behind a, ^{0,001} he laid himself at full length behind a snuff, ^{0,001} he is the very one who is to become, ^{0,001} he heard at the same time a roaring noise, ^{0,001} he had only one leg because he had been, ^{0,001} he had one leg because he had been cast, ^{0,001} he had even so much as winked an eye, ^{0,001} he had a full view of the delicate little, ^{0,001} he gnashed his teeth and shouted to the bits, ^{0,001} he found it as dark here as at home, ^{0,001}

he found himself in the very same room that, he fell at breathtaking speed and landed cap first, he differed from the rest in having only one, he did not think it proper to shout when, he did not think it proper to call out, he did not think it fitting for him to, he did not think it consistent with his uniform, he did not give any reason for so doing, he cried to the chips of wood and straw, he could have found it in his heart to, he could have a good look at the little, he could have a good look at the elegant, he could admire the dainty little dancer who kept, he clapped his hands in delight at seeing the, he believed that she had only one leg like, he became quite still and there was a streak, he also heard a roar that would frighten the, have the goodness to keep your eyes to yourself, have only a box with four and twenty others, have found it in his heart to weep tin, have been the goblin in the box who put, have been the fault of the jack in the, have been as full of peril as for us, have a good look at the elegant little lady, happened on his travels or whether it was the, hands as the lid was lifted off their box, had travelled about in the stomach of a fish, had traveled about in the stomach of a fish, had traveled about in the inside of a fish, had only one leg because he had been cast, had one leg because he had been cast last, had now reached up to the soldier's head, had little windows through which you could look right, had just been given to him as a present, had happened on his travels or whether it was, had been made last when the tin had run, had all been made out of one old tin, had all been born of one old tin spoon, had a full view of the delicate little lady, gutter with the two young rascallions running beside him, gutter plank the water poured into the great canal, great water rat who lived under the gutter plank, great deal than under the bridge over the gutter, got up they put the tin soldier on the, goblin or the draught which was the cause of, goblin in the snuff box was to blame for, goblin in the box who put this into his, gnome in the box was at the bottom of, gnashing his teeth as he called to the sticks, gnashed his teeth and shouted to the bits of, glimpse of the bright day light before the boat, given to him because it was his birth day, girl was cutting him up with a large knife, girl and the little boy went downstairs immediately to, girl and the little boy ran down into the, full of peril as for us to be carried, full length behind a snuff box that happened to, front of the castle were miniature trees around a, front of the castle stood some little trees surrounding, front of the castle some small trees were placed, from this place he had a full view of, from thence he could watch the dainty little lady, from thence he could peep at the delicate little, from the real fire or from love he did, from the flames or from his love he didn't, from that point he could have a good look, found it in his heart to weep tin tears, found it as dark here as at home in, found his remains in the shape of a little, found himself once more in the identical room in, found himself in the very same room that he, forget that it had just been raining by the, for us to sail down a waterfall in a, for us to be carried down a great waterfall, for they were the offspring of the same old, for they were all made out of the same, for they had all been made out of one, for they had all been born of one old, for the tin soldier as sailing down a mighty, for one moment turning his eyes away from her, for him that would have been as full of, foot so high in the air that the tin, fluttered like a sylph right into the stove beside, flew open and the soldier pitched out headlong from, flew open and out fell the little tin soldier, flew like a sylph straight into the stove to, flew like a sylph just into the stove to, flew like a fairy to the tin soldier in, flames or from his love he didn't know, five and twenty tin soldiers that were all brothers, fish rushed about and made the most frantic movements, fish flopped and floundered in a most unaccountable way, first thing in the world that they heard was, firmly upon his one leg as the others on, firmly upon his one leg as the others did, firmly on his one leg as the others on, firmly on his one leg as the others did, firm on his one leg as the others on, fate to find death in the midst of the, fastened in the middle with a glittering rose made, famous man who had traveled about in the inside, fact he is the very one who is to, eye could miss was a marvelous castle of cardboard, except one that was a little different to the, everyone wanted to see this remarkable traveler who had, everyone wanted to see the hero who had been, everybody was desirous of seeing such a celebrated man, everybody wanted to see the remarkable man who had, every one was eager to see the wonderful man, every now and then veered round so quickly that, evening the other soldiers were put into their box, evening came the other tin soldiers were put away, evening all the other tin soldiers were put back, ended the stream rushed straight into the big canal, ^{0,001} end of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into, ^{0,001} end of the drain the water rushed out into, ^{0,001} end of that gutter plank the water poured into, ^{0,001} ears there sounded a roaring enough to frighten any, ^{0,001} eager to see the wonderful man who had travelled, ^{0,001} each soldier was exactly the image of the other, ^{0,001} each soldier was exactly like the other in shape, ^{0,001} drops fell faster and faster till they poured down, ^{0,001} dress of the clearest muslin and a narrow blue, ^{0,001} draught caught the little dancer and she fluttered like, ^{0,001} drain the water rushed out into a big canal, ^{0,001} down the gutter with the two young rascallions running, ^{0,001} down into the street at once to look for, ^{0,001} doubtless the imp in the spice box was at, ^{0,001} doubt the little goblin in the snuff box was, ^{0,001} don't look at things that aren't intended, ^{0,001} don't forget that it had just been raining, ^{0,001} dignity to shout aloud because he was in uniform, ^{0,001} different as he had been cast last of all, ^{0,001} differed from the rest in having only one leg, ^{0,001} did not think it proper to shout when he, ^{0,001} did not think it proper to call out loudly, ^{0,001} did not think it fitting for him to cry, ^{0,001} did not think it consistent with his uniform to, ^{0,001} did not move were the tin soldier and the, ^{0,001} did not move from their places were the tin, ^{0,001} daylight before him at the end of the tunnel, ^{0,001} day light before the boat came from under the, ^{0,001} darker than under the gutter plank and it was, ^{0,001} dark here as at home in his own box, ^{0,001} dangerous to him as a waterfall would be to, ^{0,001} dangerous for the tin soldier as sailing down a, ^{0,001} dangerous a passage as a big waterfall would be, ^{0,001} dancer who kept standing on one leg without ever, ^{0,001} dance one of her legs was raised so high, ^{0,001} damsel standing in the open doorway of the castle, ^{0,001} dainty little dancer who kept standing on one leg, ^{0,001} could see the bright daylight where the arch of, ^{0,001} could see right into the rooms through the small, ^{0,001} could have found it in his heart to weep, ^{0,001} could have a good look at the little lady, ^{0,001} could have a good look at the elegant little, ^{0,001} could be twice as dark here for all that, ^{0,001} could already see the bright daylight at the end, ^{0,001} could already see daylight before him at the end, ^{0,001} could already see daylight at the point where the, ^{0,001} could already catch a glimpse of the bright day, ^{0,001} could admire the dainty little dancer who kept standing, ^{0,001} cook had cut it open with a great knife, ^{0,001} continued standing on one leg without losing her balance, ^{0,001} contemptible to raise an uproar while he was wearing, ^{0,001} consistent with his uniform to cry out for help, ^{0,001} conjuror in the snuff box must have had a, ^{0,001} clustering round a little mirror intended to represent a, ^{0,001} clearest muslin and a narrow blue ribbon over her, ^{0,001} clapped his hands in delight at seeing the soldiers, ^{0,001} clapped his hands as the lid was lifted off, ^{0,001} children got up they put the tin soldier on, ^{0,001} chief thing which caught the eye was a delightful, ^{0,001} charming of them all was a pretty pasteboard castle, ^{0,001} caused by the goblin or by a puff of, ^{0,001} caught the little dancer and she fluttered like a, ^{0,001} catch a glimpse of the bright day light before, ^{0,001} castle were miniature trees around a little mirror supposed, ^{0,001} castle stood some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror, ^{0,001} castle some small trees were placed round a looking, ^{0,001} cap and bayonet stuck fast between the flag stones, ^{0,001} canary woke up and began to talk to them, ^{0,001} can say that he so much as blinked an, ^{0,001} came the other tin soldiers were put away in, ^{0,001} came from the real fire or from love he, ^{0,001} came from the flames or from his love he, ^{0,001} came down so that he stood on his head, ^{0,001} came along a great water rat that lived in, ^{0,001} came all the other tin soldiers went into their, ^{0,001} called out to the bits of straw and wood, ^{0,001} call out to the wood shavings and the straw, ^{0,001} by this time the soldier was reduced to a, ^{0,001} by the goblin or by a puff of wind, ^{0,001} by a brilliant spangle as big as her whole, ^{0,001} but whether this heat came from the real fire, ^{0,001} but whether this had happened to him on his, ^{0,001} but whether it was the heat of the real, ^{0,001} but whether it was the heat from the fire, ^{0,001} but whether it was the goblin or the draught, ^{0,001} but whether it came from the flames or from, ^{0,001} but what strange things do happen in this world, ^{0,001} but was instantly swallowed up by a huge fish, ^{0,001} but though they almost trod upon him they could, ^{0,001} but there was no snuff in it at all, ^{0,001} but there the steadfast little tin soldier lay full, ^{0,001} but there he stood as firmly on his one, ^{0,001} but then it certainly had rained cats and dogs, ^{0,001} but the toy that most took the eye was, ^{0,001} but the tin soldier was not the more conceited, ^{0,001} but the tin soldier was as dauntless as ever, ^{0,001} but the tin soldier took no pride in it, ^{0,001} but the tin soldier's resolution was as constant, ^{0,001} but the tin soldier pretended not to have heard, ^{0,001} but the tin soldier made as if he did, ^{0,001} but the tin soldier appeared as if he did, ^{0,001} but the rush of the water in the drain, ^{0,001} but the prettiest thing of all was a little, ^{0,001} but the prettiest of all was a diminutive lady, ^{0,001} but the nicest of all was a pretty little, ^{0,001} but the most remarkable of all was a splendid, ^{0,001} but the most charming of them all was a, ^{0,001} but the most beautiful thing was a little lady, ^{0,001} but the chief thing which caught the eye was, ^{0,001} but that would not have been fitting for a, ^{0,001} but such weakness would have been unbecoming in a, ^{0,001}

but she wore a dress of the lightest gauze,^{0,001} but she wore a dress of the clearest muslin,^{0,001} but she had on a frock of the clearest,^{0,001} but she had on a dress of the finest,^{0,001} but she had a skirt of the clearest gauze,^{0,001} but she had a dress of the clearest gauze,^{0,001} but prettiest of all was the little lady who,^{0,001} but prettiest of all was a little damsel standing,^{0,001} but our gallant tin soldier did not flinch a,^{0,001} but of the pretty dancer nothing was left except,^{0,001} but of the dancer was left nothing but the,^{0,001} but in the same moment he was swallowed up,^{0,001} but in his ears there sounded a roaring enough,^{0,001} but i must try to make friends with her,^{0,001} but i must try and get acquainted with her,^{0,001} but he thought it would not be becoming for,^{0,001} but he thought it was beneath his dignity to,^{0,001} but he thought it contemptible to raise an uproar,^{0,001} but he stood just as firm on his one,^{0,001} but he stood as firmly upon his one leg,^{0,001} but he heard at the same time a roaring,^{0,001} but he did not think it proper to shout,^{0,001} but he did not think it proper to call,^{0,001} but he did not think it fitting for him,^{0,001} but he did not think it consistent with his,^{0,001} but he also heard a roar that would frighten,^{0,001} but doubtless the imp in the spice box was,^{0,001} but at the same time he heard a roaring,^{0,001} but at the same moment he was swallowed by,^{0,001} but at that moment he was swallowed up by,^{0,001} but at that moment he was swallowed by a,^{0,001} but all at once the window flew open and,^{0,001} buried between the paving stones and his one leg,^{0,001} brought to a kitchen where the cook cut him,^{0,001} bright daylight where the arch of the drain ended,^{0,001} bright day light before the boat came from under,^{0,001} ^{0,001} brave tin soldier melted down into a little lump,^{0,001} boys took the tin soldier and threw him right,^{0,001} boys took the tin soldier and flung him into,^{0,001} boys took the soldier and threw him without ceremony,^{0,001} boys that were idling about the streets happened to,^{0,001} boys snatched up the tin soldier and threw him,^{0,001} boys running along by the side and clapping their,^{0,001} boy who shouted this as he clapped his hands,^{0,001} ^{0,001} boy shouted it and clapped his hands as the,^{0,001} boy ran down into the street at once to,^{0,001} boy ran down at once to look for him,^{0,001} box because they wanted to join in the fun,^{0,001} bottom when a great fish snapped him up and,^{0,001} both the boys running along by the side and,^{0,001} bogey in the snuffbox must have put him up,^{0,001} boat shot under a long bridge that lay across,^{0,001} boat rushed under a long plank where the gutter,^{0,001} boat passed under a long tunnel that was as,^{0,001} boat it might be twice as dark for all,^{0,001} blue ribbon went over her shoulder for a scarf,^{0,001} blue riband was flung across her shoulders like a,^{0,001} black bogey in the snuffbox must have put him,^{0,001} bits of wood and straw which were floating about,^{0,001} ^{0,001} birthday and they had just been given to him,^{0,001} between two paving stones and his leg pointing up,^{0,001} between the paving stones and his one leg stuck,^{0,001} beneath his dignity to shout aloud because he was,^{0,001} believed that she had only one leg like himself,^{0,001} ^{0,001} behind her that the tin soldier couldn't see,^{0,001} behind a snuff box that stood on the table,^{0,001} behind a snuff box that lay on the table,^{0,001} behind a snuff box that happened to be on,^{0,001} been the goblin in the box who put this,^{0,001} been the fault of the jack in the box,^{0,001} been made last when the tin had run short,^{0,001} been given to him because it was his birthday,^{0,001} been given to him because it was his birth,^{0,001} been as full of peril as for us to,^{0,001} because they were born of the same old tin,^{0,001} became quite still and there was a streak of,^{0,001} became as dark as it was in his box,^{0,001} became as dark as if he had been in,^{0,001} be twice as dark here for all that i,^{0,001} be no harm in my making acquaintance with her,^{0,001} be for us to sail down a waterfall in,^{0,001} bayonet sticking between two paving stones and his leg,^{0,001} bayonet buried between the paving stones and his one,^{0,001} away he went down the gutter with the two,^{0,001} attractive amongst them being a pretty little paper castle,^{0,001} at which the boldest heart might well have trembled,^{0,001} at this moment one of the little boys took,^{0,001} at things that aren't intended for the likes,^{0,001} at the same time he heard a roaring noise,^{0,001} at the same moment he was swallowed by a,^{0,001} at the end of the tunnel the gutter discharged,^{0,001} at the end of the drain the water rushed,^{0,001} at the end of that gutter plank the water,^{0,001} at that moment he was swallowed up by a,^{0,001} at that moment he was swallowed by a most,^{0,001} at that moment he was swallowed by a great,^{0,001} at once the window flew open and out fell,^{0,001} at once the boat went into a long drain,^{0,001} at once the boat sailed under a long gutter,^{0,001} at once the boat passed under a long tunnel,^{0,001} at once the boat drifted under a long wooden,^{0,001} at once one of the little boys took up,^{0,001} at last the paper gave way entirely and the,^{0,001} at last it came down in a full stream,^{0,001} at last he became quite still and there was,^{0,001} at full length with his gun on his shoulder,^{0,001} at full length behind a snuff box that happened,^{0,001} ashes she found him in the shape of a,^{0,001} as well on his one leg as the others,^{0,001} as well as the beautiful castle with the pretty,^{0,001} as they were made out of the same old,^{0,001} as the lid was lifted off their box on,^{0,001} as the beautiful castle with the pretty little dancer,^{0,001} as steady on one leg as any of the,^{0,001} as sailing down a mighty waterfall would be for,^{0,001} as perilous to him as it would be for,^{0,001}

as it would be for us to sail down, as if a flash of lightning had passed through, as he cried to the chips of wood and, as he clapped his hands in delight at seeing, as for us to be carried down a great, as firm on his one leg as the others, as dark here for all that i would care, as dark here as at home in his own, as dangerous to him as a waterfall would be, as dangerous for the tin soldier as sailing down, as dangerous a passage as a big waterfall would, as any of the other soldiers on their two, around a little mirror supposed to represent a lake, are five and twenty of us to share it, are all our five and twenty men in it, and wore the smartest red and blue uniform imaginable, and whether it was the wind or the little, and whether it was the troll or the draught, and when the servant maid took the ashes out, and when the servant girl took out the ashes, and when the maid took the ashes out the, and when the maid took away the ashes next, and when next morning the maid was taking out, and we are five and twenty of us in, and was lifting up one leg so high in, and was full of water to the very edge, and this identical tin soldier it is whose fortunes, and they shouldered their guns and looked straight in, and there was the same grand castle with the, and there was the same fine castle with the, and there was the pretty castle with the graceful, and there was such a din that the canary, and there was not tin enough to fill the, and there was not quite enough tin left to, and there was a streak of light through him, and there had not been enough tin to finish, and there are twenty five of us in there, and there are five and twenty of us in, and then veered round so quickly that the tin, and then there are five and twenty of us, and then she lifted one foot so high in, and then she lifted her leg so high that, and then it turned about so rapidly that the, and then he lay down at full length behind, and then he laid himself down at full length, and the waters now closed over the tin soldier, and the toys were still standing on the table, and the toys were all standing on the table, and the tin soldier was sinking to the bottom, and the tin soldier was just as steadfast on, and the tin soldier could already see daylight at, and the soldier pitched out headlong from the third, and the slate pencil squeaked out jokes on the, and the slate pencil played at commerce on the, and the slate pencil did all sorts of tricks, and the poor tin soldier kept as stiff as, and the little boy went downstairs immediately to look, and the little boy ran down to look for, and the little boy ran down into the street, and the little boy ran down at once to, and the little boy immediately came down to look, and that was burnt as black as a coal, and that was burned as black as a coal, and such a situation was as perilous to him, and straw which were floating about in the drain, and sometimes whirled round so fast that the tin, and sometimes turned round so quickly that the tin, and sometimes it whirled about so rapidly that it, and so he stationed himself behind a snuff box, and shouted to the bits of stick and straw, and she lifted one leg so high that the, and she flew like a sylph straight into the, and she flew like a sylph just into the, and raised one of her legs so high in, and put the tin soldier in the middle of, and put the soldier into the middle of it, and one that no eye could miss was a, and one leg was lifted so high behind her, and off she flew like a fairy to the, and now the water closed over the soldier s, and now one of the little boys took the, and now he began setting them out on the, and now and then it turned about so rapidly, and no one could say that he moved an, and no one can say that he so much, and made him sail up and down the gutter, and lay at full length with his gun on, and just at that moment he was swallowed by, and it was just this soldier who became worth, and it was just this soldier who became famous, and it was burned as black as a coal, and it became as dark as it was in, and it became as dark as if he had, and in the midst of this scarf was set, and in the middle of this was placed a, and in the middle of this ribbon was a, and in the middle of the stream it went, and in the middle of it was a bright, and in the middle of it shone a spangle, and in the dance one of her legs was, and in his ears rang the burden of the, and in front of the castle were miniature trees, and how fast the water ran down the gutter, and his one leg stuck straight in the air, and held his weapon with a still firmer grasp, and he was just as persevering on his one, and he was just as firm on his one, and he supposed she must have only one leg, and he now set them up on the table, and he now set them out on the table, and he never turned his eyes away from her, and he laid himself at full length behind a, and he had only one leg because he had, and he differed from the rest in having only, and he did not take his eyes off her, and he believed that she had only one leg, and had now been carried up into the kitchen, and from thence he could peep at the delicate, and for him that would have been as full, and every now and then veered round so quickly,^{0,001} and clapped his hands as the lid was lifted,^{0,001} and came down so that he stood on his,^{0,001} and called out to the bits of straw and,^{0,001} and call out to the wood shavings and the,^{0,001} and brought to a kitchen where the cook cut,^{0,001} and away he went down the gutter with the,^{0,001} and at last the water went over his head,^{0,001} and at last it came down in a full,^{0,001} and after a while something struck through him like,^{0,001} and a little narrow blue ribbon over her shoulders,^{0,001} among them the beautiful castle with the pretty little,^{0,001} also heard a roar that would frighten the bravest,^{0,001} already so near it that he could not stop,^{0,001}

^{0,003} it might be twice as dark for all i should,^{0,003} did not stir from their places were the tin soldier,^{0,002} would be just as dangerous for him as it would,^{0,002} who continued to stand on one leg without losing her,^{0,002} when the lid was taken off the box in which,^{0,002} they made a boat out of a newspaper and put,
^{0,002} they had been given to him because it was his,^{0,002} then one of the little boys took the tin soldier,^{0,002} the little boy came down at once to look for,^{0,002}

the lid was taken off the box in which they, ^{0,002} that would be just as dangerous for him as it, ^{0,002} such a noise that the canary woke up and began, ^{0,002} stood as firmly upon his one leg as the others, ^{0,002} stood as firmly on his one leg as the others, ^{0,002} so high in the air that the tin soldier could, ^{0,002} one of the little boys took up the tin soldier, ^{0,002} one of the little boys took the tin soldier and, ^{0,002} one leg because he had been cast last of all, ^{0,002} on his one leg as the others on their two, ^{0,002} maid and the little boy came down at once to, ^{0,002} made a boat out of a newspaper and put the, ^{0,002} little boy came down at once to look for him, ^{0,002} length behind a snuff box which was on the table, ^{0,002} just as dangerous for him as it would be for, ^{0,002} high in the air that the tin soldier could not, ^{0,002} he stood as firmly upon his one leg as the, ^{0,002} he stood as firmly on his one leg as the, ^{0,002} he did not take his eyes off her for a, ^{0,002} full length behind a snuff box which was on the, ^{0,002} down at full length behind a snuff box which was, ^{0,002} dangerous for him as it would be for us to, ^{0,002} continued to stand on one leg without losing her balance, ^{0,002} be just as dangerous for him as it would be, ^{0,002} at full length behind a snuff box which was on, ^{0,002} as there was the same grand castle with the pretty little, there was the same fine castle with the pretty little, there was such a racket that the canary bird waked, there was such a din that the canary bird awoke, there was so much noise that the canary woke up, there was nothing left of the little dancer but her, there was not quite enough tin left to finish him, there sounded a roaring enough to frighten any brave man, there he stood as firmly on his one leg as, there he could have a good look at the elegant, there came along a great water rat that lived in,
there are five and twenty of us to share it, there are all our five and twenty men in it, then veered round so quickly that the tin soldier became, then there are five and twenty of us to share, then the tin soldier melted down into a little lump, then the fish flopped and floundered in a most unaccountable, then she lifted one foot so high in the air, then she lifted her leg so high that the tin, then one of the little boys took up the soldier, then it was as if a flash of lightning had,
then it turned about so rapidly that the tin soldier, then he stretched himself out behind a snuff box that, then he lay down full length behind a snuff box, then he lay down at full length behind a snuff, then he laid himself down at full length behind a, then a flash of lightning seemed to dart through him, then the beautiful castle with the pretty little dancing maiden, their box because they wanted to join in the fun, the wonderful man who had travelled in the maw of, the window flew open and the soldier pitched out headlong, the window flew open and out fell the little tin, the wax swans that swam on its surface were reflected, the waters widened into a large sheet that fell into, the waters now closed over the tin soldier's head, the water was up to his neck and still the,
the water of the gutter fell perpendicularly into a great, the water in the drain carried the boat along faster, the water had now reached up to the soldier's, the very same room that he had been in before, the very same room in which he had been before, the very room where he fell out of the window, the very first thing in the world that they heard, the two young rascallions running beside him and clapping their, the two boys ran beside him and clapped their hands, the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a great canal, the tunnel ended the stream rushed straight into the big,
the toys made such a noise that they woke up, the toy that most took the eye was a neat, the tin soldiers were set out were several other playthings, the tin soldiers were making a noise in their box, the tin soldier was standing up to his neck in, the tin soldier was so much moved that he nearly, the tin soldier was sinking to the bottom when a, the tin soldier was now lighted up by the flames, the tin soldier was not the more conceited for that, the tin soldier was just as steadfast on his one, the tin soldier was in the very same room in, the tin soldier was in the very room where he,
the tin soldier was in the very room in which, the tin soldier was in the same room in which, the tin soldier so deeply that he was fit to, the tin soldier's resolution was as constant as ever, the tin soldier now stood in a blaze of red, the tin soldier made as if he did not hear, the tin soldier found himself once more in the identical, the tin soldier could see the bright daylight where the,
the tin soldier could already see the bright daylight at, the tin soldier could already see daylight where the tunnel, the tin soldier could already see daylight before him at, the tin soldier could already see daylight at the point, the tin soldier could already catch a glimpse of the, the tin soldier by the middle with two of her, the tin soldier as sailing down a mighty waterfall would, the tin soldier appeared as if he did not hear, the tin soldier and threw him right into the fire, the table where they had been placed stood many other, the table where the tin soldiers were set out were, the table on which they were placed was strewn with, the table on which they had been placed stood many, the stream it went so quick that the tin soldier, the spice box was at the bottom of this too, the soldier was so much moved that he was ready, the soldier so deeply that he would have cried tin, the soldier could see daylight ahead where the board ended, the soldier and threw him without ceremony into the stove, the snuff box must have had a hand in it, the slate pencil did all sorts of tricks on the, the servant maid took the ashes out the next day, the servant maid and the little boy came down at, the servant girl was cutting him up with a large, the servant girl and the little boy went downstairs immediately,^{0,001} the servant girl and the little boy ran down into,^{0,001} the same moment he was swallowed up by a large,^{0,001} the same moment he was swallowed by a big fish,^{0,001} the rush of the water in the drain carried the,^{0,001} the remarkable man who had traveled about in the stomach,^{0,001} the real fire or from love he did not know,^{0,001} the pretty little dancer whom he'd never see again,^{0,001} the prettiest thing of all was a little maiden standing,^{0,001} the prettiest of all was a little lady who was,^{0,001} the precipice that he could no longer keep himself back,^{0,001} the poor tin soldier stood as staunch as he could,^{0,001} the poor tin soldier kept as stiff as ever he,^{0,001} the poor tin soldier keeping himself as stiff as he,^{0,001} the poor tin soldier held himself as stiffly as he,^{0,001} the poor tin soldier held himself as stiff as he,^{0,001} the poor tin soldier held himself as stiff and immoveable,^{0,001} the paving stones and his one leg stuck straight in,^{0,001} the paper gave way entirely and the soldier fell through,^{0,001} the other tin soldiers were put back into the box,^{0,001} the other tin soldiers were put away into the box,^{0,001} the other tin soldiers were put away in their box,^{0,001} the only two who stayed still were the tin soldier,^{0,001} the only two who did not move were the tin,^{0,001} the only two who did not move from their places,^{0,001} the only ones who did not move from their places,^{0,001} the nursery maid and the little boy came down at,^{0,001} the night came all the other tin soldiers went into,^{0,001} the nicest of all was a pretty little castle made,^{0,001} the most remarkable of all was a splendid castle made,^{0,001} the most charming of them all was a pretty pasteboard,^{0,001} the most attractive amongst them being a pretty little paper,^{0,001} the morning when the children got up they put the,^{0,001} the midst of this scarf was set a bright gold,^{0,001} the middle with a glittering rose made of gold paper,^{0,001} the middle of this ribbon was a shining tinsel rose,^{0,001} the middle of the stream it went so quick that,^{0,001} the middle of it was a bright spangle as big,^{0,001} the middle of it shone a spangle that was as,^{0,001} the maid took away the ashes next morning she found,^{0,001} the maid servant and the little boy ran down at,^{0,001} the maid servant and the little boy immediately came down,^{0,001} the little windows one could see straight into the hall,^{0,001} the little maiden were with me in the boat it,^{0,001} the little maiden were but sailing with me in the,^{0,001} the little lady who stood in the open doorway of,^{0,001} the little lady were sitting beside me in the boat,^{0,001} the little lady were only here along with me in,^{0,001} the little lady was but here at my side in,^{0,001} the little lady only sat here with me in the,^{0,001} the little goblin in the snuff box was to blame,^{0,001} the little boys took the tin soldier and threw him,^{0,001} the little boys took the tin soldier and flung him,^{0,001} the little boys took the soldier and threw him without,^{0,001} the little boys snatched up the tin soldier and threw,^{0,001} the little boy went downstairs immediately to look after him,^{0,001} the little boy ran down to look for him and,^{0,001} the little boy ran down into the street at once,^{0,001} the little boy ran down at once to look for,^{0,001} the little boy immediately came down to look for him,^{0,001} the lid was taken off the box wherein they lay,^{0,001} the lid was lifted off their box on his birthday,^{0,001} the lid of the box in which they lay was,^{0,001} the imp in the spice box was at the bottom,^{0,001} the housemaid and the little boy ran down to look,^{0,001} the gutter with the two young rascallions running beside him,^{0,001} the goblin or the draught which was the cause of,^{0,001} the goblin in the box who put this into his,^{0,001} the gnome in the box was at the bottom of,^{0,001} the flames or from his love he didn't know,^{0,001} the fish rushed about and made the most frantic movements,^{0,001} the fish flopped and floundered in a most unaccountable way,^{0,001} the famous man who had traveled about in the inside,^{0,001} the evening the other soldiers were put into their box,^{0,001} the evening came the other tin soldiers were put away,^{0,001} the evening all the other tin soldiers were put back,^{0,001} the end of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into,^{0,001} the end of the drain the water rushed out into,^{0,001} the end of that gutter plank the water poured into,^{0,001} the drops fell faster and faster till they poured down,^{0,001} the draught caught the little dancer and she fluttered like,^{0,001} the drain the water rushed out into a big canal,^{0,001} the dance one of her legs was raised so high,^{0,001} the dainty little dancer who kept standing on one leg,^{0,001} the cook had cut it open with a great knife,^{0,001} the conjuror in the snuff box must have had a,^{0,001} the clearest muslin and a narrow blue ribbon over her,^{0,001} the children got up they put the tin soldier on,^{0,001} the chief thing which caught the eye was a delightful,^{0,001} the castle were miniature trees around a little mirror supposed,^{0,001}

the castle stood some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror, the castle some small trees were placed round a looking, the canary woke up and began to talk to them, the bright daylight where the arch of the drain ended, the bright day light before the boat came from under, the brave tin soldier melted down into a little lump, the boys running along by the side and clapping their, the bottom when a great fish snapped him up and, the boat shot under a long bridge that lay across, the boat rushed under a long plank where the gutter, the boat passed under a long tunnel that was as, the boat it might be twice as dark for all, the bits of wood and straw which were floating about, the ashes she found him in the shape of a, the air that the tin soldier couldn't find it, the air that the tin soldier could see absolutely nothing, the air that the tin soldier could not see it, the air that the tin soldier could not find it, that would have been as full of peril as for, that were idling about the streets happened to pass by, that touched the soldier so deeply that he would have,
that the tin soldier couldn't see it at all, that the tin soldier could see absolutely nothing of it, that the tin soldier could not see it at all, that the gnome in the box was at the bottom, that the canary woke up and began to talk to, that swam on its surface were reflected in the mirror, that point he could have a good look at the, that nobody should say of him that he had even, that no eye could miss was a marvelous castle of, that most took the eye was a neat castle of, that moment he was swallowed up by a great fish, that moment he was swallowed by a most enormous fish, that he had even so much as winked an eye, that gutter plank the water poured into the great canal, that black bogey in the snuffbox must have put him, than under the gutter plank and it was so cramped, teeth and shouted to the bits of stick and straw, table where they had been placed stood many other toys, table where the tin soldiers were set out were several,
table on which they were placed was strewn with a, table on which they had been placed stood many other, t look at things that aren't intended for the, t forget that it had just been raining by the, swans that swam on its surface were reflected in the, swans made of wax swam on the lake and watched, swam on the lake and watched their reflection in it, surface reflected the waxen swans which were swimming about on, suddenly there came along a great water rat that lived, suddenly the boat rushed under a long plank where the, sudden the window flew open and the soldier pitched out, such a situation was as perilous to him as it, such a noise that they woke up the canary bird, such a noise that the canary woke up and joined, stretched himself out behind a snuff box that lay on, stream it went so quick that the tin soldier trembled, straight up on the point of one of her toes, stood straight up on the point of one of her, stood some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror which looked, stood just as well on his one leg as the, stood just as firm on his one leg as the, stones and his one leg stuck straight in the air, still standing on one leg with the other high in, still he stood firm with his gun on his shoulder, still and there was a streak of light through him, sticking between two paving stones and his leg pointing up, steady on one leg as any of the other soldiers, stayed still were the tin soldier and the little dancer, stationed himself behind a snuff box that stood on the, standing on one leg with the other high in the, sometimes whirled round so fast that the tin soldier trembled, sometimes turned round so quickly that the tin soldier trembled, sometimes it whirled about so rapidly that it made the, some small trees were placed round a looking glass which, some little trees surrounding a tiny mirror which looked like, soldiers were making a noise in their box because they, soldier was so much moved that he was ready to, soldier was so much moved that he nearly shed tears, soldier was sinking to the bottom when a great fish, soldier was in the very same room in which he, soldier was in the very room where he fell out, soldier was in the very room in which he had, soldier was in the same room in which he had, soldier so deeply that he would have cried tin tears, soldier so deeply that he was fit to weep tin, soldier it is whose fortunes seem to us worthy of, soldier found himself once more in the identical room in, soldier could see the bright daylight where the arch of, soldier could already see the bright daylight at the end, soldier could already see daylight before him at the end, soldier could already see daylight at the point where the, soldier could already catch a glimpse of the bright day, plainly showed that the gnome in the box was at, placed round a looking glass which was to represent a, place he had a full view of the delicate little, perilous to him as it would be for us to, peril as for us to be carried down a great, paving stones and his one leg stuck straight in the, paving stones and his leg pointing up in the air, passed under a long tunnel that was as dark as,

over heels from the third storey into the street below, outside there were some little trees surrounding a small mirror, outside stood some small trees and a little looking glass, out to all the bits of wood and straw which, out popped a great water rat who lived under the, out of a newspaper and put the soldier into the, out of a newspaper and put the soldier in it, out behind a snuff box that lay on the table, other playthings on the table on which they were being, open and the soldier pitched out headlong from the third, only two who stayed still were the tin soldier and, only two who did not move were the tin soldier, only two who did not move from their places were, only the little maiden were with me in the boat, only the little lady were sitting beside me in the, only one leg because he had been cast last of, one was eager to see the wonderful man who had, one that no eye could miss was a marvelous castle, one should say of him afterwards that he had flinched, one of the little boys took the soldier and threw, one of the little boys snatched up the tin soldier, one of her legs was raised so high into the, one of her legs so high in the air that, one might see through the tiny windows into the rooms, one leg was lifted so high behind her that the, one leg so high that the tin soldier could not, one leg so high in the air that the tin, one leg as any of the other soldiers on their,
one foot so high in the air that the tin, one can say that he so much as blinked an, once the window flew open and out fell the little,
once the boat passed under a long tunnel that was, once one of the little boys took up the tin, once more in the identical room in which he had, once five and twenty tin soldiers that were all brothers, on which they were placed was strewed with a number, on which they had been placed stood many other playthings, on the table with the soldiers were many other playthings, on the table where they had been placed stood many, on the table where the tin soldiers were set out, on the table on which they were being set out, on the table on which they had been placed stood, on one leg with the other high in the air, on one leg as any of the other soldiers on, on in the evening all the other tin soldiers were, on his travels or whether it was the result of,
on his one leg as the others did on two, off she flew like a fairy to the tin soldier, off by a brilliant spangle as big as her whole, of wood and straw which were floating about in the, of wax swam on the lake and watched their reflection, of the water in the drain carried the boat along, of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a great, of the stream it went so quick that the tin, of the pretty little dancer whom he'd never see, of the pretty dancer nothing was left except her spangle, of the little boys took the tin soldier and threw, of the little boys took the tin soldier and flung, of the little boys took the soldier and threw him, of the little boys snatched up the tin soldier and, of the drain the water rushed out into a big,
of the dancer was left nothing but the tinsel rose, of the clearest muslin and a narrow blue ribbon over, of the castle were miniature trees around a little mirror, of the castle stood some little trees surrounding a tiny, of the castle some small trees were placed round a, of the bright day light before the boat came from, of the box in which they lay was taken off, of that gutter plank the water poured into the great, of peril as for us to be carried down a, of it was a bright spangle as big as her, of it shone a spangle that was as big as, of him that he had even so much as winked, of her legs was raised so high into the air, of her legs so high in the air that the, of all was the little lady who stood in the, of all was a pretty little castle made of cardboard, of all was a little maiden standing at the open, of all was a little lady who was standing right, of all was a little damsel standing in the open, of a sudden the window flew open and the soldier, of a newspaper and put the soldier into the middle, nursery maid and the little boy came down at once, now the two boys ran beside him and clapped their, now the toys began to play among themselves at visits, now so near this point that he could not stop, the tin soldier, leg as any of the other soldiers on their two, lay down at full length behind a snuff box which, lay at full length with his gun on his shoulder, later on in the evening all the other tin soldiers, late in the evening the other soldiers were put into, last the paper gave way entirely and the soldier fell, last he became quite still and there was a streak, large sheet that fell into the mouth of a sewer, landed on his head with his leg in the air, laid himself down at full length behind a snuff box, laid himself at full length behind a snuff box that, lady who was standing right outside the open gate of, lady who stood in the open doorway of the castle, lady were only here along with me in the boat, lady was but here at my side in the boat, kitchen where the cook cut him open with her big, kept standing on one leg without ever losing her balance, just at that moment he was swallowed by a most, just as well on his one leg as the others, just as firm on his one leg as the for us to sail down a waterfall, it would be for us to go down a waterfall, it whirled about so rapidly that it made the soldier, it was to him just as dangerous a passage as, it was the troll or the draught that did it, it was the heat from the fire or from his, it was the goblin or the draught which was the, it was just this soldier who became worth talking about, it was just as dark as if he had been, it was his birthday and they had just been given, it was darker than under the gutter plank and it, it was caused by the goblin or by a puff, it was beneath his dignity to shout aloud because he, it was as if a flash of lightning had passed, it was as dark as the soldier's own box, it was as dangerous to him as a waterfall would, it was a little boy who shouted this as he, it was a bright spangle as big as her face, it turned about so rapidly that the tin soldier was, it shone a spangle that was as big as her, it must have been the goblin in the box who, it must have been the fault of the jack in, it is whose fortunes seem to us worthy of record, it had little windows through which you could look right, it could be twice as dark here for all that, it contemptible to raise an uproar while he was wearing, it consistent with his uniform to cry out for help, it came from the flames or from his love he, it became as dark as it was in his box, it became as dark as if he had himself once more in the identical room in which he, ^{0,001} himself in the very same room that he had been, ^{0,001} himself down at full length behind a snuff box which, ^{0,001} himself behind a snuff box that stood on the table, ^{0,001} himself at full length behind a snuff box that happened, ^{0,001} him that would have been as full of peril as, ^{0,001} him that he had even so much as winked an, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} him just as dangerous a passage as a big waterfall, ^{0,001} him as it would be for us to sail down, ^{0,001} high into the air that the tin soldier could see, ^{0,001} high in the air that the tin soldier couldn't, ^{0,001} high behind her that the tin soldier couldn't see, ^{0,001} her that the tin soldier couldn't see it at, ^{0,001} her legs was raised so high into the air that, ^{0,001} her legs so high in the air that the tin, ^{0,001} her leg so high that the tin soldier lost sight, ^{0,001} heat came from the real fire or from love he, ^{0,001} heard a roar that would frighten the bravest of us, ^{0,001} head over heels from the third storey into the street, ^{0,001} he went down the gutter with the two young rascallions, ^{0,001} he was so near to it that he could not, ^{0,001} he was so near the end now that it was, ^{0,001} he was so near it he could not possibly stop, ^{0,001} he was now so near this point that he could, ^{0,001} he was now so near the precipice that he could, ^{0,001} he was now so close that he could no longer, ^{0,001} he was already so near it that he could not, ^{0,001} he thought of the pretty little dancer whom he'd, ^{0,001} he thought it would not be becoming for him to, ^{0,001} he thought it was beneath his dignity to shout aloud, ^{0,001} he thought it contemptible to raise an uproar while he, ^{0,001} he stretched himself out behind a snuff box that lay, ^{0,001} he stood just as well on his one leg as, ^{0,001} he stood just as firm on his one leg as, ^{0,001} he stationed himself behind a snuff box that stood on, ^{0,001} he shouted out to all the bits of wood and, ^{0,001} he shall have a sail for once in his life, ^{0,001} he never took his eyes off her for a moment, ^{0,001} he lost no time in setting them up on the, ^{0,001} he looked a little different as he had been cast, ^{0,001} he lay down at full length behind a snuff box, ^{0,001} he landed on his head with his leg in the, ^{0,001} he laid himself down at full length behind a snuff, ^{0,001} he laid himself at full length behind a snuff box, ^{0,001} he is the very one who is to become famous, ^{0,001} he had only one leg because he had been cast, ^{0,001} he had one leg because he had been cast last, ^{0,001} he had a full view of the delicate little lady, ^{0,001} he gnashed his teeth and shouted to the bits of, ^{0,001} he found it as dark here as at home in, ^{0,001} he found himself in the very same room that he, ^{0,001} he differed from the rest in having only one leg, ^{0,001} he did not think it proper to shout when he, ^{0,001} he did not think it proper to call out loudly, ^{0,001} he did not think it fitting for him to cry, ^{0,001} he did not think it consistent with his uniform to, ^{0,001} he could have found it in his heart to weep, ^{0,001} he could have a good look at the little lady, ^{0,001} he could have a good look at the elegant little, ^{0,001} he could admire the dainty little dancer who kept standing, ^{0,001} he clapped his hands in delight at seeing the soldiers, ^{0,001} he believed that she had only one leg like himself, ^{0,001} he became quite still and there was a streak of, ^{0,001} he also heard a roar that would frighten the bravest, ^{0,001} have found it in his heart to weep tin tears, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} have been the goblin in the box who put this, ^{0,001} have been the fault of the jack in the box, ^{0,001} have been as full of peril as for us to, ^{0,001} happened on his travels or whether it was the result, ^{0,001} hands as the lid was lifted off their box on, ^{0,001} had only one leg because he had been cast last, ^{0,001} ^{0,001} had one leg because he had been cast last of, ^{0,001} had little windows through which you could look right inside, ^{0,001} had happened on his travels or whether it was the, ^{0,001} had been made last when the tin had run short, ^{0,001} had been given to him because it was his birthday, ^{0,001} had been given to him because it was his birth, ^{0,001} had all been made out of one old tin spoon, ^{0,001} gutter with the two young rascallions running beside him and, ^{0,001} got up they put the tin soldier on the window, ^{0,001} goblin or the draught which was the cause of it, ^{0,001} goblin in the snuff box was to blame for that, ^{0,001} goblin in the box who put this into his head, ^{0,001} gnome in the box was at the bottom of it, ^{0,001} gnashing his teeth as he called to the sticks and, ^{0,001} gnashed his teeth and shouted to the bits of stick, ^{0,001} and now the water closed over the soldier's head,^{0,001} and now one of the little boys took the soldier,^{0,001} and now he began setting them out on the table,^{0,001} and now and then it turned about so rapidly that,^{0,001} and no one could say that he moved an eyelid,^{0,001} and no one can say that he so much as,^{0,001} and lay at full length with his gun on his,^{0,001} and just at that moment he was swallowed by a,^{0,001} and it was just this soldier who became worth talking,^{0,001} and it became as dark as it was in his,^{0,001} and it became as dark as if he had been,^{0,001} and in the midst of this scarf was set a,^{0,001} and in the middle of this was placed a tinsel,^{0,001} and in the middle of this ribbon was a shining,^{0,001} and in the middle of the stream it went so,^{0,001} and in the middle of it was a bright spangle,^{0,001} and in the middle of it shone a spangle that,^{0,001} and in the dance one of her legs was raised,^{0,001} and in his ears rang the burden of the old,^{0,001} and in front of the castle were miniature trees around,^{0,001} and he was just as persevering on his one leg,^{0,001} and he was just as firm on his one leg,^{0,001} and he laid himself at full length behind a snuff,^{0,001} and he had only one leg because he had been,^{0,001} and he differed from the rest in having only one,^{0,001} and he did not take his eyes off her for,^{0,001} and he believed that she had only one leg like,^{0,001} and from thence he could peep at the delicate little,^{0,001} and for him that would have been as full of,^{0,001} and every now and then veered round so quickly that,^{0,001} and clapped his hands as the lid was lifted off,^{0,001} and came down so that he stood on his head,^{0,001} and called out to the bits of straw and wood,^{0,001} and call out to the wood shavings and the straw,^{0,001} and brought to a kitchen where the cook cut him,^{0,001} and away he went down the gutter with the two,^{0,001} and at last it came down in a full stream,^{0,001} and after a while something struck through him like a,^{0,001} among them the beautiful castle with the pretty little dancing,^{0,001} also heard a roar that would frighten the bravest of,^{0,001} already see the bright daylight at the end of the,^{0,001} already see daylight before him at the end of the,^{0,001} already see daylight at the point where the bridge ended,^{0,001} already catch a glimpse of the bright day light before,^{0,001} along a great water rat that lived in the tunnel,^{0,001} all was the little lady who stood in the open,^{0,001} all was a little maiden standing at the open door,^{0,001} all was a little lady who was standing right outside,^{0,001} all was a little damsel standing in the open doorway,^{0,001} all waited to see the famous man who had traveled,^{0,001} all this was very pretty but prettiest of all was,^{0,001} all the other tin soldiers were put back into the,^{0,001} all the other tin soldiers were put away into the,^{0,001} all the bits of wood and straw which were floating,^{0,001} all that was left of the dancer was her spangle,^{0,001} all of a sudden the window flew open and the,^{0,001} all of a sudden the boat drifted into a drain,^{0,001} all at once the window flew open and out fell,^{0,001} all at once the boat went into a long drain,^{0,001} all at once the boat sailed under a long gutter,^{0,001} all at once the boat passed under a long tunnel,^{0,001} all at once the boat drifted under a long wooden,^{0,001} all at once one of the little boys took up,^{0,001} air that the tin soldier couldn't find it anywhere,^{0,001} air that the tin soldier could see absolutely nothing of,^{0,001} air that the tin soldier could not see it at,^{0,001} after a while something struck through him like a flash,^{0,001} admire the dainty little dancer who kept standing on one,^{0,001} about so rapidly that the tin soldier was very nearly,^{0,001} about so rapidly that it made the soldier's head,^{0,001} a while something struck through him like a flash of,^{0,001} a tiny blue ribbon went over her shoulder for a,^{0,001} a sylph straight into the stove to the tin soldier,^{0,001} a sylph right into the stove beside the tin soldier,^{0,001} a sylph just into the stove to the tin soldier,^{0,001} a sudden the window flew open and the soldier pitched,^{0,001} a snuff box that happened to be on the table,^{0,001} a small boy shouted it and clapped his hands as,^{0,001} a situation was as perilous to him as it would,^{0,001} a servant took up the ashes she found him in,^{0,001} a passage as a big waterfall would be to us,^{0,001} a noise that the canary woke up and joined in,^{0,001} a noise in their box because they wanted to join,^{0,001} a newspaper and put the soldier into the middle of,^{0,001} a long tunnel that was as dark as his box,^{0,001} a little sky blue riband was flung across her shoulders,^{0,001} a little maiden standing at the open door of the,^{0,001} a little lady who was standing right outside the open,^{0,001} a little different as he had been cast last of,^{0,001} a little damsel standing in the open doorway of the,^{0,001} a little boy who shouted this as he clapped his,^{0,001} a large sheet that fell into the mouth of a,^{0,001} a kitchen where the cook cut him open with her,^{0,001} a great water rat who lived under the gutter plank,^{0,001} a great deal than under the bridge over the gutter,^{0,001} a glimpse of the bright day light before the boat,^{0,001} a dress of the clearest muslin and a narrow blue
